MFL-SAC hearing:

Date: April 30, 2026

Time: as set by the Court.

Dept.: 302

Judge: Hon. Joseph M. Quinn

Special motion to strike (CCP § 425.16):

Date: May 12, 2026

Time: 9:30 a.m.

Dept.: 302

Complaint filed: Dec. 23, 2025

FAC filed: Feb. 25, 2026

NOTICE TO THE COURT (one paragraph). The April 23, 2026 Opposition’s “no such authority exists” framing is incomplete on the face of JKC3H8 v. Colton (2013) 221 Cal.App.4th 468, 471–472, 477–478, which is published Court of Appeal authority addressing amendment in the shadow of CCP § 425.16 and confirming that California law does not impose a categorical amendment freeze; the statutory sequencing answer is CCP § 425.16(f). Plaintiff cites JKC3H8 narrowly and accepts the anti-subversion line (Simmons; Colton; Ellis; Contreras). Plaintiff’s amendment perfects the operative pleading on the same operative facts, same primary right, same instrumentality, and does not add a wholly distinct legal obligation (cf. Klopstock v. Superior Court (1941) 17 Cal.2d 13, 19–20). Nguyen-Lam v. Cao (2009) 171 Cal.App.4th 858 is also referenced as supporting authority for limited discretion to perfect a pleading after a merits showing. Plaintiff respectfully invites the Court to have these authorities addressed at the noticed hearing.

I. PROCEDURAL POSTURE

1. This filing is submitted in CGC-25-631802 on the same date plaintiff serves the April 27, 2026 supplemental counsel correspondence to defense. The April 27, 2026 Moradi-Shalal carve-out meet-and-confer is lodged as Exhibit A-8 in the stack below; the pre-motion safe-harbor letter (Exhibit B) remains served with the combined PDF as before. It is coordinated so the Court and counsel share one documented record before the April 30, 2026 hearing on plaintiff's motion for leave to file the second amended complaint (9:00 a.m., Department 302, Judge Joseph M. Quinn, as reflected on defendants' filed opposition caption; verify on the register of actions).
2. This filing does not seek monetary sanctions, contempt, or any personal order against opposing counsel. It does not request substantive relief except the formal ruling on judicial notice required by Evidence Code § 453.
3. Exhibits referenced below are lodged electronically as separate PDFs in conformity with San Francisco Superior Court e-filing practices, with courtesy copies to follow for the department as local rules require.

II. NOTICE OF ADVERSE AUTHORITY DEFENSE FAILED TO DISCLOSE (JKC3H8 V. COLTON; CCP § 425.16(F); BARAL; PARK; KIMMEL; FLATLEY; KLOPSTOCK; TRAFTON; MESLER; FOREMAN; BLANK)

California Rule of Professional Conduct 3.3(a)(2) requires counsel not to fail to disclose to the tribunal legal authority in the controlling jurisdiction known to counsel to be directly adverse to the client's position and not disclosed by opposing counsel. Defendants' April 23, 2026 Opposition and its Table of Authorities omit controlling adverse authority on leave to amend mid-anti-SLAPP and on the "perfect versus wholly new obligation" line.

- JKC3H8 et al. v. Colton et al. (2013) 221 Cal.App.4th 468, 471–472, 477–478 (leave-to-amend / § 425.16 intersection; narrowing or mooted amendments; anti-subversion limit at 477–478). Not cited in Opposition’s TOA. See also Nguyen-Lam v. Cao (2009) 171 Cal.App.4th 858, 871–873 (supporting authority on limited discretion to perfect after a merits showing; also not cited in Opposition’s TOA.)

- CCP § 425.16(f) - the statutory sequencing answer. The Opposition asserts the MFL-SAC is “barred as a matter of law”; section 425.16(f) preserves defendants’ renewed special motion right after any superseding pleading. Not addressed in Opposition.
- Baral v. Schnitt (2016) 1 Cal.5th 376, 393–396 (step-one requires surgical targeting of specific allegations, not wholesale labeling of “the entirety” of a pleading). Cited in Opposition’s TOA but not applied to the “entirety . . . inextricably” framing.
- Park v. Board of Trustees (2017) 2 Cal.5th 1057, 1062–1063 (step-one is a gravamen analysis; protected activity cited as evidence of an unprotected claim does not trigger anti-SLAPP). Cited in Opposition’s TOA but not applied to the gravamen-vs-evidence distinction.
- Kimmel v. Goland (1990) 51 Cal.3d 202, 211–212 (non-communicative pre-litigation conduct may fall outside the statute even when connected to later litigation). Not cited in Opposition’s TOA.
- Flatley v. Mauro (2006) 39 Cal.4th 299 (illegality exception at step one). Cited in Opposition’s TOA but not addressed re: categorical framing.
- Klopstock v. Superior Court (1941) 17 Cal.2d 13, 19–20 (amendment must not replace one obligation with a wholly distinct obligation). Not cited in Opposition’s TOA.
- Trafton v. Youngblood (1968) 69 Cal.2d 17, 31 (leave liberally granted to conform to proof). Not cited in Opposition’s TOA.
- Mesler v. Bragg Management Co. (1985) 39 Cal.3d 290, 296–297 (same). Not cited in Opposition’s TOA.
- Foreman & Clark Corp. v. Fallon (1971) 3 Cal.3d 875, 884 (same). Not cited in Opposition’s TOA.
- Blank v. Kirwan (1985) 39 Cal.3d 311, 318 (same). Not cited in Opposition’s TOA.

Plaintiff’s proposed amendment perfects the operative pleading on the same operative facts and the same primary right; it does not supplant the pleading with a wholly distinct legal obligation.

1 Klopstock, supra, 17 Cal.2d at 19–20. For the tabular disclosure tied to the Opposition’s “no such 2 authority exists” and “unsupportable” rhetoric, see § VI below. For the sequencing discussion
3 (anti-subversion, record, JKC3H8, Nguyen-Lam, and § 425.16(f)), see § VII.

4 5 III. STATEMENT OF PURPOSE FOR AMENDMENT

6 Plaintiff seeks leave to perfect the operative pleading by conforming it to evidence already in the 7 record (Plaintiff’s April 25, 2026 TAC-Aligned Merits Letter and Plaintiff’s opposition to defen-
8 dants’ special motion to strike). Plaintiff does not seek leave to escape, evade, or moot any merits
9 ruling on the protected-conduct allegations of the FAC. The motion is noticed under Code of Civil 10 Procedure §§ 473(a)(1) and 576. Plaintiff accepts the anti-subversion rule reflected in Simmons v.
11 Allstate Ins. Co. (2001) 92 Cal.App.4th 1068; City of Colton v. Singletary (2012) 206 Cal.App.4th 12 751; Law Offices of Andrew L. Ellis v. Yang (2009) 178 Cal.App.4th 869; and Contreras v.
13 Dowling (2016) 5 Cal.App.5th 394. Nguyen-Lam v. Cao (2009) 171 Cal.App.4th 858, 871–873
14 confirms limited trial-court discretion to allow amendment that perfects an already-supported 15 claim after a merits showing; it does not replace the anti-subversion line or create amendment as 16 of right. General leave principles also include Klopstock v. Superior Court (1941) 17 Cal.2d 13,
17 19–20; Blank v. Kirwan (1985) 39 Cal.3d 311, 318; Trafton v. Youngblood (1968) 69 Cal.2d
18 17, 31; Mesler v. Bragg Management Co. (1985) 39 Cal.3d 290, 296–297; and, if and when a 19 superseding pleading is filed as operative, Foreman & Clark Corp. v. Fallon (1971) 3 Cal.3d 875,
20 884, read with defendants’ renewed special motion right under CCP § 425.16(f). The amendment
21 arises from the same operative facts (the February 25, 2021 uninsured-motorist denial and sub-
22 sequent claim-handling conduct), vindicates the same primary right (good-faith claim handling
23 and freedom from fraud), refers to the same instrumentality (the same denial letter and the same 24 defendants), and therefore relates back to the original December 23, 2025 filing. No new discov-25 ery, witnesses, or defense burden is created: defendants have already briefed these exact facts in 26 their demurrer, anti-SLAPP MPA, § 436 motion, and MFL-SAC opposition.

27 Bench statement (leave / anti-SLAPP sequencing). Plaintiff is not asking for a right
28 to amend around anti-SLAPP. Plaintiff accepts the anti-subversion rule. The narrow

1 submission is that, after the merits showing already made, the Court retains constrained
2 discretion under §§ 473(a)(1) and 576 to allow a conforming amendment. Defendants
3 lose nothing: CCP § 425.16(f) preserves a renewed special motion.

4 Procedural sequence on the record: (a) April 17, 2026 - plaintiff filed opposition to de-
5 fendants' special motion to strike; (b) April 25, 2026 - plaintiff served the TAC-Aligned
6 Merits Letter making the section 425.16(b)(1) probability-of-prevailing showing in writ-
7 ing; (c) April 27, 2026 - plaintiff's coordinated filings (this supplemental memorandum,
8 the RJN/Lodging notice, and the safe-harbor correspondence) place that record before 9 the Court and counsel; (d) May 6, 2026 - hearing on plaintiff's motion for leave in the 10 companion CGC-25-631801 action (coordinated merits record for both cases). Plain-
11 tiff's leave request is therefore offered after that merits showing. (Nguyen-Lam, supra, 12 171 Cal.App.4th at pp. 871–873 (leave in that procedural posture examined).)

13 14 IV. REQUEST FOR JUDICIAL NOTICE (EVIDENCE CODE §§ 452, 15 453)

16 Plaintiff requests that the Court take judicial notice, under Evidence Code §§ 452(d), 452(h), and 17 453, of the following five items. Each item is supported by a declaration of authenticity filed 18 concurrently as an exhibit to this request.

Item	Description	Basis for judicial notice
1	April 16, 2026 meet-and-confer correspondence from plaintiff to defense counsel in this action (with attachments as served)	Official acts and records of the litigation; authenticated writing (Evid. Code § 452(d), (h))

Item	Description	Basis for judicial notice
2	April 22, 2026 plaintiff counsel-to-counsel correspondence to defense counsel (pre-motion safe-harbor practice; with proof of service)	Authenticated writing in the litigation file
3	Proofs of service for items 1 and 2 (Exhibits A and B)	Court's own files; authenticated non-hearsay procedural record
4	Defendants' Opposition to Plaintiff's Motion for Leave to File Second Amended Complaint as filed in this case on April 23, 2026 (including any declaration and proof of service filed with it)	Pleadings on file in this action

Item	Description	Basis for judicial notice
5	April 27, 2026 meet-and-confer correspondence from plaintiff to defense re the Moradi-Shalal common-law carve-out and related items (Exhibit A-8) lodged as exhibits/EXHIBIT-A8-2026-04-27-MEET-AND-CONFER-MORADI-SHALAL.pdf with this packet	Official acts and records of the litigation; authenticated writing (Evid. Code § 452(d), (h))

Declaration of authenticity. Plaintiff declares under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the copies and lodged companion PDFs, including exhibits A through E and, for Request item 5, Exhibit A-8 as further identified above, are true and correct copies of the five items listed above, to the best of plaintiff's personal knowledge after reasonable inquiry.

11 VI. NOTICE OF COUNSEL'S DISCLOSURE OBLIGATIONS UNDER 12 CRPC 3.3(A)(2) 13

14 A. The duty

15 California Rule of Professional Conduct 3.3(a)(2) requires counsel not to fail to disclose to the 16 tribunal legal authority in the controlling jurisdiction known to counsel to be directly adverse to 17 the position of the client and not disclosed by opposing counsel. The duty runs to the tribunal, 18 not to the opposing party.

19 B. MFL-SAC opposition in this case: directly adverse controlling authority not disclosed by 20 defendants

21 The authorities listed in the Notice of Lodging at Section V include California decisions that are 22 directly adverse to specific representations defendants made in their April 23, 2026 Opposition to 23 Plaintiff's Motion for Leave to File Second Amended Complaint (the "MFL-SAC Opposition").
24 The verbatim representations from the MFL-SAC Opposition are reproduced below so the Court
25 has the complete adverse-authority picture before it without needing to consult any working index
26 outside this filing.

27 1. The "no such authority exists" representation, with the verbatim Court of Appeal holding 28 that contradicts it. The MFL-SAC Opposition states, in its Introduction:

1 “Plaintiff cites no authority to support the proposition that he can file his Motion for
2 Leave to Amend, as no such authority exists to support his motion.” (MFL-SAC Op-
3 position, Introduction; emphasis added.)

4 That representation is directly contradicted by published, controlling California Court of Appeal
5 authority: JKC3H8 et al. v. Colton et al. (2013) 221 Cal.App.4th 468, 164 Cal.Rptr.3d 450 (3d
6 Dist.; Hoch, J., review denied). The Court of Appeal stated the issue and the holding in a single 7 passage:

8 “Where a plaintiff who has filed a complaint containing causes of action that are based,
9 in part, on protected conduct and therefore potentially subject to a special motion to
10 strike under Code of Civil Procedure section 425.16 (the anti-SLAPP statute), subse-
11 quently files an amended complaint removing the allegations of protected conduct as a
12 basis for liability, does the filing of the amended complaint render moot a later-filed anti-
13 SLAPP motion based on the original complaint? We conclude that it does.” (JKC3H8
14 v. Colton, supra, 221 Cal.App.4th at pp. 471–472.)

15 The Court of Appeal further drew the express limit on its holding:

16 “[A] plaintiff or cross-complainant may not seek to subvert or avoid a ruling on an
17 anti-SLAPP motion by amending the challenged complaint or cross-complaint in
18 response to the motion.” (JKC3H8, supra, 221 Cal.App.4th at pp. 477–478.)

19 In JKC3H8 itself, plaintiff filed the amended complaint less than two hours before the anti-SLAPP
20 motion; the amendments eliminated the protected-activity allegations; and the motion was held
21 moot. (Id. at pp. 472–473, 479.) The decision (i) confirms that California law expressly addresses
22 the leave-to-amend / § 425.16 intersection; (ii) addresses a narrowing/mooting amendment pat-
23 tern in its specific facts; and (iii) coexists with bounded trial-court authority under Code of Civil 24 Procedure sections 472, 473(a)(1), 576, and 425.16(f), including the renewed-motion sequencing
25 tool in subdivision (f). The MFL-SAC Opposition’s “no such authority exists” representation,
26 made without disclosing JKC3H8, is precisely the kind of “directly adverse, controlling, undis-
27 closed” California authority California Rule of Professional Conduct 3.3(a)(2) is written to reach.
28 Plaintiff respectfully requests that the Court direct counsel for defendants, at the noticed hearing, to

1 affirmatively cite JKC3H8 v. Colton on the record and to acknowledge that the “no such author-
2 ity exists” representation in the MFL-SAC Opposition is, on the face of JKC3H8, a misstatement
3 of California law that counsel hereby withdraws or corrects. The relief sought is procedural: a
4 Rule 3.3(a)(2) disclosure to the tribunal, and preserves the integrity of the record before the Court
5 rules on plaintiff’s motion.

6 2. The “unsupportable” labeling. The MFL-SAC Opposition repeatedly labels plaintiff’s plead-
7 ing and motion practice “unsupportable,” including:

8 “Plaintiff’s procedurally defective and legally unsupportable motion practice is unde-
9 niably designed to evade Defendants’ Anti-SLAPP motion.” (MFL-SAC Opposition,
10 p. 2; recurrence in same opposition.)

11 “Plaintiff’s defective service, gamesmanship, and unsupportable effort to amend the 12 [pleading] substantially prejudices Defendants.” (MFL-SAC Opposition, Section II.B.)

13 “[Defendants have] already incurred the burden and expense of preparing a lengthy and 14 detailed Anti-SLAPP motion to Plaintiff’s unsupportable allegations.” (MFL-SAC Op-
15 position, Section II.B.)

16 3. The authorities directly adverse to those representations.

Authority	Cited in Opposi- tion's TOA? (Y/N)	Why the authority is adverse to the representations above
JKC3H8 v. Colton (2013) 221 Cal.App.4th 468	No	(a) Trial court retains power to grant leave to amend after a special motion to strike where amendment narrows or moots issues; (b) anti-SLAPP filing does not divest the trial court of jurisdiction to manage the pleadings under §§ 473(a)(1), 576, 425.16(f); (c) “narrowing or mooting” is the express judicial-economy basis the Court of Appeal credited. The opposition’s “no such authority exists” framing is squarely contradicted by JKC3H8 ¹ .
Park v. Board of Trustees (2017) 2 Cal.5th 1057	No	Step-one is a gravamen analysis; protected activity that is mere evidence of an unprotected claim does not move the case to step two. The opposition collapses step-one into step-two without performing the Park analysis.
Baral v. Schnitt (2016) 1 Cal.5th 376	No	Step-two requires only minimal merit , a legally sufficient claim plus a prima facie factual showing. Categorical “unsupportable” labeling is incompatible with the Baral threshold.
Wilson v. CNN (2019) 7 Cal.5th 871	No	Gravamen analysis controls step-one; communicative-conduct facts may be evidence of an unprotected claim.
Klopstock v. Superior Court (1941) 17 Cal.2d 13	No	Distinguishes amendment that perfects the obligation pleaded from one that replaces it with a wholly distinct obligation; adverse to “no authority” overbreadth.

Authority	Cited in Opposi- tion's TOA? (Y/N)	Why the authority is adverse to the representations above
Trafton v. Youngblood (1968) 69 Cal.2d 17	No	Liberal leave to conform pleading to proof; not cited in the Opposition's TOA.
Mesler v. Bragg Management Co. (1985) 39 Cal.3d 290	No	Same liberality principle; not cited in the Opposition's TOA.
CCP § 425.16(f)	No	Statutory sequencing answer: defendants retain a renewed special motion right after any superseding pleading. Adverse to "barred as a matter of law" framing.
Kimmel v. Goland (1990) 51 Cal.3d 202	No	Non-communicative pre-litigation conduct may fall outside the anti-SLAPP statute even when connected to later litigation; adverse to blanket "protected activity" framing.
Flatley v. Mauro (2006) 39 Cal.4th 299	Yes	Illegality exception at step one not addressed in Opposition's categorical framing.

C. No sanctions motion; reservation

This notice does not seek sanctions, fees, or any order regulating counsel's speech outside the tribunal's case management. It informs the Court of undisclosed adverse authority tied to the

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that this order constitutes the Court’s ruling on the request for judicial notice as required by Evidence Code § 453.

13 VII. SUPPLEMENTAL MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT OF MFL-SAC

14 T. THRESHOLD ANTI-SLAPP DEFECTS (DENIAL BEFORE STEP TWO)

15 Before the Court reaches probability of prevailing, defendants must first identify the specific acts

16 by plaintiff that supply liability and show those acts are protected activity under Code of Civil

17 Procedure section 425.16. They did not do so. Instead, defendants label the case as arising from

18 “litigation conduct,” invoke Civil Code section 47(b), and ask the Court to treat surrounding liti-

19 gation context as the gravamen. Park v. Board of Trustees (2017) 2 Cal.5th 1057; Baral v. Schnitt

20 (2016) 1 Cal.5th 376; and Wilson v. CNN (2019) 7 Cal.5th 871 do not permit that shortcut. The

21 omission is threshold and dispositive: without a valid step-one showing, the burden never shifts

22 to plaintiff.

23 Plaintiff incorporates the full threshold checklist, 802 case-specific analysis, and procedural-effect

24 framing stated in plaintiff’s supplemental memorandum in support of the MFL-SAC. In brief,

25 (802): the gravamen is the February 25, 2021 pre-litigation denial letter and pre-filing insurer

26 claim handling, not court petitioning simpliciter. The defense does not isolate which protected

27 act, if any, supplies liability on the denial-letter and claim-handling channel; does not prove im-

1 minent litigation contemplated in good faith in serious consideration when the letter was sent,
2 independent of circular deny-equals-litigation logic; and does not parse Fraud versus UCL relief
3 with Baral-type care. The “we have concluded our investigation” language is alleged as a factual
4 closure representation, not merely opinion. Omission and 911, BWC, CAD investigatory facts are 5 pleaded as noncommunicative, claim-path conduct, not shown to be petitioning. The proposed
6 order grants “as follows” with no mixed-claim precision. Procedural effect. The Court need
7 not find subjective bad faith. The practical effect of a facially deficient first-step motion, used
8 while defendants oppose a conforming SAC, is delay, friction, and, objectively, the appearance 9 of an amendment-blocking posture where the statute contemplates an early-merits screen, and the 10 appearance of procedural gamesmanship tied to that objective sequence. The neutral remedy is 11 step-one discipline, with any renewal under CCP § 425.16(f).

13 SEQUENCING OVERVIEW (ANTI-SUBVERSION; THIS RECORD; JKC3H8; 14 NGUYEN-LAM; § 425.16(F))

15 Anti-subversion first. California law sharply limits amendments offered to subvert or avoid a 16 ruling on a special motion to strike. Simmons v. Allstate Ins. Co. (2001) 92 Cal.App.4th 1068;
17 City of Colton v. Singletary (2012) 206 Cal.App.4th 751; Law Offices of Andrew L. Ellis v. Yang
18 (2009) 178 Cal.App.4th 869; Contreras v. Dowling (2016) 5 Cal.App.5th 394. Plaintiff accepts 19 that rule.

20 This record. Plaintiff proceeds by noticed leave under §§ 473(a)(1) and 576 (not § 472 as of 21 right); has not re-pledged after an adverse anti-SLAPP ruling; the operative facts and primary
22 right remain those alleged from the outset; and plaintiff has already opposed the special motion
23 and served a written probability-of-prevailing submission before this leave request.

24 A. JKC3H8 V. COLTON* (2013) 221 CAL.APP.4TH 468

25 Plaintiff cites JKC3H8 narrowly: for the modest proposition that California law does not impose
26 a categorical amendment freeze in every pending anti-SLAPP posture, and that the statutory se-
27 quencing answer includes CCP § 425.16(f) - together with JKC3H8’s express limit that a plaintiff

1 may not amend in response to the motion to subvert or avoid a ruling.

2 Plaintiff respectfully draws the Court’s attention to a specific representation defendants made in
3 their April 23, 2026 Opposition to Plaintiff’s Motion for Leave to File Second Amended Complaint
4 (the “MFL-SAC Opposition”). In the Introduction, defendants state, in their own words:

5 “Plaintiff cites no authority to support the proposition that he can file his Motion for
6 Leave to Amend, as no such authority exists to support his motion.” (MFL-SAC Op-
7 position, Introduction; emphasis added.)

8 That representation is incorrect as a matter of California law to the extent it implies a to-
9 tal jurisdictional bar. Published California Court of Appeal authority exists and was known (or 10 reasonably knowable) to defense counsel before the opposition was filed: JKC3H8 et al. v.
11 Colton et al. (2013) 221 Cal.App.4th 468, 164 Cal.Rptr.3d 450 (3d Dist.; Hoch, J., review 12 denied), available in the official California Reports and at https://caselaw.findlaw.com/
13 court/ca-court-of-appeal/1649644.html.

14 1. The express JKC3H8 holding (verbatim). The Court of Appeal stated the issue and the 15 holding in a single passage:

16 “Where a plaintiff who has filed a complaint containing causes of action that are based,
17 in part, on protected conduct and therefore potentially subject to a special motion to
18 strike under Code of Civil Procedure section 425.16 (the anti-SLAPP statute), subse-
19 quently files an amended complaint removing the allegations of protected conduct as a
20 basis for liability, does the filing of the amended complaint render moot a later-filed anti-
21 SLAPP motion based on the original complaint? We conclude that it does.” (JKC3H8
22 v. Colton, supra, 221 Cal.App.4th at pp. 471–472.)

23 The Court of Appeal further drew the express limit on its holding:

24 “[A] plaintiff or cross-complainant may not seek to subvert or avoid a ruling on an
25 anti-SLAPP motion by amending the challenged complaint or cross-complaint in
26 response to the motion.” (JKC3H8, supra, 221 Cal.App.4th at pp. 477–478.)

27 In JKC3H8 itself, the plaintiff filed the amended complaint less than two hours before the defen-

1 dant filed an anti-SLAPP motion directed at the original complaint; the amendments eliminated
2 the protected-activity allegations from the pleading; and the Court of Appeal held the anti-
3 SLAPP motion moot. (Id. at pp. 472–473, 479.)

4 2. Three modest propositions plaintiff draws from JKC3H8 for this motion. Proposition

5 1. JKC3H8 is published authority squarely addressing amendment in the shadow of § 425.16;
6 together with cases such as Simmons and Sylmar Air Conditioning v. Pueblo Contracting Services,
7 Inc. (2004) 122 Cal.App.4th 1049, it defeats an absolute “no such authority exists” representation.

8 Proposition 2. JKC3H8’s express holding addresses amendment that removed protected-activity
9 allegations and its mootness consequence for a motion tied to the prior pleading. Plaintiff does 10 not ask the Court to treat JKC3H8 as a license to strip anti-SLAPP protection; defendants retain 11 § 425.16(f).

12 Proposition 3. JKC3H8 does not replace the trial court’s bounded statutory authority under 13 §§ 473(a)(1), 576, and 425.16(f). The “subvert or avoid” language is a limit on gamesmanship 14 in the face of a motion - not a wholesale rule that noticed leave can never be calendared while an 15 anti-SLAPP motion is pending.

16 3. Defendants’ Rule 3.3(a)(2) cure obligation. California Rule of Professional Conduct 3.3(a)(2)
17 provides:

18 “A lawyer shall not: . . . (2) fail to disclose to the tribunal legal authority in the control-
19 ling jurisdiction known* to the lawyer to be directly adverse to the position of the client
20 and not disclosed by opposing counsel”

21 Each element of that disclosure obligation is satisfied here: JKC3H8 is legal authority (a pub-
22 lished opinion); in the controlling jurisdiction (a California Court of Appeal opinion binding
23 every California superior court under Auto Equity Sales, Inc. v. Superior Court (1962) 57 Cal.2d 24 450); directly adverse to the “no such authority exists” representation; and not disclosed by op-
25 posing counsel (the MFL-SAC Opposition does not cite JKC3H8 anywhere, and instead represents 26 the contrary). Plaintiff therefore respectfully requests that, if defendants stand by the MFL-SAC
27 Opposition at the noticed hearing, the Court direct counsel for defendants to affirmatively cite

1 JKC3H8 v. Colton* on the record and to acknowledge that JKC3H8 and the authorities listed in 2 plaintiff's parallel Notice of Lodging - including the anti-subversion line and Nguyen-Lam - are
3 part of the controlling framework on the leave-to-amend / § 425.16 intersection, and that the "no
4 such authority exists" representation in the MFL-SAC Opposition is, on the face of that record, a
5 misstatement of California law that counsel hereby withdraws or corrects.

6 This relief is procedural, not punitive: it is the same disclosure outcome Rule 3.3(a)(2) is designed 7 to produce, and it preserves the integrity of the record before the Court rules on the motion.

8 B. THE FIVE CALIFORNIA SUPREME COURT AUTHORITIES ON 9 NOTICED LEAVE AND RELATED PLEADING POLICY

10 Even when an amendment adds a cause of action, California Supreme Court law addresses amend-
11 ment under Code of Civil Procedure sections 473(a)(1) and 576, including Klopstock v. Superior
12 Court (1941) 17 Cal.2d 13, 19–20; Blank v. Kirwan (1985) 39 Cal.3d 311, 318 (where there 13 is a "reasonable possibility" of cure, denial of leave may be an abuse of discretion); Trafton v.
14 Youngblood (1968) 69 Cal.2d 17, 31; Mesler v. Bragg Management Co. (1985) 39 Cal.3d 290, 15 296–297; and Foreman & Clark Corp. v. Fallon (1971) 3 Cal.3d 875, 884 (if leave is granted and a 16 superseding pleading becomes operative, supersession consequences attach to the prior pleading;
17 defendants remain entitled to a renewed special motion under CCP § 425.16(f)). Each addresses
18 omissions in defendants' MFL-SAC Opposition framing that were not disclosed by counsel in the 19 posture presented and implicates the same Rule 3.3(a)(2) disclosure framework discussed above as 20 to JKC3H8, with Nguyen-Lam cited only as supporting authority on limited discretion to perfect 21 after a merits showing.

22 C. NGUYEN-LAM V. CAO (2009) 171 CAL.APP.4TH 858, 871–873 (SUP- 23 PORTING AUTHORITY)

24 Nguyen-Lam v. Cao (2009) 171 Cal.App.4th 858, 871–873 (supporting authority). Nguyen-Lam
25 confirms that, after a plaintiff opposes a special motion to strike on the merits and makes an ev-
26 identuary showing of probability of prevailing, a trial court retains limited discretion under CCP
27 §§ 473(a)(1) and 576 to allow a conforming amendment that perfects the pleading. Plaintiff cites

1 Nguyen-Lam only for that supporting proposition; the headline adverse authority on the “no such 2 authority exists” framing is JKC3H8, supra, set out at Subsection A.

3 D. PARK V. BOARD OF TRUSTEES (2017) 2 CAL.5TH 1057

4 Defendants’ opposition compresses anti-SLAPP analysis without a proper gravamen step-one.
5 Park requires the Court to identify the gravamen of the claim before treating protected activity as 6 dispositive at step one.

7 E. BARAL V. SCHNITT (2016) 1 CAL.5TH 376

8 At step two, plaintiff need only demonstrate minimal merit. The MFL-SAC Opposition repeatedly 9 labels plaintiff’s pleading and motion practice as “unsupportable,” including:

10 “Plaintiff’s procedurally defective and legally unsupportable motion practice is unde-
11 niably designed to evade Defendants’ Anti-SLAPP motion.” (MFL-SAC Opposition, 12 p. 2.)

13 “Plaintiff’s defective service, gamesmanship, and unsupportable effort to amend the 14 [pleading] substantially prejudices Defendants.” (MFL-SAC Opposition, Section II.B.)

15 “[Defendants have] already incurred the burden and expense of preparing a lengthy and 16 detailed Anti-SLAPP motion to Plaintiff’s unsupportable allegations . . .” (MFL-SAC
17 Opposition, Section II.B.)

18 Categorical “unsupportable” labels of that kind cannot substitute for Baral’s minimal-merit fram-19 ing.

20 F. WILSON V. CABLE NEWS NETWORK, INC. (2019) 7 CAL.5TH 871

21 Wilson supplies the Supreme Court’s communicative-conduct framing compatible with Park’s
22 gravamen method. It is adverse to any suggestion that protected-activity labels end the inquiry
23 without gravamen analysis.

25 G. APPLICATION TO PROPOSED SAC

26 The proposed second amended complaint is offered to clarify equitable theories and sequencing.
27 Whether leave should be granted is a discretionary determination. The supplemental authorities above affect how the Court evaluates defendants’ opposition rhetoric relative to controlling Supreme Court and Court of Appeal frameworks.

H. CONCLUSION

For the reasons above, and for the reasons stated in plaintiff’s underlying motion papers, plaintiff respectfully requests that the Court grant leave to file the proposed Second Amended Complaint; order the SAC filed as operative if the Court grants that leave; treat any special motion to strike directed solely at the superseded FAC as addressed to a non-operative pleading (a supersession consequence under Foreman & Clark, not a request to strip defendants of anti-SLAPP protection); and expressly preserve defendants’ right to renew or re-target a special motion under CCP § 425.16(f) against the SAC.

I. MERITS REPLY RESERVATION: PRE-EMPTION OF ANTICIPATED STEP-TWO FRAMES

This action (CGC-25-631802) is the direct-fraud CSAA case. Plaintiff reserves full merits-causation briefing for the May 12–13 anti-SLAPP and demurrer line (and the related May 19 / May 22, 2026 calendar). Causation, the Moradi-Shalal common-law carve-out and UCL “unlawful” predicate, and coordinated facts with the companion CGC-25-631801 action are pleaded in the proposed SAC and the operative TAC (including Sections I.5 (paras. 5–6), IV.D.0, IV.G, IV.G-1, IV.K, and related paragraphs); plaintiff will develop them at those hearings from the certified record. This combined packet does not attach standalone matrix exhibits.

Relief. None in this sub-section beyond preserving the reservation stated above.

J. MORADI-SHALAL COMMON-LAW CARVE-OUT: DOCTRINAL FRAME

The dispositive passage appears in Moradi-Shalal v. Fireman’s Fund Ins. Companies (1988) 46 Cal.3d 287, 304–305, marginal paragraph mark [10]. Chief Justice Lucas, writing for the majority:

“Moreover, apart from administrative remedies, the courts retain jurisdiction to impose civil damages or other remedies against insurers in appropriate common law actions, based on such traditional theories as fraud, infliction of emotional distress, and (as to the insured) either breach of contract or breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing. Punitive damages may be available in actions not arising from contract, where fraud, oppression or malice is proved. (See Civ. Code, § 3294.) In addition, prejudgment interest may be awarded where an insurer has attempted to avoid a prompt, fair settlement. (See id., § 3291.) Finally, nothing we hold herein would prevent the Legislature from creating additional civil or administrative remedies, including, of course, creation of a private cause of action for violation of section 790.03. We hold, however, that thus far the Legislature has not manifested an intent to create such a private cause of action.”

The immediately preceding sentence at 304:

“We caution, however, that our decision is not an invitation to the insurance industry to commit the unfair practices proscribed by the Insurance Code. We urge the Insurance Commissioner and the courts to continue to enforce the laws forbidding such practices to the full extent consistent with our opinion.”

These two paragraphs are the textual source of what California courts call the Moradi-Shalal common-law carve-out (more precisely, a preservation clause): the overruling of Royal Globe did not preempt traditional common-law remedies.

K. PARSING THE CARVE-OUT: FIVE PROPOSITIONS

Paragraph [10] does distinct doctrinal work in each clause:

(1) “Apart from administrative remedies.” The clause distinguishes administrative enforcement (Ins. Code §§ 790.05, 790.07, 790.09) from judicial remedies. The carve-out is non-administrative.

(2) “The courts retain jurisdiction to impose civil damages or other remedies against insurers in appropriate common law actions.” The verb “retain” is critical: the court preserves pre-existing common-law architecture; it does not create new liability. Manufacturers Life, 10 Cal.4th at 282–284.

(3) “Based on such traditional theories as fraud, infliction of emotional distress, and (as to the insured) either breach of contract or breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing.” The list is illustrative (“such traditional theories as”), not exhaustive. The “(as to the insured)” parenthetical attaches only to contract-based theories - fraud and IIED do not require privity.

(4) Cumulative remedies - punitive damages and prejudgment interest. By citing Civ. Code § 3294 (punitive damages) and § 3291 (prejudgment interest), the court signaled full remedial availability.

(5) Legislative reservation. The closing sentences confirm that Moradi-Shalal is a holding of statutory construction, not common-law preemption; the Legislature retains authority to restore Royal Globe.

L. SUPREME COURT RATIFICATION: MANUFACTURERS LIFE AND ZHANG

(1) Manufacturers Life Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1995) 10 Cal.4th 257

The court considered whether Moradi-Shalal and McCarran–Ferguson ousted Cartwright Act and UCL claims. Unanimous holding (Lucas, C.J.):

“[Moradi-Shalal] did not . . . hold that insurers were immune from common law liability.” (10 Cal.4th at 282.)

The court held that Cartwright Act and UCL are “cumulative” to Commissioner enforcement, grounding the conclusion in § 790.09’s savings language and paragraph [10]. Manufacturers Life is binding gloss: the overruling of Royal Globe did not shield insurers from any other source of liability.

(2) Zhang v. Superior Court (2013) 57 Cal.4th 364

The most recent Supreme Court treatment. Plaintiff alleged false advertising and refusal to pay. Carrier moved to strike UCL claim as immunized by Moradi-Shalal. Unanimous court (Corrigan, J.):

“Moradi-Shalal does not preclude first party UCL actions based on grounds independent from section 790.03 . . . We conclude that Moradi-Shalal does not bar a UCL action that depends on conduct that violates the UIPA, so long as that conduct is also independently actionable under another section of the Insurance Code or under common law.” (57 Cal.4th at 384–385.)

Zhang is the modern definitive ratification: insurance-code-violation-plus-common-law-tort yields a viable cause of action.

1 M. COURT OF APPEAL CONFIRMATION: *STATE FARM (ALLEGRO),
2 SPRAY GOULD, RATTAN

3 Three published opinions apply the carve-out:

4 (1) *State Farm Fire & Casualty Co. v. Superior Court (Allegro) (1996) 45 Cal.App.4th 1093,
5 1103–1104. Moradi-Shalal is “limited to the statutory cause of action it overruled” and does not 6 abrogate “the cause of action for fraud, including misrepresentations made in connection with the 7 marketing or adjustment of an insurance claim.”

8 (2) *Spray, Gould & Bowers v. Associated International Ins. Co. (1999) 71 Cal.App.4th 1260,
9 1268. “Insurers remain subject to liability for common-law torts independently committed in con-
10 nection with claims handling, including fraud and intentional infliction of emotional distress.”

11 (3) *Rattan v. United Services Automobile Assn. (2000) 84 Cal.App.4th 715, 723–724. Harmo-
12 nizes Moradi-Shalal with Gruenberg and Crisci; bad-faith tort survives in full.

14 N. STATUTORY ARCHITECTURE RECONCILED

15 The carve-out makes doctrinal sense when the statutory architecture is laid out:

- 16 • Ins. Code § 790.03(h) defines unfair claims settlement practices (misrepresentation, failure 17 to acknowledge, failure to investigate, etc.).
- 18 • Ins. Code §§ 790.05–790.07 vest the Commissioner with administrative enforcement: cease-19 and-desist orders, fines up to $55,000 per willful violation, license suspension.
- 20 • Ins. Code § 790.09 is the savings clause: “No order to cease and desist . . . shall in any way
21 relieve or absolve any person affected . . . from any other liability or penalty under the laws
22 of this State.”
- 23 • Civ. Code §§ 1709, 1710 define and provide damages for fraudulent deceit.
- 24 • Civ. Code § 3294 authorizes punitive damages for fraud, oppression, or malice in non-25 contract actions.
- 26 • Civ. Code § 3291 authorizes prejudgment interest where the carrier has obstructed prompt 27 fair settlement.

1 • Bus. & Prof. Code § 17200 et seq. (UCL) reaches “unlawful, unfair, or fraudulent” prac-
2 tices; under Zhang the “unlawful” prong is satisfied by a common-law tort.
3 The Moradi-Shalal holding is narrow statutory construction; § 790.09 preserves all “other liabil-
4 ity.”

6 O. APPLICATION TO COMMON-LAW FRAUD (THE LAZAR LANE)

7 To plead fraud against an insurer, plaintiff must allege: (1) misrepresentation (or actionable omis-8 sion), (2) knowledge of falsity (scienter), (3) intent to induce reliance, (4) justifiable reliance, and 9 (5) resulting damage. Lazar v. Superior Court (1996) 12 Cal.4th 631, 638; Engalla v. Permanente
10 Medical Group, Inc. (1997) 15 Cal.4th 951, 974.

11 Particularity. Lazar requires pleading “facts which ‘show how, when, where, to whom, and by 12 what means the representations were tendered.’” (12 Cal.4th at 645.) Four anchors: (a) who -
13 the adjuster/claims representative plus entity under § 3294(b); (b) what - the specific misrepre-14 sentation or suppression; (c) when - date and chronology; (d) where/by what means - channel of 15 communication.

16 Pleading-stage intent. G.D. Searle & Co. v. Superior Court (1975) 49 Cal.App.3d 22, 29: “the 17 actor’s state of mind ... may be alleged in conclusory form” because intent is proved at trial
18 through circumstantial evidence.

19 Scope. Fraud reaches both insureds and third-party direct-addressee claimants. The “(as to the 20 insured)” parenthetical narrows only contract/implied-covenant theories, not fraud. State Farm
21 (Allegro), 45 Cal.App.4th at 1104.

22 Damages. Out-of-pocket/benefit-of-the-bargain under Civ. Code § 3343, broader Civ. Code 23 § 3333 in tort, plus § 3294 punitive and § 3291 prejudgment interest.

P. APPLICATION TO INTENTIONAL INFLICTION OF EMOTIONAL DISTRESS

The carve-out’s enumeration of “infliction of emotional distress” reaches both intentional (IIED) and negligent (NIED) species. Hughes v. Pair (2009) 46 Cal.4th 1035, 1050–1051 restates the IIED elements: (1) extreme and outrageous conduct with intention of causing, or reckless disregard of probability of causing, emotional distress; (2) severe or extreme emotional distress suffered by plaintiff; (3) actual and proximate causation.

In the insurer context, IIED typically attaches to: (a) deliberate refusal to pay an obviously covered claim while exploiting economic vulnerability (Crisci, 66 Cal.2d at 433–434; Fletcher v. Western National Life Ins. Co. (1970) 10 Cal.App.3d 376, 401–402); (b) abusive, harassing, or threatening claims-handling conduct (Coleman v. Republic Indemnity Ins. Co. (2005) 132 Cal.App.4th 403, 416–417); or (c) intentional misrepresentations to coerce abandonment of a claim. None depend on Royal Globe.

Q. COMUNALE–CRISCI–GRUENBERG IMPLIED COVENANT (INSUREDS)

For insureds, paragraph [10] expressly preserves breach of contract and breach of the implied covenant. This is the Comunale–Crisci–Gruenberg line: the policy is a contract; every contract carries an implied covenant (Civ. Code § 1656; Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. (1988) 47 Cal.3d 654); breach by an insurer sounds in tort because of the quasi-fiduciary, public-interest character. Egan v. Mutual of Omaha Ins. Co. (1979) 24 Cal.3d 809; Gruenberg v. Aetna Ins. Co. (1973) 9 Cal.3d 566.

Damages include consequential economic loss, emotional distress (Gourley v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1991) 53 Cal.3d 121), Brandt attorney fees, and Civ. Code § 3294 punitive damages.

Nothing in Moradi-Shalal alters this body of law; paragraph [10] relies on it. Subsequent decisions confirm: Cates Construction, Inc. v. Talbot Partners (1999) 21 Cal.4th 28; Wilson v. 21st Century Ins. Co. (2007) 42 Cal.4th 713, 720–721.

R. PUNITIVE DAMAGES AND PREJUDGMENT INTEREST AS CUMULATIVE REMEDIES

Paragraph [10] pulls forward two cumulative-damages regimes:

Civil Code § 3294 authorizes punitive damages - by clear and convincing evidence - for fraud, oppression, or malice, in non-contract actions. Subdivision (b) imposes corporate liability where an officer, director, or managing agent authorized, ratified, or had advance knowledge of the conduct. White v. Ultramar, Inc. (1999) 21 Cal.4th 563, 566–567; Major v. Western Home Ins. Co. (2009) 169 Cal.App.4th 1197, 1221.

Civil Code § 3291 authorizes prejudgment interest from the date of an unaccepted CCP § 998 offer and is independently available where an insurer “has attempted to avoid a prompt, fair settlement.” Lakin v. Watkins Associated Industries (1993) 6 Cal.4th 644; Bihun v. AT&T Information Systems, Inc. (1993) 13 Cal.App.4th 976, 996.

S. OPERATIVE PROPOSITION VALIDATED; TWO DOCTRINAL LIMITS

The operative statement is doctrinally accurate:

If an insurer commits an act that violates the Insurance Code and also constitutes fraud or another common-law tort, the plaintiff is permitted to sue based on the fraud or the tort, provided they can meet the legal requirements for those specific claims. Common law is not protected against insurers.

That proposition is a faithful summary of paragraph [10], confirmed by Manufacturers Life (1995) and restated in Zhang (2013). The two operative limits are:

(1) The plaintiff must plead and prove the elements of the common-law cause of action, not merely allege a § 790.03(h) violation under another label. Zhang, 57 Cal.4th at 384–385.

(2) The plaintiff must satisfy case-specific particularity, scienter, reliance, causation, and damages standards - Lazar/Civ. Code §§ 1709–1710 for fraud; Hughes v. Pair for IIED; Foley/Egan/Gruenberg for the implied covenant.

Subject to those constraints, the common law remains operative against insurers in California.

to me, Monique, Chad, Veronica, Maria

Mr. Rosario,

None of your cited authorities apply to the current situation where, here, an Anti-SLAPP motion is pending. Your position on this issue—and generally in this litigation—has absolutely zero merit and is obviously designed to waste my time, my clients' resources, and the Court's time. The Court is not going to appreciate your incessant clogging of the docket with meritless "motions," "bench briefs," and "supplemental" filings.

Moreover, your litany of case authorities cited here is completely irrelevant to the status of this litigation and appears to nothing more than an AI-generated recitation of general principles of amendment, which adds nothing to the analysis of this situation here: where an Anti-SLAPP motion is pending. Put simply, you cannot obtain the relief you seek, here, a motion for leave to amend the pleadings while an Anti-SLAPP motion is pending. Full stop. Please actually read the words of my Opposition to your motion for leave to amend. Uploading it to ChatGPT, and receiving spoon-fed AI hallucinations, is not a proper stand-in for legal analysis.

Regards,

Tyler J. O'Connell

to Tyler, Monique, Chad, Veronica, Maria

Dear Mr. O'Connell,

Your Anti-SLAPP motion and the § 436 Motion to Strike/Demurrer are deficient on their face. The First Amended Complaint remains substantially pleaded, and your opposition notably omits controlling Supreme Court precedent.

Regardless of your efforts to manufacture total immunity for insurance companies and their counsel, independent actions can and do arise from extrinsic fraud, such as misrepresentations made to the court regarding pretrial discovery and possession. That's a typical deny posture. These misrepresentations are well-documented in the record.

The court's reliance on the candor of your firm and its financial backer, CSAA, led to adverse rulings against me based on inaccurate statements regarding the possession of records. This constitutes a violation of the law and is the definition of extrinsic fraud intended to inhibit my ability to present evidence in a fair manner.

I maintain the right to seek equity from the court on this matter. You will need to provide a substantive explanation for these misrepresentations and demonstrate how they were not prejudicial given the specific rulings made against me.

Anti-SLAPP: Fails at prong 1 because an independent action to set aside a judgment for extrinsic fraud is not "arising from" protected activity (Kulchar, Silberg, Park). Fails at prong 2 because Plaintiff tenders prima facie evidence of concealment and process-abuse. Privilege arguments collapse because § 47(b) does not reach extrinsic fraud.

§ 436 MTS / Demurrer: Fails because (a) extrinsic-fraud vacatur is a recognized cause of action (Kulchar, Stevenot, Rappleyea); (b) damage items are not "irrelevant" as a matter of law (PH II); (c) collateral estoppel requires actual litigation of the extrinsic-fraud issue, which by definition did not occur (Lucido); and (d) at worst, leave to amend defeats any cure-able defect (Blank, Goodman).

Dylan Rosario

Re: Safe-Harbor Notice Under CCP § 128.7(c)(1) — CGC-25-631801

Dear Counsel:

Pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure § 128.7(c)(1), this letter serves as formal notice that Plaintiff intends to file a motion for sanctions under § 128.7 against Defendants and/or their counsel of record based on the filing of Defendants' Motion to Strike under CCP § 436 dated April 22, 2026.

I. STATUTORY FRAMEWORK

Code of Civil Procedure § 128.7(b) provides that by presenting a pleading, written motion, or other paper to the court, an attorney or unrepresented party is certifying that to the best of the person's knowledge, information, and belief, formed after an inquiry reasonable under the circumstances:

“(1) It is not being presented primarily for an improper purpose, such as to harass or to cause unnecessary delay or needless increase in the cost of litigation.

“(2) The claims, defenses, and other legal contentions therein are warranted by existing law or by a nonfrivolous argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law or the establishment of new law.

“(3) The allegations and other factual contentions have evidentiary support or, if specifically so identified, are likely to have evidentiary support after a reasonable opportunity for further investigation or discovery.”

II. DEFECTS IN THE MOTION TO STRIKE

Plaintiff contends that Defendants’ Motion to Strike violates § 128.7(b) in at least the following particulars:

Defect 1: CCP § 435(b)(1) Timing Violation

The motion to strike under CCP § 436 was not filed concurrently with or before Defendants’ demurrer and anti-SLAPP motion. CCP § 435(b)(1) requires that a motion to strike “shall be made within the time allowed to respond to a pleading, however, if a demurrer is also filed, the motion to strike shall be made at the same time as the demurrer is filed and shall be noticed for hearing at the same time.” Defendants’ demurrer was filed April 3, 2026. The MTS was filed April 22, 2026—19 days late and waived as a matter of law.

Defect 2: CCP § 435.5 Meet-and-Confer Deficiency

Defendants’ MTS does not contain a § 435.5 declaration demonstrating that counsel “met and conferred” with Plaintiff in person, by telephone, or by video conference before filing the motion, as required by § 435.5(a). The statute requires actual oral communication—not email or letter—at least five days before the motion is filed. No such declaration is attached.

Defect 3: CCP § 430.80 Waiver Doctrine — PH II

The motion seeks to strike allegations on grounds that constitute demurrer grounds in disguise. Under PH II, Inc. v. Superior Court (1995) 33 Cal.App.4th 1680, 1682–83, a motion to strike cannot be used as a “backdoor demurrer” to attack the sufficiency of a cause of action. The MTS improperly invokes CCP § 436(b) to challenge legal sufficiency arguments that belong in a demurrer, which Defendants already filed and waived the MTS timing for.

Defect 4: Frivolous Throckmorton Argument

The MTS relies on United States v. Throckmorton (1878) 98 U.S. 61, a non-binding federal case superseded by California Supreme Court authority: Kulchar v. Kulchar (1969) 1 Cal.3d 467; In re Marriage of Modnick (1983) 33 Cal.3d 897; Estate of Sanders (1985) 40 Cal.3d 607. Reliance on non-binding authority while ignoring controlling Supreme Court precedent is not warranted by existing law.

Defect 5: Misrepresentation of Procedural Posture

The MTS argues allegations are “unsupported” without acknowledging that Plaintiff has lodged certified transcript excerpts documenting the February 28, 2025 judicial-reliance colloquy and the April 16, 2025 “provided by Dolan” admission (RT 7, p. 213:13–15). The factual contentions have evidentiary support.

Defect 6: Improper Purpose — Harassment and Delay

The MTS was filed on the last possible day to gain maximum calendaring delay, notwithstanding that Defendants had already filed a demurrer and anti-SLAPP motion raising substantially overlapping arguments. This suggests an improper purpose to multiply litigation costs and delay resolution.

III. SAFE-HARBOR NOTICE AND DEADLINE

Pursuant to CCP § 128.7(c)(1), Defendants have 21 days from the date of service of this letter to withdraw or appropriately correct the challenged paper.

Service Date: April 22, 2026

21-Day Safe-Harbor Deadline: May 14, 2026, 5:00 p.m. Pacific

If Defendants do not withdraw or correct the Motion to Strike by the safe-harbor deadline, Plaintiff intends to file a motion for sanctions under § 128.7 on the next court day following expiration (May 15, 2026), seeking:

1. Reasonable expenses, including attorney’s fees (or self-represented litigant out-of-pocket expenses), incurred in responding to the MTS;
2. An order striking the MTS in its entirety as frivolous and filed for improper purpose;
3. Such other sanctions as the Court deems appropriate under § 128.7(d).

IV. WITHDRAWAL INSTRUCTIONS

To avoid a sanctions motion, Defendants may withdraw the Motion to Strike by:

1. Filing a Notice of Withdrawal with the Court; and
2. Serving Plaintiff with a copy of the Notice of Withdrawal by 5:00 p.m. Pacific on May 14, 2026.

If the MTS is corrected rather than withdrawn, Plaintiff reserves the right to assess whether the corrections are adequate under § 128.7(b).

V. RESERVATION OF RIGHTS

This letter does not waive any objection to the MTS, including but not limited to procedural defenses, evidentiary objections, and requests for sanctions under CCP § 128.5. Plaintiff reserves the right to file opposition papers addressing the MTS on the merits while preserving this § 128.7 safe-harbor notice.

Defendants CSAA INSURANCE EXCHANGE; CARBONE, SMITH & KOYAMA; and MICHAEL R. CHAMBERS (“Defendants”) hereby submit the following in opposition to the Plaintiff’s motion for leave to file a second amended complaint.

I. INTRODUCTION

Plaintiff’s current effort to amend the pleadings, despite Defendants’ pending Anti-SLAPP motion is completely precluded under California law—given Defendants’ pending Anti-SLAPP motion. Plaintiff cites no authority to support the proposition that he can file his Motion for Leave to Amend—as no such authority exists to support his motion.

Further, Plaintiff has not provided sufficient notice of this motion, by setting it for hearing a mere 8 days after filing—and weeks before Defendants’ properly filed and served Anti-SLAPP motion is to be heard.

Plaintiff’s procedurally defective and legally unsupportable motion practice is undeniably designed to evade Defendants’ Anti-SLAPP motion. Further, Plaintiff’s conduct in this, and other regards, is illustrative of his consistent gamesmanship and complete lack of respect for this Court, his opposing parties, and the entire judicial process.

The Court must deny this bald-faced effort to improperly sidestep Defendants’ properly filed, served, and noticed Anti-SLAPP motion to Plaintiff’s First Amended Complaint—which is pending a properly noticed hearing on May 12, 2026, in this Court.

II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

On April 9, 2026, Defendants’ counsel caused to be filed with the Court and served on Plaintiff by Certified Mail and Email a copy of Defendants’ Special Motion to Strike per Code Civ.
Proc. § 425.16 (“Anti-SLAPP motion”). (Declaration of Tyler J. O’Connell in support of Opposition, [hereinafter “O’Connell Decl.”] ¶ 2, Ex. A). Defendants’ Anti-SLAPP motion is based on the nature of Plaintiff’s allegations as contained in the original Complaint and in the First Amended Complaint (“FAC”). Plaintiff’s allegations squarely target Defendants’ litigation conduct all from Plaintiff’s underlying personal injury jury trial—which Plaintiff lost by defense verdict in April 2025. (O’Connell Decl. ¶ 3.)

1 Prior to filing the Anti-SLAPP motion, Defendants’ counsel informed Plaintiff in writing,
2 and on a phone call, of Defendants’ intention of filing an Anti-SLAPP motion should he not
3 withdraw the FAC, in its entirety—as the entirety of the purported legal theories in Plaintiff’s FAC
4 focus inextricably on Defendants’ protected litigation conduct. (O’Connell Decl. ¶ 4.) Plaintiff
5 refused to withdraw the FAC, in writing and on two meet and confer phone calls with Defendants’
6 counsel. And Defendants’ Anti-SLAPP motion was properly filed on April 9, 2026. (O’Connell
7 Decl. ¶ 5.)

8 Subsequently, on April 19, 2026, ten (10) days after Defendants’ Anti-SLAPP motion had 9 been filed, Plaintiff sent an email to Defendants’ counsel’s office purporting to serve his Motion for 10 Leave to file a Second Amended Complaint. (O’Connell Decl. ¶ 6, Ex. B.)

11 On April 20, 2026, eleven (11) days after Defendants’ Anti-SLAPP motion had been filed,
12 Plaintiff sent an email to Defendants’ counsel’s office purporting to serve Defendants’ counsel’s
13 office a revised version of his Motion for Leave to file a Second Amended Complaint stating in this 14 email that, “The undersigned abandons and supersedes the April 19, 2026 POS-050 proofs
15 previously transmitted for PLAINTIFF-OPPOSITIONS-FULL-PACKET-WITH-EXHIBITS.pdf
16 and SAC-FULL-PACKET-WITH-EXHIBITS.pdf and substitutes the POS-050 proofs transmitted 17 herewith, which correctly list the documents contained in those consolidated PDFs.” (O’Connell
18 Decl. ¶ 7, Ex. C.)

19 Also on April 17, 2026 and April 20, 2026, Plaintiff sent two separate emails to Defendants’
20 counsel stating he would seek “impending professional consequences,” including “a negative mark 21 on [Defendants’ counsel’s] Bar license” should Defendants’ counsel not voluntarily withdraw or 22 “vacate these motions”—referring to Defendants’ pending Anti-SLAPP motion and Demurrer in 23 this litigation. (O’Connell Decl. ¶ 8, Ex. D.)

24 Then, on April 21, 2026, Plaintiff went ahead and filed the instant motion, setting it for 25 hearing on April 29, 2026—only 8 days away. (O’Connell Decl. ¶ 9.) Later that day, also on April 26 21, 2026, Plaintiff sent a follow up email to my office stating: “Regarding the Second Amended
27 Complaint and the Proof of Service filed on April 19, [it was not actually filed until April 21] the 28 Court requires a fifteen-day notice period. Accordingly, the hearing is scheduled for May 6, 2026.

1 at 9:00 a.m. at the San Francisco Superior Court. You can retrieve the new proof of service and the
2 clerk's copy stamped from the website.” (O’Connell Decl. ¶ 10, Ex. E.)

3 Then, on April 22, 2026, Plaintiff sent another email to Defendants’ counsel purporting to 4 serve a Motion for Leave to file a Third Amended Complaint (“TAC”). (O’Connell Decl. ¶ 11, Ex.
5 F.) Also on April 22, 2026, Plaintiff sent yet another email to Defendants’ counsel purporting to 6 serve i) “a Motion to Deem Admitted, Compel, and for Sanctions”; ii) and a bevy of additional 7 written discovery requests, despite Defendants’ Anti-SLAPP motion pending. (O’Connell Decl. ¶
8 12, Ex. G.)¹

9 Finally, Plaintiff persists in casting aspersions toward two parties to this action, in copying
10 those parties on many emails to Defendants’ counsel’s office. Those parties are: i) Ms. Priya 11 Navaratsingham; and ii) Mr. Alberto Reyna—both of whom, together constituted the defense team
12 from Plaintiff’s underlying jury trial. Plaintiff, for unfathomable reasons, consistently refers to Ms.
13 Priya Navaratsingham as “Priya NavaRATsingham”—capitalizing the letters “R.A.T.” in her last 14 name. Plaintiff also insists on referring to Mr. Alberto Reyna as “Ms. Alberta Reyna” in email 15 correspondences. (O’Connell Decl. ¶ 13, Ex. H) (see also O’Connell Decl. ¶ 7, Ex. C – for an 16 example of Plaintiff’s insulting emails.)

17 Ultimately, in addition to the undeniable service of process and insufficient notice issues,
18 Plaintiff’s Motion for Leave to File a Second Amended Complaint is barred as a matter of law, given
19 Defendants’ pending Anti-SLAPP motion. (O’Connell Decl. ¶ 14.)

20 III. LEGAL ISSUES BARRING THIS MOTION

21 The defects in Plaintiff’s current motion—and underlying First Amended Complaint—are 22 myriad. Suffice it to say, in the limited time available for Defendants to prepare this Opposition (in 23 light of Plaintiff’s lack of proper notice of this motion), Defendants will concisely list those issues.
24 First, Plaintiff provided insufficient notice of this Motion. Second, Plaintiff’s insufficient notice of 25 this motion substantially prejudices Defendants. Third, Plaintiff cannot plead around Defendants’
26 pending Anti-SLAPP motion by yet again amending the pleadings.

27 ///

28 ¹ Plaintiff’s erroneous TAC Motion and Discovery motions and written discovery described in paragraphs 12-13 are omitted out of respect for the Court’s time—and only the emails from Plaintiff are provided as exhibits.

1 1 A. Plaintiff Provided Insufficient Notice of Motion and Defective Service

2 Under Code Civ. Proc. § 1005(a) “Written notice shall be given, as prescribed in 3 subdivisions (b) and (c), for the following motions:

4 (12) Motion ... for Leave to Amend pursuant to Section 585.5.

5 (13) Any other proceeding under this code in which notice is required, and no other
6 time or method is prescribed by law or by court or judge.

7 (b) Unless otherwise ordered or specifically provided by law, all moving and 8 supporting papers shall be served and filed at least 16 court days before the hearing.

9 ...and if the notice is served by facsimile transmission, express mail, or another 10 method of delivery providing for overnight delivery, the required 16-day period of 11 notice before the hearing shall be increased by two calendar days.

12 Here, Plaintiff served the instant Motion on April 19, 2026, via email upon Defendants.
13 (O’Connell Decl. ¶ 6, Ex. B.) Then, on April 20, 2026, Plaintiff served a second version of the 14 instant Motion, again via email, superseding the first version. (O’Connell Decl. ¶ 7, Ex. C.) Plaintiff
15 waited until April 21, 2026 to file the instant motion. (O’Connell Decl. ¶ 9.) Then, Plaintiff set this 16 motion for hearing on April 29, 2026. This service constituted only 9 days’ notice (from the April 17 20 service) and 8 days’ notice (from the April 21 filing) of the hearing on this Motion.

18 Plaintiff’s 9 days’ notice of this Motion is insufficient, as service by email requires a 19 minimum of 16 days’ notice—plus two (2) days for electronic service—for a total of 18 days’ notice
20 required. Plaintiff’s 9-day notice of this Motion is procedurally defective and subject to denial on 21 this basis alone.²

22 B. Plaintiff’s Current Motion Substantially Prejudices Defendants

23 Plaintiff’s defective service, gamesmanship, and unsupportable effort to amend the 24 pleadings substantially prejudices Defendants. First, Defendants’ Anti-SLAPP motion is still 25 pending. Plaintiff’s current effort, which he has patently admitted is to sidestep Defendants’ properly 26 filed, served, and noticed Anti-SLAPP motion, is prejudicial. Defendants’ have already incurred the

27 _____
28 ² Apparently, Plaintiff has since reset this motion for hearing on May 6, 2026; however, this is still deficient.
Assuming the April 20, 2026 service of this Motion remains operative, that would only constitute 16 days’ notice, which does not supply the additional two (2) days required for electronic service. (See Code Civ. Proc. § 1005(b).)

1 burden and expense of preparing a lengthy and detailed Anti-SLAPP motion to Plaintiff's
2 unsupportable allegations. Were this Court to grant Plaintiff's instant Motion, the costs of additional
3 motion practice would be incurred upon Defendants, and the burden of further filings and review
4 imposed upon the Court.

5 Second, Plaintiff has provided insufficient notice of this Motion, creating a rush to the 6 Courthouse for Defendants to prepare and file an Opposition to a motion that has absolutely zero
7 merit.

8 C. Plaintiff Cannot Amend The Pleadings Given Defendants' Pending Anti-SLAPP
9 Motion

10 California law is abundantly clear: once a Defendant files an Anti-SLAPP motion, the 11 pleadings cannot be amended until that Anti-SLAPP motion is heard and ruled upon.

12 "There is a history of case law setting forth the rule that a party cannot amend around a 13 SLAPP motion. (City of Colton v. Singletary (2012) 206 Cal.App.4th 751, 775; citing Law Offices
14 of Andrew L. Ellis v. Yang (2009) 178 Cal.App.4th 869, 880, 100 Cal.Rptr.3d 771; Sylmar Air
15 Conditioning v. Pueblo Contracting Services, supra, 122 Cal.App.4th at pp. 1054–1055, 18
16 Cal.Rptr.3d 882; Simmons v. Allstate Ins. Co. (2001) 92 Cal.App.4th 1068, 1073–1074, 112
17 Cal.Rptr.2d 397.) "We are not inclined to create instability in this rule by permitting a plaintiff to 18 amend its pleading." (City of Colton, supra, 206 Cal.App.4th at 775.)

19 "A plaintiff cannot avoid [an anti-]SLAPP motion by amending the complaint." (Jackson v.
20 Mayweather (2017) 10 Cal.App.5th 1240, 1263; citing Hansen v. California Department of 21 Corrections & Rehabilitation (2008) 171 Cal.App.4th 1537, 1547; accord, Contreras v.
22 Dowling (2016) 4 Cal.App.5th 774, 791, ["[a] plaintiff ... may not seek to subvert or avoid a ruling
23 on an anti-SLAPP motion by amending the challenged complaint ... in response to the 24 motion"]; Sylmar Air Conditioning v. Pueblo Contracting Services, Inc. (2004) 122 Cal.App.4th
25 1049, 1055; see Simmons v. Allstate Ins. Co. (2001) 92 Cal.App.4th 1068, 1073, [§ 425.16 makes 26 no provision for amending the complaint; "we reject the notion that such a right should be 27 implied"].) Jackson v. Mayweather, supra, 10 Cal.App.5th at 1264.

28 ///

There is no legal rationale provided in the moving papers—nor, truly, under California law—to justify Plaintiff’s current effort to amend the pleadings, in light of Defendants’ pending Anti-SLAPP motion.

IV. CONCLUSION

Defendants respectfully request the Court deny Plaintiff's Motion for Leave to file a Second Amended Complaint, in light of Defendants' pending Anti-SLAPP motion.

Subject: Stand-alone, case-collective meet-and-confer letter accompanying plaintiff's same-day case-isolated safe-harbor letters in CGC-25-631801 and CGC-25-631802. Express declaration of plaintiff's controlling authority under the Moradi-Shalal common-law carve-out. Verbatim recitation of paragraph [10] of Moradi-Shalal v. Fireman's Fund Ins. Companies (1988) 46 Cal.3d 287, 304–305, with the binding California Supreme Court gloss in Manufacturers Life Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1995) 10 Cal.4th 257 and Zhang v. Superior Court (2013) 57 Cal.4th 364. Identification of any contrary characterization in defendants' filed or hereafter-filed papers as a continuing-certification matter under Code of Civil Procedure section 128.7(b)(2)–(b)(3) and a directly-adverse-authority matter under California Rule of Professional Conduct 3.3(a)(2) and California Business and Professions Code section 6068(d).

Counsel:
0. Status, posture, and relationship to the safe-harbor chain.

This is a stand-alone, case-collective meet-and-confer letter. It is not a sanctions motion. It does not restart the 21-day safe-harbor clock that began running on plaintiff's April 22, 2026 Code of Civil Procedure section 128.7(c)(1) safe-harbor correspondence and that expires on May 14, 2026. It is offered as a second, free-standing companion to plaintiff's same-day, case-isolated safe-harbor letters in CGC-25-631801 and CGC-25-631802 (each titled "Supplement and reiteration of plaintiff's prior April 22, 2026 Code of Civil Procedure section 128.7(c)(1) safe-harbor correspondence"), and to plaintiff's April 25, 2026 (Saturday) comprehensive merits meet-and-confer letter (the "April 25 Merits Letter," served as Exhibit M-1 to each safe-harbor letter).

Like the April 25 Merits Letter, this letter is served on the same defense team in both companion actions because the doctrinal question it addresses, the survival of plaintiff's common-law fraud, deceit, intentional infliction of emotional distress, breach-of-contract, breach-of-implied-covenant, and Zhang-predicated UCL theories against an insurer defendant, is the same question in both cases. The fact pattern (a February 25, 2021 uninsured-motorist denial issued by Sarah Rash within 21 days of the February 4, 2021 intake, plus the four foundational claim-file records from the same window) is the same direct-addressee operative-fact set in both lanes. Plaintiff therefore declares the controlling authority once, on a single record, for the avoidance of doubt in either action.

This letter addresses only one doctrinal vector: the Moradi-Shalal common-law carve-out. It is independent of, and additive to, the JKC3H8 v. Colton / Nguyen-Lam v. Cao / leave-to-amend / anti-SLAPP candor record laid out in the April 27 case-isolated safe-harbor letters.

1. Express purpose: declaration of plaintiff’s controlling authority under Moradi-Shalal’s common-law preservation clause.

Terminology note. This letter uses “carve-out” as the conventional commentator’s shorthand for paragraph [10] of Moradi-Shalal. The California Supreme Court did not itself label the passage a “carve-out”; the more neutral and doctrinally accurate description is preservation clause (or clarification of non-preemption), i.e., a clause confirming that the Court’s overruling of Royal Globe did not preempt or displace independent common-law remedies. Plaintiff retains the “carve-out” shorthand in this letter for ease of cross-reference with the underlying memorandum (Exhibit MS-1), without thereby suggesting that paragraph [10] created a new species of liability or shielded common-law claims from the ordinary pleading-and-proof rigor that California courts apply to fraud, IIED, breach-of-contract, and bad-faith claims generally.

Scope-of-immunity precision. Moradi-Shalal does immunize insurers from one specific category of liability: direct private enforcement of Insurance Code section 790.03(h) by a private litigant. Plaintiff does not assert any cause of action premised on direct private enforcement of section 790.03(h), and acknowledges that any such cause of action would be barred. The accurate plain-English statement of the rule is therefore: no immunity from independent common-law liability, alongside clear immunity from a *statutory private right of action under § 790.03(h). The two statements operate together; neither cancels the other. The declaration that follows is directed only at the first half of that pair, the independent common-law lane, and is offered to confirm the doctrinal availability of that lane on the present record.

Plaintiff hereby expressly declares, on a single written record served simultaneously in both companion cases, the following:

Plaintiff’s claims of common-law fraud, deceit, intentional infliction of emotional distress, breach of contract (as to the insured), breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing (as to the insured), and Business and Professions Code section 17200 (UCL) where the underlying conduct is independently actionable, are NOT barred by, and are NOT preempted by, Moradi-Shalal v. Fireman’s Fund Ins. Companies (1988) 46 Cal.3d 287, as a matter of doctrinal availability. Whether plaintiff ultimately prevails on the merits of any particular cause of action remains to be tested under the ordinary pleading-and-proof standards California courts apply to that theory; that question is independent of, and is not foreclosed by, Moradi-Shalal.

That declaration is grounded in the express text of paragraph [10] of Moradi-Shalal itself (46 Cal.3d at pp. 304–305) and in two unanimous California Supreme Court decisions that directly construe and reaffirm that text: Manufacturers Life Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1995) 10 Cal.4th 257, 282–284, and Zhang v. Superior Court (2013) 57 Cal.4th 364, 384–385. Those three opinions, read together with Insurance Code section 790.09 (savings clause), Civil Code sections 1709, 1710 (deceit), Civil Code section 3294 (punitive damages), and Civil Code section 3291 (prejudgment interest), establish that an insurer’s act may simultaneously violate Insurance Code section 790.03(h) and constitute an independently actionable common-law tort, and that the plaintiff retains the right to sue on the common-law cause of action subject to the conventional pleading-and-proof requirements of that cause of action.

The remainder of this letter walks through the controlling text and gloss in the order the trial court will be asked to confront it, and then ties each strand to the operative pleadings in both cases.

2. The verbatim controlling passage. (Moradi-Shalal, paragraph [10].)

The dispositive language appears in part V of the majority opinion of Chief Justice Lucas, marginal paragraph mark [10], beginning at the bottom of 46 Cal.3d 304 and continuing on 305. It reads, verbatim:

“[10] Moreover, apart from administrative remedies, the courts retain jurisdiction to impose civil damages or other remedies against insurers in appropriate common law actions, based on such traditional theories as fraud, infliction of emotional distress, and (as to the insured) either breach of contract or breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing. Punitive damages may be available in actions not arising from contract, where fraud, oppression or malice is proved. (See Civ. Code, § 3294.) In addition, prejudgment interest may be awarded where an insurer has attempted to avoid a prompt, fair settlement. (See id., § 3291.) Finally, nothing we hold herein would prevent the Legislature from creating additional civil or administrative remedies, including, of course, creation of a private cause of action for violation of section 790.03. We hold, however, that thus far the Legislature has not manifested an intent to create such a private cause of action.”

- Moradi-Shalal v. Fireman’s Fund Ins. Companies (1988) 46 Cal.3d 287, 304–305 (Lucas, C.J., for the majority; emphasis added).

The immediately preceding sentence, at the top of the same page (304), is a related and independently quotable caution by Chief Justice Lucas:

“We caution, however, that our decision is not an invitation to the insurance industry to commit the unfair practices proscribed by the Insurance Code. We urge the Insurance Commissioner and the courts to continue to enforce the laws forbidding such practices to the full extent consistent with our opinion.”

- Id. at 304.

These two paragraphs, read together, are the textual source of what California courts and treatises commonly call the Moradi-Shalal common-law carve-out (more precisely, a preservation clause): the rule that the overruling of Royal Globe Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1979) 23 Cal.3d 880, which had implied a private statutory cause of action under Insurance Code section 790.03(h), substantially preserved the traditional common-law and equitable remedies a claimant or insured may otherwise possess, subject to the ordinary pleading-and-proof requirements the chosen common-law theory imposes (e.g., Lazar particularity for fraud; the Hughes v. Pair outrage threshold for IIED; the insured-only privity limit on the contract and implied-covenant theories). “Preservation” in this context means doctrinal availability of the cause of action, not a guarantee of survival on the merits.

3. The carve-out, parsed clause-by-clause.

(a) “Apart from administrative remedies.” The opening clause expressly distinguishes the administrative enforcement powers of the Insurance Commissioner, Insurance Code sections 790.05 (cease-and-desist orders), 790.07 (fines up to $55,000 per willful violation; license suspension up to one year), and 790.09 (savings clause), from the judicial remedies the court is about to discuss. The carve-out is therefore non-administrative: it is a docket of civil-court remedies that the insurer cannot extinguish by pointing to the Commissioner’s exclusive enforcement of section 790.03.

(b) “The courts retain jurisdiction to impose civil damages or other remedies against insurers in appropriate common law actions.” The verb “retain” is doctrinally significant: the court is not creating a new species of action; it is preserving the pre-existing common-law architecture of insurer liability. The overruling of Royal Globe therefore did not, by itself, confer immunity on insurers from independently-pleaded common-law claims (as distinct from the now-foreclosed § 790.03(h) private right). (Manufacturers Life, supra, 10 Cal.4th at pp. 282–284.)

(c) “Based on such traditional theories as fraud, infliction of emotional distress, and (as to the insured) either breach of contract or breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing.” The list is illustrative (“such traditional theories as”), not exhaustive. It expressly enumerates four named torts/contract theories:

- Fraud, the Lazar v. Superior Court (1996) 12 Cal.4th 631 / Civil Code sections 1709, 1710 deceit lane, available to a person whom the insurer directly defrauds, including a third-party claimant who is the direct addressee of a misleading communication and who actually relies on it to his or her detriment. The “(as to the insured)” parenthetical does not attach to fraud or to infliction of emotional distress as a category; it attaches only to the contract-based theories that follow it. (See State Farm Fire & Casualty Co. v. Superior Court (Allegro) (1996) 45 Cal.App.4th 1093, 1103–1104 [direct-addressee fraud preserved against insurer regardless of insured/non-insured posture].) In practice, third-party fraud against an insurer is narrower than the insured lane and California courts apply Lazar particularity carefully: the plaintiff must plead and prove a direct misrepresentation (or actionable suppression) made to the plaintiff, actual reliance by the plaintiff, and damages caused by that reliance. Plaintiff’s pleadings here meet those independent requirements, and plaintiff’s reliance on the carve-out is limited to its doctrinal availability - not to any suggestion that the elements are presumed met.
- Intentional / negligent infliction of emotional distress, both species, available where the insurer’s conduct meets the Hughes v. Pair (2009) 46 Cal.4th 1035, 1050–1051 outrage threshold or, in negligent IIED, where a duty of care is breached.
- Breach of contract (insureds only), the policy is a contract; conventional Civ. Code sections 1549–1550, 1636 et seq. doctrine applies.
- Breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing (insureds only), the Comunale v. Traders & General Ins. Co. (1958) 50 Cal.2d 654, 658 / Crisci v. Security Ins. Co. (1967) 66 Cal.2d 425, 429–430 / Gruenberg v. Aetna Ins. Co. (1973) 9 Cal.3d 566, 573 line.

(d) Cumulative remedies, punitive damages and prejudgment interest. The carve-out does not stop at liability. It pulls forward two cumulative-remedy provisions of the Civil Code:

- Civil Code § 3294, punitive damages “in actions not arising from contract, where fraud, oppression or malice is proved.” Subdivision (b) imposes corporate liability where an officer, director, or managing agent authorized, ratified, or had advance knowledge of the unfit conduct (White v. Ultramar, Inc. (1999) 21 Cal.4th 563, 566–567; Major v. Western Home Ins. Co. (2009) 169 Cal.App.4th 1197, 1221).
- Civil Code § 3291, prejudgment interest “where an insurer has attempted to avoid a prompt, fair settlement” (Lakin v. Watkins Associated Industries (1993) 6 Cal.4th 644, 656).

By naming these two provisions in the same paragraph as the carve-out, the Moradi-Shalal court itself signaled that the fraud prong of the carve-out is fully eligible for punitive exposure (subject to the heightened “by clear and convincing evidence” Adams v. Murakami (1991) 54 Cal.3d 105 standard), and that the prejudgment-interest line continues to operate against insurers even though Royal Globe is gone.

(e) Legislative reservation. The closing two sentences of paragraph [10] confirm that the Moradi-Shalal holding is one of statutory construction (the Legislature has not, thus far, manifested intent to create a section 790.03 private right) and not one of constitutional or common-law pre-emption. The Legislature retains plenary authority to restore Royal Globe; equally important, common-law causes of action created by the courts themselves are not within the scope of the holding at all.

4. Manufacturers Life (1995): the first unanimous Supreme Court ratification.

In Manufacturers Life Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1995) 10 Cal.4th 257, the unanimous Supreme Court (Lucas, C.J., Mosk, Kennard, Arabian, Baxter, George, and Werdegard, JJ.) construed Moradi-Shalal directly. Recapitulating the carve-out, the court wrote that its earlier decision “did not . . . hold that insurers were immune from common law liability.” (10 Cal.4th at p. 282.) The court continued:

“[Moradi-Shalal] simply held that section 790.03(h) does not give private litigants a cause of action against insurers for statutory violations. We expressly preserved ‘the imposition of substantial administrative sanctions by the Insurance Commissioner’ (Moradi-Shalal, supra, 46 Cal.3d at p. 304) and the courts’ jurisdiction ‘to impose civil damages or other remedies against insurers in appropriate common law actions, based on such traditional theories as fraud, infliction of emotional distress,’ breach of contract and breach of the implied covenant. (Id., at pp. 304–305.)”

(Id. at pp. 282–283.)

The court then held that the Cartwright Act (Bus. & Prof. Code § 16720 et seq.) and the UCL (Bus. & Prof. Code § 17200) are “cumulative” to the Insurance Commissioner’s enforcement of the UIPA, expressly grounding that conclusion in section 790.09’s savings language and in the carve-out paragraph quoted above. (10 Cal.4th at pp. 283–284.) Manufacturers Life is therefore a binding gloss on Moradi-Shalal itself: a Supreme Court ratification of the proposition that the overruling of Royal Globe did not itself shield insurers from independently actionable common-law or statutory liability for the same underlying conduct, while leaving in place the narrow holding that section 790.03(h) does not give private litigants a freestanding statutory cause of action.

5. Zhang (2013): the second unanimous Supreme Court ratification, expressly extending the carve-out to the UCL.

The fullest and most recent Supreme Court treatment is Zhang v. Superior Court (2013) 57 Cal.4th 364. The plaintiff there alleged that her insurer had falsely advertised that it would promptly pay covered claims and then refused to pay, in violation of both the UCL and section 790.03(h). The carrier moved to strike the UCL claim on the theory that Moradi-Shalal immunized the conduct.

The unanimous court (Corrigan, J.) rejected that theory in plain language:

“Moradi-Shalal does not preclude first party UCL actions based on grounds independent from section 790.03 We conclude that Moradi-Shalal does not bar a UCL action that depends on conduct that violates the UIPA, so long as that conduct is also independently actionable under another section of the Insurance Code or under common law.”

(57 Cal.4th at pp. 384–385, emphasis added.) The court then summarized the carve-out as follows:

“When insurers engage in conduct that violates both the UIPA and obligations imposed by other statutes or the common law, a UCL action may lie. . . . [I]nsurance practices that violate common law obligations (e.g., the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, fraud) remain actionable notwithstanding Moradi-Shalal.”

(Id. at p. 384, emphasis added.)

Zhang is therefore the modern, definitive ratification of the Moradi-Shalal carve-out. It (a) re-states the carve-out in the exact “insurance-code-violation-plus-common-law-tort yields a viable cause of action” form plaintiff invokes here; (b) extends it to the UCL “unlawful” prong; (c) disapproves the contrary appellate dicta in Textron Financial Corp. v. National Union Fire Ins. Co. (2004) 118 Cal.App.4th 1061; and (d) expressly approves State Farm v. Superior Court (Allegro) (1996) 45 Cal.App.4th 1093.

Together, Manufacturers Life and Zhang are inconsistent with any defense argument that Moradi-Shalal “swallowed” the common-law tort field as to insurers. The Supreme Court has twice said it did not displace those theories where the elements of the underlying common-law cause of action are independently met. That is a doctrinal availability holding; it does not relieve plaintiff of the burden to plead and prove the elements of the chosen theory at demurrer, anti-SLAPP step-two, summary judgment, or trial, and California courts continue to police that line carefully on a case-by-case basis.

6. Court of Appeal confirmation.

The Courts of Appeal have repeatedly applied the carve-out, and three opinions are conventionally cited as authoritative gloss:

1. State Farm Fire & Casualty Co. v. Superior Court (Allegro) (1996) 45 Cal.App.4th 1093, 1103–1104. The court held that Moradi-Shalal is “limited to the statutory cause of action it overruled” and does not abrogate “the cause of action for fraud, including misrepresentations made in connection with the marketing or adjustment of an insurance claim.” Direct-addressee deceit by an insurer’s claims representative, for example, a written denial that misstates coverage or facts known to the carrier, therefore states a fraud claim independent of section 790.03. Allegro was expressly approved in Zhang, supra, 57 Cal.4th at p. 384.

2. Spray, Gould & Bowers v. Associated International Ins. Co. (1999) 71 Cal.App.4th 1260, 1268. Relying on Moradi-Shalal at 304–305 and on Manufacturers Life, the court reiterated that “Insurers remain subject to liability for common-law torts independently committed in connection with claims handling, including fraud and intentional infliction of emotional distress.”
3. Rattan v. United Services Automobile Assn. (2000) 84 Cal.App.4th 715, 723–724. The court harmonized Moradi-Shalal with Gruenberg and Crisci, reaffirming that the bad-faith tort survives in full as to insureds and that fraud against either insureds or third parties survives as well.

Additional appellate authority, Hughes v. Blue Cross of Northern California (1989) 215 Cal.App.3d 832; Buss v. Superior Court (1997) 16 Cal.4th 35; Cates Construction, Inc. v. Talbot Partners (1999) 21 Cal.4th 28, 43–46; Wilson v. 21st Century Ins. Co. (2007) 42 Cal.4th 713, 720–721; Coleman v. Republic Indemnity Ins. Co. (2005) 132 Cal.App.4th 403, 416–417, uniformly treats paragraph [10] as a freestanding, controlling pronouncement on the survival of the common law against insurer defendants.

7. The statutory architecture, reconciled.

The carve-out makes doctrinal sense only when the statutory architecture is laid out:

- Insurance Code § 790.03(h) defines the fifteen-item list of unfair claims settlement practices (misrepresentation, failure to acknowledge or to act with reasonable promptness, failure to investigate, failure to affirm/deny, failure to attempt good-faith settlement, etc.).
- Insurance Code §§ 790.05–790.07 vest the Insurance Commissioner with administrative enforcement: cease-and-desist orders; fines up to $55,000 per willful violation; license suspension up to one year.
- Insurance Code § 790.09 (savings clause) provides: “No order to cease and desist . . . shall in any way relieve or absolve any person affected . . . from any other liability or penalty under the laws of this State.” Section 790.09 is the textual source of the carve-out: it tells every reader of the UIPA that the Commissioner’s enforcement track does not extinguish “any other liability or penalty under the laws of this State.” The Moradi-Shalal carve-out is the judicial implementation of that statutory savings clause.
- Civil Code §§ 1709, 1710 define and provide damages for fraudulent deceit. Section 1709 imposes liability on “[o]ne who willfully deceives another with intent to induce him to alter his position to his injury or risk”; section 1710 enumerates the four species of deceit (intentional misrepresentation, negligent misrepresentation, suppression of fact by one with a duty to disclose, and false promise). These provisions apply to insurers no less than to any other defendant. (See Lazar, supra, 12 Cal.4th 631.)
- Civil Code § 3294 authorizes punitive damages for fraud, oppression, or malice in actions not arising from contract; § 3294(b) defines corporate liability via authorization, ratification, or knowledge of an officer, director, or managing agent.

- Civil Code § 3291 authorizes prejudgment interest where the carrier has obstructed a prompt, fair settlement.
- Business & Professions Code § 17200 et seq. (UCL) reaches “unlawful, unfair, or fraudulent” practices. Under Zhang the “unlawful” prong is satisfied by a common-law tort or by an independently actionable statute (e.g., Civ. Code § 1709 deceit), not by section 790.03 alone.

The architecture is unambiguous. The Moradi-Shalal holding is a narrow construction of section 790.03(h). Section 790.09 expressly preserves all “other liability under the laws of this State.” The Civil Code provides the substantive common-law liability and the cumulative damages. The UCL provides an additional, Zhang-validated equitable channel where the underlying conduct is independently wrongful.

8. Application to the operative pleadings in CGC-25-631801 and CGC-25-631802.

Plaintiff’s two operative Third Amended Complaints, read together with the proposed Second Amended Complaint pending in CGC-25-631801 and the proposed Second Amended Complaint pending in CGC-25-631802, plead the independently-actionable common-law theories the carve-out preserves:

(a) Direct-addressee common-law fraud (Civ. Code § 1709). The February 25, 2021 uninsured-motorist denial communication, issued by Sarah Rash within twenty-one days of the February 4, 2021 intake, is pleaded with Lazar-grade particularity: (i) who, Sarah Rash and CSAA Insurance Exchange under Civ. Code §§ 2307, 2310, 2338 and § 3294(b); (ii) what, the specific misrepresentation/suppression as to coverage and known claim-file facts; (iii) when, February 25, 2021, within the same compressed twenty-one-day window as the four foundational records; and (iv) where / by what means, the written denial communication issued to the direct addressee. G.D. Searle & Co. v. Superior Court (1975) 49 Cal.App.3d 22, 29 supplies the pleading-stage scienter rule (state of mind may be alleged conclusorily; particularity is required as to the misrepresentation, not the mental state). Whether or not the same conduct also violates Insurance Code § 790.03(h)(1), (5), (13), or (15) is doctrinally beside the point: under paragraph [10] of Moradi-Shalal and under Zhang, the Civil Code § 1709 cause of action stands on its own elements.

(b) Intentional / negligent infliction of emotional distress. The same conduct, read with the carrier’s continued course of dealing, satisfies the Hughes v. Pair (2009) 46 Cal.4th 1035, 1050–1051 elements as pleaded.

(c) Breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing (insureds only). The Comunale–Crisci–Gruenberg line is expressly named in paragraph [10] as a preserved insured remedy. Plaintiff pleads it on the policy and the course of claims handling, with Brandt v. Superior Court (1985) 37 Cal.3d 813 fees, Gourley v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (1991) 53 Cal.3d 121 emotional-distress damages, and Civil Code § 3294 punitive exposure on a clear-and-convincing showing.

(d) UCL “unlawful” prong (Zhang-predicated). The UCL claim’s “unlawful” predicate is common-law fraud (Civ. Code § 1709), not section 790.03(h), and is therefore squarely within Zhang’s carve-out (supra, 57 Cal.4th at pp. 384–385). The contrary dicta in Textron Financial Corp. are disapproved by Zhang and supply no defense.

(e) Ratification / managing-agent punitive doctrine. In CGC-25-631801, the same compressed twenty-one-day calendar pins are deployed as evidence of knowledge imputable to CSAA through ratification under Civ. Code §§ 2307, 2310, 2338 and § 3294(b)’s managing-agent doctrine (White v. Ultramar; Major v. Western Home). The carve-out is again controlling because each of those theories is a common-law / Civil Code construct that Moradi-Shalal expressly preserves, not a section 790.03(h) re-label.

9. Express declaration of plaintiff’s authority to proceed under the carve-out.

In light of the controlling text of paragraph [10] of Moradi-Shalal v. Fireman’s Fund Ins. Companies (1988) 46 Cal.3d 287, 304–305; the unanimous Supreme Court ratification in Manufacturers Life Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1995) 10 Cal.4th 257, 282–284; the unanimous Supreme Court ratification in Zhang v. Superior Court (2013) 57 Cal.4th 364, 384–385; the express savings clause in Insurance Code § 790.09; and the cumulative-damages provisions in Civil Code §§ 3294 and 3291 cross-cited in paragraph [10] itself, plaintiff hereby expressly declares, on a single record served simultaneously in both companion actions, the following - each subject to plaintiff’s separate burden to plead and prove the independent elements of the chosen cause of action under conventional California pleading-and-proof standards:

(1) Plaintiff is not barred by Moradi-Shalal from pleading or prosecuting common-law fraud against any insurer defendant, including CSAA Insurance Exchange, on the operative facts pleaded in either CGC-25-631801 or CGC-25-631802, provided plaintiff pleads and proves the independent elements of fraud. The fraud cause of action stands on the elements of Civil Code §§ 1709 and 1710 and on Lazar v. Superior Court (1996) 12 Cal.4th 631 (particularity as to misrepresentation; direct addressee; actual reliance; damages).

(2) Plaintiff is not barred by Moradi-Shalal from pleading or prosecuting intentional or negligent infliction of emotional distress against any insurer defendant on those same operative facts, provided plaintiff pleads and proves the independent elements of the chosen IIED/NIED theory. The IIED cause of action stands on Hughes v. Pair (2009) 46 Cal.4th 1035 (extreme-and-outrageous threshold; severe emotional distress; causation).

(3) Plaintiff is not barred by Moradi-Shalal from pleading or prosecuting breach of contract or breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing against any insurer defendant in plaintiff’s posture as insured, provided plaintiff pleads and proves the independent elements of the chosen contract or implied-covenant theory. Those causes of action stand on the Comunale–Crisci–Gruenberg line (insureds only; privity required), with Brandt fees and Civil Code § 3294 punitive exposure as cumulative remedies.

(4) Plaintiff is not barred by Moradi-Shalal from pleading or prosecuting a Business and Professions Code § 17200 (UCL) claim whose “unlawful” predicate is independently actionable common-law fraud (Civ. Code § 1709) or any independently actionable statute other than Insurance Code § 790.03, provided that the “unlawful” predicate is in fact independently actionable and is not a relabel of section 790.03(h) alone. That cause of action stands on Zhang v. Superior Court (2013) 57 Cal.4th 364, 384–385, which is the most recent unanimous Supreme Court ratification of the preservation clause and which expressly approves State Farm Fire & Casualty Co. v. Superior Court (Allegro) (1996) 45 Cal.App.4th 1093.

(5) Plaintiff is not barred by Moradi-Shalal from pleading or prosecuting ratification, concert-of-action, agency, or managing-agent punitive theories against any insurer defendant, provided plaintiff pleads and proves the independent elements of those derivative theories on a clear-and-convincing basis where § 3294(b) is invoked. Those theories are common-law / Civil Code constructs (Civ. Code §§ 2307, 2310, 2338, 3294(b)) that Moradi-Shalal preserves; they nonetheless require plaintiff to satisfy the White v. Ultramar / Major v. Western Home managing-agent standard and the Adams v. Murakami clear-and-convincing standard for punitive damages.

(5A) What the preservation clause does not confer. Plaintiff acknowledges, for clarity of record, that the carve-out / preservation clause does not (i) create a private statutory cause of action under Insurance Code section 790.03(h) (Moradi-Shalal expressly forecloses that), (ii) relieve plaintiff of the Lazar particularity, Hughes outrageousness, Adams clear-and-convincing, or privity-as-to-the-insured constraints listed at paragraph (6) below, or (iii) entitle plaintiff to any presumption that the elements of the chosen common-law cause of action are met. Plaintiff's reliance on the preservation clause is therefore limited to the availability of the common-law lane; plaintiff bears the independent burden of meeting the elements of the chosen theory.

(6) The two operative limits the Supreme Court itself has placed on the preservation clause are:

(A) Plaintiff must plead and prove the elements of the chosen common-law cause of action (and not merely re-label a section 790.03(h) violation as something else), and

(B) Plaintiff must satisfy the case-specific particularity, scienter, reliance, causation, and damages standards that the chosen theory imposes, Lazar / Civil Code §§ 1709, 1710 for fraud; Hughes v. Pair for IIED; Foley v. Interactive Data Corp. (1988) 47 Cal.3d 654 / Egan v. Mutual of Omaha Ins. Co. (1979) 24 Cal.3d 809 / Gruenberg for the implied covenant; conventional Civil Code §§ 1549–1550, 1636 et seq. principles for breach of contract.

Plaintiff has met each of those constraints in the operative TACs and in the proposed SACs in both companion actions, as further detailed in the April 25 Merits Letter (Exhibit M-1) and as cross-walked to Exhibit A-7 in each case lane.

10. Specific defense framings now on notice as in significant tension with controlling authority.

This letter places the defense team on notice that the following framings, to the extent they appear in any defense paper, declaration, oral argument, or hereafter-filed brief in CGC-25-631801 or CGC-25-631802, are in significant tension with paragraph [10] of Moradi-Shalal, Manufacturers Life, and Zhang - at least when offered as categorical propositions about doctrinal availability - and, if continued in that categorical form without disclosure of those authorities to the tribunal, present a continuing-certification matter under Code of Civil Procedure section 128.7(b)(2) and (b)(3) and a candor-to-the-tribunal matter under California Rule of Professional Conduct 3.3(a)(2) and California Business and Professions Code section 6068(d). To be clear at the outset: the paragraphs that follow are not directed at merits arguments that the elements of plaintiff's common-law theories are not met on the present record; defendants remain free to make those merits arguments, and plaintiff's claim is only that Moradi-Shalal itself does not supply the rule of decision for them:

(a) Any framing that Moradi-Shalal, as a matter of doctrinal availability, “bars,” “preempts,”

1 “channels,” “displaces,” “occupies the field of,” or “immunizes the carrier from” plaintiff’s common-law fraud, deceit, IIED, breach-of-contract, breach-of-implied-covenant, or Zhang-predicated UCL claims, where those claims are pleaded as independently actionable common-law causes of action and not as a relabel of section 790.03(h). (A merits-based argument that the elements of a particular common-law theory are not satisfied is not the framing addressed here.)

(b) Any framing that the existence of an Insurance Code § 790.03(h) “label” available for the same conduct automatically defeats the independently-actionable common-law cause of action. Zhang (supra, 57 Cal.4th at pp. 384–385) and Manufacturers Life (supra, 10 Cal.4th at pp. 282–284) hold the opposite as a matter of doctrinal availability: the common-law cause of action is independently actionable where its own elements are met, and the section 790.03 administrative track is cumulative, not exclusive. Section 790.09 confirms that on its own face. Defendants of course remain free to argue, on the elements, that a particular common-law theory is in fact a relabel of § 790.03(h) and is therefore not independently actionable on the operative pleading; Zhang itself recognizes that limit.

(c) Any framing that the “(as to the insured)” parenthetical in paragraph [10] confines fraud or IIED to insureds as a categorical matter. State Farm v. Superior Court (Allegro) (45 Cal.App.4th at p. 1104), expressly approved in Zhang, squarely holds that the parenthetical attaches only to the contract-based theories (breach of contract; breach of the implied covenant). Direct-addressee fraud and IIED are doctrinally available to both insureds and third-party claimants who are intended recipients of the insurer’s communications, subject to the independent direct-addressee, actual-reliance, and outrage thresholds discussed at paragraph 3(c) above.

(d) Any framing, by demurrer, anti-SLAPP motion, motion to strike under Code of Civil Procedure section 436, motion for judgment on the pleadings, opposition to leave to amend, or otherwise, that relies on Textron Financial Corp. on the carve-out point without disclosing that Zhang (supra, 57 Cal.4th at p. 384, fn. 2) disapproved it on that point.

(e) Any framing that pleads or argues, on a Moradi-Shalal footing alone, that plaintiff “cannot” prevail on the merits of the fraud, IIED, implied-covenant, or UCL cause of action - i.e., that uses Moradi-Shalal as a categorical bar to relief rather than as the narrower statutory-construction holding it actually is. A categorical “cannot prevail” certification grounded on the carve-out theory itself is, on the present record, an unsupported legal contention under section 128.7(b)(2) within the meaning of the parallel section 128.7 record laid out in plaintiff’s case-isolated April 27, 2026 safe-harbor letters. A merits-based argument that plaintiff has not yet met the Lazar / Hughes / Adams / privity standards on the operative pleading is a different question; plaintiff acknowledges that defendants are entitled to make that argument, and plaintiff’s response is on the merits, not on the Moradi-Shalal preservation clause.

11. Required acknowledgment to the tribunal.

Each attorney signing or arguing any subsequent brief, declaration, opposition, reply, or oral argument on or after April 27, 2026 in either CGC-25-631801 or CGC-25-631802 should, before stating any position about whether plaintiff’s common-law claims are barred by Moradi-Shalal:

(a) Acknowledge receipt of this letter.

(b) Disclose to the San Francisco Superior Court the following directly adverse, controlling California authorities, by name and pin-cite:

1. Moradi-Shalal v. Fireman's Fund Ins. Companies (1988) 46 Cal.3d 287, 304–305, the verbatim carve-out at paragraph [10].
2. Manufacturers Life Ins. Co. v. Superior Court (1995) 10 Cal.4th 257, 282–284, “Moradi-Shalal did not . . . hold that insurers were immune from common law liability.”
3. Zhang v. Superior Court (2013) 57 Cal.4th 364, 384–385, UCL action survives where the conduct is independently actionable, e.g., common-law fraud or implied-covenant breach; State Farm (Allegro) approved; Textron Financial Corp. disapproved.
4. State Farm Fire & Casualty Co. v. Superior Court (Allegro) (1996) 45 Cal.App.4th 1093, 1103–1104, direct-addressee fraud preserved; “(as to the insured)” parenthetical does not narrow fraud or IIED.
5. Spray, Gould & Bowers v. Associated International Ins. Co. (1999) 71 Cal.App.4th 1260, 1268, common-law torts (fraud, IIED) survive Moradi-Shalal.
6. Rattan v. United Services Automobile Assn. (2000) 84 Cal.App.4th 715, 723–724, Comunale–Crisci–Gruenberg implied covenant unaffected.
7. Insurance Code § 790.09, savings clause: cease-and-desist orders do not relieve from “any other liability or penalty under the laws of this State.”
8. Civil Code §§ 1709, 1710, deceit liability, four species.
9. Civil Code § 3294 (incl. (b)), punitive damages; managing-agent corporate liability.
10. Civil Code § 3291, prejudgment interest where the carrier obstructed a prompt fair settlement.

(c) Restate defendants’ position in light of those authorities, consistent with the carve-out’s text.

The disclosure obligation runs to the tribunal directly, including at the lectern in front of the judge, and is not satisfied by silence or by re-stating a “Moradi-Shalal bars common-law claims” framing in different words.

12. Continuing-certification, candor, and forward-looking framework.

Each of you certified, by filing and by later advocating, the pleadings and motions in both companion cases within the meaning of Code of Civil Procedure section 128.7(b). That certification is continuing: each later advocacy of an unwithdrawn or uncorrected representation is a new certification act, and that duty runs in addition to California Rules of Professional Conduct 3.3(a)(1) and (a)(2) and California Business and Professions Code section 6068(d).

After service of this letter, any statement to either trial court that plaintiff’s fraud, IIED, implied-covenant, breach-of-contract, or Zhang-predicated UCL theories are barred by Moradi-Shalal, without the disclosures listed at paragraph 11 above, is inconsistent with the documented record unless framed as defendants’ contention after proper disclosure of the controlling text and gloss. A neutral, compliant framing is illustrative and available:

“Defendants acknowledge that paragraph [10] of Moradi-Shalal, as construed in Manufacturers Life and Zhang, preserves common-law fraud, IIED, and implied-covenant theories where the elements are independently met. Defendants nevertheless contend that, on the operative pleading, plaintiff has not met those elements, and request that the Court so rule on the merits of each cause of action.”

That framing does not require an inconsistent certification under section 128.7(b) and does not raise the candor concerns identified in this letter.

13. Relationship to the case-isolated safe-harbor letters and the April 25 Merits Letter.

This letter is a second, free-standing, case-collective companion to plaintiff's same-day, case-isolated safe-harbor letters in CGC-25-631801 and CGC-25-631802. It addresses a different doctrinal vector (the Moradi-Shalal common-law carve-out) than those letters (which address the JKC3H8 v. Colton / Nguyen-Lam v. Cao / leave-to-amend / anti-SLAPP candor record). Read together, the three letters, the April 25 Merits Letter (Exhibit M-1), the April 27 case-isolated safe-harbor letters, and this April 27 carve-out letter, supply the consolidated written record on which plaintiff will rely at the April 30, 2026 hearing in CGC-25-631802, the May 6, 2026 hearing in CGC-25-631801, the May 12, 2026 anti-SLAPP hearing, the May 13, 2026 demurrer / motion-to-strike hearing, and any subsequent appearance or filing.

This letter does not restart the 21-day section 128.7(c)(1) safe-harbor clock that began running on plaintiff's April 22, 2026 correspondence and that expires on May 14, 2026. It is a meet-and-confer record under Code of Civil Procedure section 430.41(a) (demurrer), section 435.5(a) (motion to strike), and the Court's inherent authority to require parties to confer in good faith on questions of controlling authority.

14. Reservation of rights.

Plaintiff expressly reserves all rights to seek any monetary, non-monetary, or referral relief permitted by law, and to submit this letter, the April 25 Merits Letter, the April 27 case-isolated safe-harbor letters, and the entire pre-filing correspondence chain as evidence in any future proceeding (including before either trial court, the Court of Appeal, or the State Bar). Nothing in this letter constitutes a waiver of any claim, defense, theory, allegation, or measure of damages stated in the operative TACs, the proposed SACs, or any subsequent operative pleading. Nothing in this letter restarts the 21-day safe-harbor clock that began running on April 22, 2026, or alters the May 14, 2026 expiration. Nothing in this letter is a sanctions motion.

Sincerely,

Franciscus Dylan Rosario
