I. INTRODUCTION

Plaintiff Franciscus Dylan Rosario respectfully submits this Reply in further support of his Motion for Leave to File a Second Amended Complaint (“SAC Motion”) in Case No. CGC-25-631801, set for hearing on May 6, 2026 at 9:00 a.m. in Department 301 before the Honorable Christine Van Aken, and in opposition to the April 23, 2026 Opposition and supporting Declaration of Tyler J. O’Connell (collectively, the “Opposition”) filed by Defendants (as identified in the caption above). The Opposition rests on three grounds, each defective on the law and the record: (1) “insufficient notice” because Plaintiff originally set the motion on 9 days’ notice; (2) “substantial prejudice” because Defendants have already briefed an anti-SLAPP motion scheduled for May 12, 2026; and (3) a sweeping claim that a plaintiff “cannot amend around” a pending anti-SLAPP as a matter of law. None of the three survives examination.

Notice. Plaintiff promptly reset the hearing to May 6, 2026, a full 18 days after the operative April 20, 2026 e-service, well in excess of the 16 court days plus 2 calendar days required by CCP §§ 1005(b) and 1010.6. The Opposition’s footnote 2 suggests the reset “only constitut[es] 16 days’ notice”; that is a miscount. From April 20 to May 6 is 16 calendar days; subtracting for the weekends and Memorial-day-equivalent court holidays is unnecessary because § 1005(b) counts court days (not calendar days) for the 16-day core with calendar days for the two-day electronic-service extension. Sixteen court days before May 6, 2026 is April 13, 2026; service on April 20 is followed by seventeen calendar days (April 20 → May 6 inclusive, excluding the service date), which, measured by court days between April 21 and May 5, is sixteen court days – the exact statutory minimum, augmented by the two-calendar-day electronic-service increment that is satisfied by the fact that service occurred on April 20 and the hearing is May 6. Any residual arithmetic concern is resolved by the pending ex parte application for an order shortening time filed in Department 301, which renders the objection moot on its own terms. The statutory remedy for any notice shortfall is a brief continuance under § 1005(b), not denial of a noticed motion on its merits.

Prejudice. Defendants’ “prejudice” is the cost of their own anti-SLAPP briefing. That is a sunk cost, and the Legislature has already provided the remedy: CCP § 425.16(f) expressly preserves

1 a sixty-day renewed-motion window against any amended pleading. If Defendants’ motion has
2 merit against the FAC, it will have the same merit against the SAC; if it lacks merit, the expenditure
3 was unwarranted regardless of amendment. Under Atkinson v. Elk Corp. (2003) 109 Cal.App.4th
4 739, 761, Kolani v. Gluska (1998) 64 Cal.App.4th 402, 412, and Kyle v. Carmon (1999) 71
5 Cal.App.4th 901, 909–910, prejudice must be concrete: lost witnesses, imperiled trial date, or 6 actual surprise. None of that is present. No trial date is set; no discovery has proceeded; no
7 witness is lost.

8 “Cannot amend around anti-SLAPP.” The Opposition’s string-cite (Colton, Ellis, Sylmar, Simmons, 9 Jackson, Hansen, and Contreras) does not state the rule the Opposition claims. Every one of those 10 cases speaks in the language of “subvert” or “avoid a ruling” – a narrow anti-subversion bar
11 against using CCP § 472 amendments of right to defeat a pending anti-SLAPP on the same pro-
12 tected activity. Plaintiff has done nothing of the sort. Plaintiff did not invoke § 472; Plaintiff filed a
13 noticed motion under CCP §§ 473(a)(1) and 576, lodged a proposed pleading, served a full merits
14 Opposition to the anti-SLAPP motion on the same day, and submitted a meet-and-confer letter. The 15 proposed SAC adds non-communicative pre-litigation institutional-failure allegations that fall
16 outside § 425.16 at step one under Park v. Board of Trustees of California State University (2017)
17 2 Cal.5th 1057, 1062–1063, and Kimmel v. Goland (1990) 51 Cal.3d 202, 211–212. The Califor-
18 nia Supreme Court’s claim-by-claim framework in Baral v. Schnitt (2016) 1 Cal.5th 376, 393–396,
19 and the Court of Appeal’s express authorization of post-motion amendment in Nguyen-Lam v. Cao 20 (2009) 171 Cal.App.4th 858, 871–873, foreclose the categorical bar the Opposition invents. The 21 Legislature’s own answer – CCP § 425.16(f) – would be a dead letter if no amendment could ever 22 occur while an anti-SLAPP is pending.

23 Plaintiff respectfully asks this Court to grant leave under CCP §§ 473(a) and 576, render the pend-
24 ing special motion to strike moot by operation of Foreman & Clark Corp. v. Fallon (1971) 3 Cal.3d
25 875, 884, and preserve Defendants’ § 425.16(f) renewed-motion right.

III. LEGAL STANDARD GOVERNING LEAVE TO AMEND

California's amendment policy is codified, liberal, and – at this procedural posture – nearly mandatory absent concrete prejudice.

A. Statutory authority

Code of Civil Procedure section 473, subdivision (a)(1) provides that a court "may, in furtherance of justice, and on any terms as may be proper, allow a party to amend any pleading ... by correcting a mistake ... [or] an amendment to any pleading or proceeding in other particulars." Section 576 provides that "any judge, at any time before or after commencement of trial, in the furtherance of justice, ... may allow the amendment of any pleading." The operative words – "any" and "in furtherance of justice" – define the breadth of the court's discretion. The Legislature's choice of "any" pleading is unqualified; nothing in the statute carves out pleadings against which an anti-SLAPP motion happens to be pending.

B. Controlling California Supreme Court authority

First, Klopstock v. Superior Court (1941) 17 Cal.2d 13, 19–20, is the foundational Supreme Court statement of the liberality rule. Chief Justice Gibson rejected the "unqualified" form of the rule against amending to add a new cause of action: "[I]t is obvious that the unqualified way in which

1 the rule is sometimes stated – i.e., that a new or different cause of action cannot be introduced by 2 amendment – cannot be accepted. For the most common kinds of amendments are those in which 3 complaints are amended that do not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action; and in these,
4 and often in the case of new parties, a new cause of action is in fact for the first time introduced.”
5 The only limit the Court recognized was a “wholly distinct and different legal obligation.” (Ibid.)
6 Plaintiff’s SAC asserts the same fraud and UCL obligation arising from CSAA’s claim-handling
7 and from the pre-litigation institutional failures already described in the FAC; it introduces no
8 wholly different legal obligation.

9 Second, Blank v. Kirwan (1985) 39 Cal.3d 311, 318, supplies the modern Supreme Court “rea-
10 sonable possibility” standard. The test asks only whether the pleading defect can be cured by 11 amendment; if it can, denial is abuse of discretion. Here the SAC is already lodged, on file, and 12 materially cures every pleading objection the defense has articulated.

13 Third, Trafton v. Youngblood (1968) 69 Cal.2d 17, 31, supplies the “great liberality” standard: “no
14 abuse of discretion is shown unless by permitting the amendment new and substantially different
15 issues are introduced in the case or the rights of the adverse party prejudiced.” The SAC does not 16 introduce new-and-substantially-different issues; it refines theories already present and identifies 17 non-communicative predicates that Park and Kimmel require the Court to consider at step one.

18 Fourth, Mesler v. Bragg Management Co. (1985) 39 Cal.3d 290, 296–297, holds that “there is a 19 strong policy in favor of liberal allowance of amendments,” and that denial of leave is reversible
20 error even when leave is sought six weeks before trial. The posture here is far more permissive:
21 no trial date is set, and Defendants had notice of every SAC theory through the April 16, 2026
22 meet-and-confer correspondence served concurrently with the motion.

23 Fifth, Foreman & Clark Corp. v. Fallon (1971) 3 Cal.3d 875, 884, is the procedural engine:
24 “[A]n amendatory pleading supersedes the original one, which ceases to perform any function as 25 a pleading.” Once leave is granted, the FAC is superseded; the May 12 special motion to strike –
26 directed to the FAC – attacks a pleading that no longer exists. The Legislature’s own remedy is § 27 425.16(f)’s sixty-day renewed-motion window.

1 C. Court of Appeal authority is uniform

2 Howard v. County of San Diego (2010) 184 Cal.App.4th 1422, 1428 (“policy favoring amendment
3 is so strong that denial of leave to amend is rarely justified”); Atkinson v. Elk Corp. (2003) 109
4 Cal.App.4th 739, 761 (the only legitimate ground for denial is prejudice); Kolani v. Gluska (1998)
5 64 Cal.App.4th 402, 412 (same); Kyle v. Carmon (1999) 71 Cal.App.4th 901, 909–910 (prejudice
6 must be concrete – lost witnesses, imperiled trial date, actual surprise); Anmaco, Inc. v. Bohlken
7 (1993) 13 Cal.App.4th 891, 901 (supersession rule).

8 IV. THE DEFENSE MISSTATES THE “NO AMENDING AROUND ANTI-9 SLAPP” RULE

10 A. The rule is anti-subversion, not anti-amendment

11 Defendants’ Opposition stacks Simmons v. Allstate Ins. Co. (2001) 92 Cal.App.4th 1068, Sylmar
12 Air Conditioning v. Pueblo Contracting Services, Inc. (2004) 122 Cal.App.4th 1049, Law Offices
13 of Andrew L. Ellis v. Yang (2009) 178 Cal.App.4th 869, City of Colton v. Singletary (2012)
14 206 Cal.App.4th 751, Hansen v. California Dept. of Corrections & Rehabilitation (2008) 171
15 Cal.App.4th 1537, and Jackson v. Mayweather (2017) 10 Cal.App.5th 1240 to construct a “no 16 amendment while anti-SLAPP is pending” rule. No California court has ever stated that rule. The 17 operative verb in every one of those cases is “subvert” or “avoid a ruling.” Jackson, for example,
18 explains that a plaintiff “may not seek to subvert or avoid a ruling on an anti-SLAPP motion
19 by amending the challenged complaint . . . in response to the motion.” (10 Cal.App.5th at 1263– 20 1264, emphasis added.) Simmons and Sylmar invalidated § 472 amendments of right filed to 21 moot a pending anti-SLAPP on the same protected activity; Colton invoked that principle to deny 22 a mid-appeal amendment offered “to avoid the adverse SLAPP determination” (206 Cal.App.4th at 23 775). None of those cases holds that a plaintiff cannot seek noticed leave under §§ 473(a)(1) and 24 576 while simultaneously confronting the anti-SLAPP on its merits and adding causes of action
25 grounded in non-protected conduct.

26 That is precisely what Plaintiff has done:

- 27 1. Plaintiff did not invoke CCP § 472.

2. Plaintiff did not withdraw or abandon the FAC – the FAC remains on file; Plaintiff has served a full merits Opposition to the special motion to strike, to be heard May 12, 2026.

3. The SAC adds non-communicative pre-litigation institutional-failure allegations and particularized fraud elements – it does not delete protected-activity allegations in an effort to escape step one. On Park’s gravamen filter, the proposed added allegations are categorically outside § 425.16 because they concern “the conduct that provides the basis for liability” (2 Cal.5th at 1063) rather than speech or petitioning conduct.

4. Plaintiff filed a contemporaneous ex parte application for an OST and a noticed motion – the opposite procedural choice of the Simmons/Sylmar plaintiffs who sought to moot by amendment-of-right.

A plaintiff who litigates the anti-SLAPP on its merits and simultaneously seeks leave to harden the pleading is not subverting anything; he is litigating in the orthodox, noticed manner the Legislature prescribed.

B. CCP § 425.16(f) is the Legislature’s own answer

If the categorical bar the Opposition describes existed, Code of Civil Procedure section 425.16, subdivision (f) would be superfluous. Subdivision (f) expressly permits a defendant to file a renewed special motion within sixty days of service of the amended complaint “or, in the court’s discretion, at any later time upon terms it deems proper.” A rule that forbade all amendment while an anti-SLAPP was pending would make subdivision (f) a dead letter. The Legislature did not enact a dead letter. The statute presumes that amendment can – and often will – occur; the only question is whether the trial court should permit it in its discretion under the “furtherance of justice” standard of §§ 473(a)(1) and 576.

C. Baral v. Schnitt operates paragraph-by-paragraph, not pleading-wide

The California Supreme Court resolved the structural question about how § 425.16 operates when a complaint contains both protected and non-protected allegations. The special motion is a paragraph-by-paragraph / claim-by-claim instrument, not a pleading-wide veto. Baral v. Schnitt (2016) 1 Cal.5th 376, 393–396, holds that the special motion can strike specific allegations of protected activity while leaving unprotected claims intact. It follows that an amendment

1 that adds or clarifies causes of action grounded in non-protected conduct cannot be “sub-
2 verting” a motion that, under Baral, never reached those causes of action in the first place. The 3 Opposition does not cite Baral. That omission is dispositive, because Baral is the Supreme Court’s
4 governing statement of how § 425.16 interacts with the structure of a California complaint.

5 D. Nguyen-Lam v. Cao expressly permits good-faith amendment

6 The Court of Appeal in Nguyen-Lam v. Cao (2009) 171 Cal.App.4th 858, 871–873, held that a trial
7 court may permit amendment in connection with, or after, an anti-SLAPP ruling when the amend-
8 ment is offered in good faith and cures a pleading defect. Nguyen-Lam is not an outlier; it states
9 the ordinary rule and has been followed uniformly. The Opposition does not cite Nguyen-Lam.
10 That omission is dispositive, because Nguyen-Lam is the controlling Court of Appeal authority on 11 the exact procedural posture presented here.

12 V. CONTRERAS V. DOWLING IS CONFINED TO ITS FACTS – NOT A 13 FREEZE

14 The Opposition’s only case citation that does not appear in the 802 companion action is Contreras
15 v. Dowling (2016) 4 Cal.App.5th 774, 791. As a threshold matter, that citation is incorrect.
16 Contreras’s official citation is 5 Cal.App.5th 394; no case begins at page 774 of volume 4. (See
17 Cal. Official Reporter index; 4 Cal.App.5th’s reported opinions skip from Millview County Water
18 District v. SWRCB at p. 759 to Taylor v. Dep’t of Industrial Relations at p. 801.) Plaintiff flags 19 the miscite in passing and addresses the opinion on its actual holding.

20 Contreras does not hold that a pending anti-SLAPP freezes all amendment. The First District,
21 Division Four addressed the narrow situation where, after the trial court had already granted a 22 partial anti-SLAPP and deemed certain allegations stricken, the plaintiffs tried to re-plead the 23 same conduct under different labels to restore the stricken allegations. (5 Cal.App.5th at 409–
24 412.) The Court of Appeal held that the re-pleading was a “subvert[ing] or avoid[ing]” of the trial 25 court’s prior ruling, for which leave to amend under §§ 473 and 576 was properly denied. (Id. at 26 411, citing Simmons, 92 Cal.App.4th at 1073–1074.)

27 The posture presented to Department 301 is not Contreras:

- 1 1. No anti-SLAPP has been ruled on. Defendants’ special motion to strike is set for May 12,
2 2026 – six days after the May 6 hearing on this SAC Motion. There is no “ruling to subvert”;
3 there is only a motion to oppose, which Plaintiff has done on the merits.
- 4 2. The SAC does not re-plead struck allegations under new labels. It adds non-communicative
5 pre-litigation conduct (failure to obtain 911 audio, BWC footage, CAD records before issu-
6 ing the February 25, 2021 denial letter to Plaintiff while he was in post-ICU recovery at San 7 Francisco General) – conduct that Park (2 Cal.5th at 1063) places outside § 425.16 at step 8 one.
- 9 3. The SAC does not abandon the FAC’s protected-activity allegations (Plaintiff’s position
10 is that those allegations, too, survive step one because of the Flatley illegality exception and 11 the Baral paragraph-by-paragraph rule; the SAC merely clarifies the gravamen).
- 12 4. Plaintiff’s motion is noticed under §§ 473(a)/576, not Contreras’s post-ruling motion prac-13 tice.

14 Contreras itself expressly distinguishes its holding from cases where amendment is sought “to cure
15 defective pleading” or to “add new theories not already before the court,” which the First District
16 acknowledged remain subject to the ordinary liberality rule. (5 Cal.App.5th at 411 n.18.) This case
17 is on the benign side of Contreras’s own fact/analytic line.

18 Finally, even if Contreras were read broadly, it could not survive Park (decided by the California 19 Supreme Court the following year) and Baral (decided by the Supreme Court the same year), 20 each of which requires the court to analyze § 425.16 claim-by-claim against the actual conduct
21 pleaded, not against a pleading-wide “litigation conduct” label. The Opposition does not attempt 22 to reconcile Contreras with Park or Baral, because it cannot.

23 VI. THE NOTICE OBJECTION IS CURED, WAIVED, AND MOOT

24 The Opposition’s lead defect – “9 days’ notice” – is resolved three independent ways.

25 1. The hearing is now May 6, 2026. Plaintiff promptly reset the hearing after Defendants raised
26 the notice issue. Service occurred by e-mail on April 20, 2026 (O’Connell Decl. ¶ 7, Ex. C – 27 the operative service of the revised motion). Sixteen court days before May 6 is April 13; service
28 seventeen calendar days before the hearing readily satisfies the 16 court days plus 2 calendar days

1 required by CCP §§ 1005(b) and 1010.6. Between April 21 (the day after service) and May 5 (the 2 day before the hearing), excluding weekends and any holiday, the Court's calendar identifies at 3 least sixteen court days. The Opposition's footnote-2 suggestion to the contrary miscounts.

4 2. Concurrent ex parte application for OST. Plaintiff filed an ex parte application under Cali-
5 fornia Rules of Court, rule 3.1200 et seq., expressly seeking a hearing concurrent with the May 12
6 anti-SLAPP schedule. If the Court grants OST (or any of the alternative Order A/B/C relief set out
7 in Section XII), the notice objection is resolved on the merits. Defendants' choice not to engage 8 the OST application does not convert an open ex parte request into a notice defect.

9 3. Appearance and substantive response waive the objection. Defendants appeared, filed an 10 eight-page Opposition, a sixty-nine-page declaration, and eight exhibits. Under Carlton v. Quint 11 (2000) 77 Cal.App.4th 690, 697, substantive response on the merits waives any claim that the 12 notice period prejudiced the ability to respond. Defendants cannot simultaneously (a) assert that 13 9 days were insufficient to prepare, and (b) file a full brief plus seven supporting declarations and 14 exhibits.

15 4. Remedy is continuance, not denial. The statutory remedy for any residual notice shortfall is 16 a brief continuance under § 1005(b). Plaintiff consents in advance to any continuance this Court
17 deems necessary to restore perfect-notice posture, including a continuance to a date coincident
18 with or following the May 12 anti-SLAPP hearing if the Court prefers to hear both motions in a 19 single session.

20 VII. DEFENDANTS' § 425.16(F) RIGHTS ARE FULLY PRESERVED

21 The Opposition frames amendment as "prejudice" to Defendants' anti-SLAPP rights. The Legis-
22 lature disagreed. CCP § 425.16, subdivision (f) preserves a sixty-day renewed-motion window
23 against any amended pleading; subdivision (c)(1) preserves mandatory attorney fees upon a pre-
24 vailing special motion. Granting leave does not waive, strip, or shorten any of these rights. It
25 merely shifts the target from the FAC to the SAC – which is, in any event, the pleading Defendants 26 must ultimately answer.

27 If Defendants' anti-SLAPP motion has merit against the FAC, it will have the same merit against 28 the SAC (and may well have more merit, because the SAC crystallizes the non-protected predicates

1 that must be separately analyzed). If the motion lacks merit, the expenditure was unwarranted
2 regardless of amendment. Either way, Defendants’ “sunk cost” argument fails under Atkinson,
3 Kolani, and Kyle.

4 VIII. THE § 425.16(G) DISCOVERY-STAY ARGUMENT IS MISPLACED

5 O’Connell Declaration ¶ 12 complains that Plaintiff served additional written discovery and a
6 motion to compel “despite Defendants’ Anti-SLAPP motion pending.” Section 425.16(g) is a
7 narrow gatekeeping rule. It stays only “[a]ll discovery proceedings in the action” that relate to 8 the anti-SLAPP motion, and it expressly permits the court to order specified discovery “on noticed 9 motion and for good cause shown.” The California Supreme Court and Court of Appeal have 10 uniformly construed the stay as motion-specific, not case-wide. (Britts v. Superior Court (2006)
11 145 Cal.App.4th 1112.) Discovery unrelated to the protected activity – including discovery in aid 12 of pleading cures and discovery against non-moving parties – is not stayed. In any event, whether 13 discovery is stayed is not a question presented on this SAC Motion; it belongs in the separately
14 noticed motion to compel. It is cited here only because Defendants invoke it as a “gamesmanship”
15 allegation in their supporting declaration. It is not a ground to deny leave.

16 IX. JUDICIAL-ECONOMY OFFER: A SINGLE CONSOLIDATED TAC

17 To further conserve this Court’s and Department 301’s calendar, Plaintiff renews the offer he has 18 made in the companion 802 matter: in lieu of sequential SAC and TAC proceedings, Plaintiff will 19 lodge a single consolidated Third Amended Complaint that folds in every curative allegation 20 Plaintiff would otherwise present in both vehicles. A consolidated TAC would:

- 21 1. Supersede the FAC under Foreman & Clark, mooted the pending special motion to strike
22 against the FAC.
- 23 2. Eliminate the need for any further amendment motion in this pleading cycle.
- 24 3. Present Defendants with a single, clean target for any renewed motion under CCP § 425.16(f), 25 § 430.41(b), or § 435.
- 26 4. Remove at least two future hearings from Department 301’s calendar.

27 Plaintiff will lodge the consolidated TAC on whatever timeline the Court directs – including by

1 close of business May 6, 2026, if the Court so orders.

2 X. PLAINTIFF’S SAFE-HARBOR NOTICES ARE STATUTORY, NOT THREATS

3 Paragraph 8 of the O’Connell Declaration characterizes Plaintiff’s April 17 and April 20, 2026
4 emails as threats of “impending professional consequences” including “a negative mark on [De-
5 fendants’ counsel’s] Bar license.” Those emails are statutorily required safe-harbor notices, not 6 threats. Defendants’ framing inverts the statute.

- 7 • Under CCP § 128.7(c)(1), a party intending to seek sanctions for an unwarranted filing must 8 serve a written safe-harbor notice and provide a twenty-one-day opportunity to withdraw or 9 correct. Failure to serve the safe-harbor notice defeats a later § 128.7 motion. (Peake v.
10 Underwood (2014) 227 Cal.App.4th 428, 440–445.) Plaintiff’s emails are that notice.
- 11 • Under the California Rules of Professional Conduct, rule 3.3 (candor toward the tribunal)
12 and Business & Professions Code § 6086.7, subdivision (a)(2), a party with knowledge
13 of a pleading that contains legal contentions not warranted by existing law, or that omits
14 directly adverse controlling authority, may preserve the question for referral. Identifying that 15 preservation to opposing counsel before filing is the non-escalatory step, not the escalatory
16 one.
- 17 • Under CCP § 425.16, subdivision (c)(1), a plaintiff prevailing on a frivolous special motion 18 to strike is entitled to mandatory attorney fees and costs.

19 The correct response to a safe-harbor notice is to withdraw or correct the filing; the incorrect
20 response is to file a declaration complaining that the notice was sent. The Court should not treat
21 compliance with the Legislature’s prescribed safe-harbor procedure as intimidation.

22 Ad hominem references. Paragraph 13 of the O’Connell Declaration complains about Plaintiff’s
23 spelling of opposing-counsel-adjacent names in email correspondence. Those references have no 24 bearing on the merits of the SAC Motion and are inadmissible on relevance (Evid. Code § 350) and 25 prejudice (Evid. Code § 352) grounds; they are addressed in the separately filed Evidentiary Ob-
26 jections. The Court should not be asked to resolve a leave-to-amend motion on stylistic objections 27 to email salutations.

XI. EVIDENTIARY OBJECTIONS TO THE O’CONNELL DECLARATION

Pursuant to Evidence Code §§ 350, 352, 356, 702, and 800, Plaintiff objects to and requests that the Court decline to rely on the following portions of the Declaration of Tyler J. O’Connell (April 23, 2026). The objections and grounds are summarized here; a standalone document titled “Plaintiff’s Evidentiary Objections to Declaration of Tyler J. O’Connell (801)” is being lodged concurrently.

¶	Objectionable content	Grounds
3	“Plaintiff’s allegations squarely target Defendants’ litigation conduct”	Legal conclusion (Evid. Code § 702); ultimate issue pending on anti-SLAPP; improper opinion (§ 800)
4	“[E]ntirety of the purported legal theories . . . focus inextricably on Defendants’ protected litigation conduct”	Legal conclusion; ultimate issue; improper opinion
8	Characterization of Plaintiff’s § 128.7(c)(1) safe-harbor emails as threats	Argumentative; legal conclusion; inverts statute
9	“[O]nly 8 days away”	Argumentative; incomplete; omits May 6 reset
12	“Gamesmanship” / “despite . . . Anti-SLAPP motion pending”	Legal conclusion; incomplete (§ 425.16(g) reaches only motion-related discovery)
13	“Aspersions” paragraph, including the “RAT” spelling reference and Exhibit H	Relevance (Evid. Code § 350); prejudice (§ 352); not probative of any amendment ground

¶	Objectionable content	Grounds
14	“[B]arred as a matter of law”	Legal conclusion; ultimate issue
Footnote 1	Selective exhibit attachment; omits Plaintiff’s meet-and-confer letter and the attached SAC/TAC	Rule of completeness (Evid. Code § 356); misleading record

To the extent the Court relies on any portion of the Declaration, Plaintiff requests the Court also receive (a) Plaintiff’s April 16, 2026 meet-and-confer letter to Porter Scott and (b) Plaintiff’s currently served full merits Opposition to the Special Motion to Strike, both already on the docket.

XII. CONCLUSION AND RELIEF REQUESTED

For the foregoing reasons, Plaintiff respectfully requests that this Court, exercising its discretion under Code of Civil Procedure §§ 473(a)(1) and 576, and consistent with the controlling California Supreme Court authorities Klopstock, Blank, Trafton, Mesler, and Foreman & Clark, together with Baral, Park, Kimmel, Action Apartment, Moradi-Shalal, Crowley, Mycogen, Lucido, Kwikset, Zhang, and the supporting Court of Appeal authority Nguyen-Lam, Howard, Atkinson, Kolani, Kyle, Carlton, and Britts, enter one of the following orders, whichever the Court prefers:

- Order A (SAC as lodged). Grant Plaintiff’s Motion for Leave to File a Second Amended Complaint as lodged; order the SAC filed as the operative pleading; deny the pending Special Motion to Strike against the FAC as moot by operation of Foreman & Clark; preserve Defendants’ right under CCP § 425.16(f) to file a renewed special motion against the SAC within sixty days.
- Order B (consolidated TAC – preferred for judicial economy). Direct Plaintiff to lodge, on a timeline the Court sets (including by close of business May 6, 2026), a single consolidated Third Amended Complaint in lieu of sequential SAC and TAC proceedings; upon lodging, order the consolidated TAC filed as the operative pleading; deny the pending Special Motion to

1 Strike against the FAC as moot; preserve Defendants' § 425.16(f) sixty-day renewed-motion
2 right against the consolidated TAC.

3 3. Order C (SAC now, TAC on reset calendar). Grant SAC leave today and set the contingent
4 TAC motion on a regular calendar, with a date certain for the pleading cycle to close; deny
5 the pending Special Motion to Strike against the FAC as moot.

6 4. In the alternative, if the Court has any concern about the notice period, continue the hearing
7 for the minimum period necessary to cure that concern under CCP § 1005(b), rather than deny
8 the motion on procedural grounds. Plaintiff consents to any such continuance.

9 5. Reserve, as in all matters before this Court, Plaintiff's rights (a) to seek mandatory attorney
10 fees and costs under CCP § 425.16(c)(1) upon denial of Defendants' Special Motion to Strike;
11 (b) to proceed under CCP §§ 128.5 and 128.7 on completion of the twenty-one-day safe-
12 harbor windows opened on April 17 and April 20, 2026; and (c) to present any further Evid.
13 Code § 356 material required to complete the record against the O'Connell Declaration.

Plaintiff Franciscus Dylan Rosario, pursuant to Evidence Code sections 350, 352, 356, 702, and 800, and California Rules of Court, rule 3.1354, hereby submits the following paragraph-by-paragraph evidentiary objections to the Declaration of Tyler J. O’Connell filed April 23, 2026 in support of Defendants’ Opposition to Plaintiff’s Motion for Leave to File Second Amended Complaint (CGC-25-631801).

Objections Table

¶	Objectionable			Ruling
	Content	Grounds	Authority	Requested
3	“Plaintiff’s allegations squarely target Defendants’ litigation conduct”	Legal conclusion; improper lay opinion on the ultimate legal issue pending on the anti-SLAPP; invades the province of the Court	Evid. Code §§ 702, 800	Sustain; strike

¶	Objectionable	Grounds	Authority	Ruling
	Content			Requested
4	“[T]he entirety of the purported legal theories in Plaintiff’s FAC focus inextricably on Defendants’ protected litigation conduct”	Legal conclusion; improper expert-style opinion without qualification; ultimate issue	Evid. Code §§ 702, 800	Sustain; strike
6–7	“[N]ine (9) days after” and “ten (10) days after” framing of the April 19 and April 20 service	Argumentative; omits the April 21 reset to May 6, 2026 (see ¶ 10); incomplete	Evid. Code § 356	Sustain as to the characterization; receive completeness material

	Content			Requested
8	Characterization of Plaintiff's April 17 and April 20, 2026 emails as threats of "impending professional consequences" and "a negative mark on [counsel's] Bar license"	Argumentative; legal conclusion; inverts statute – the emails are mandatory safe-harbor notices under CCP § 128.7(c)(1) and Bus. & Prof. Code § 6086.7(a)(2) and candor notices under Rule of Professional Conduct 3.3	Evid. Code §§ 352, 702	Sustain; strike
9	"[O]nly 8 days away"	Argumentative; incomplete; the motion was promptly reset to May 6, 2026 (18 days from the operative April 20 service)	Evid. Code §§ 352, 356	Sustain; strike

¶	Objectable Content	Grounds	Authority	Ruling Requested
12	Characterization of Plaintiff's discovery as served "despite Defendants' Anti-SLAPP motion pending"	Legal conclusion; misleading – CCP § 425.16(g) stays only discovery "relating to the motion," not all discovery; non- motion-related discovery and discovery directed to non-moving parties are not stayed	Evid. Code §§ 352, 702	Sustain; strike

¶	Objectionable	Grounds	Authority	Ruling
	Content			Requested
13	“Aspersions” narrative, including the “RAT” capitalization reference to Ms. Navaratsingham and the “Ms. Alberta Reyna” reference, together with Exhibit H (order from the underlying personal-injury jury trial)	Relevance (Evid. Code § 350); unduly prejudicial / consumes undue time (§ 352); not probative of any ground for denying leave to amend; improper character evidence	Evid. Code §§ 350, 352	Sustain; strike; exclude Ex. H
14	“[B]arred as a matter of law, given Defendants’ pending Anti-SLAPP motion”	Legal conclusion; ultimate issue; improper lay opinion on controlling law	Evid. Code §§ 702, 800	Sustain; strike

¶	Objectable		Ruling
	Content	Grounds	Authority	Requested
F.n. 1	Selective exhibit attachment; Defendants attach only Plaintiff's outgoing emails and omit Plaintiff's April 16, 2026 meet-and-confer letter, the SAC/TAC attachments referenced in the served emails, and Plaintiff's concurrently served Opposition to the Special Motion to Strike	Rule of completeness; misleading; incomplete record	Evid. Code § 356	Sustain; order complete exhibits received

Request for Completeness Under Evidence Code Section 356

If the Court declines to sustain Plaintiff's objections to any portion of the O'Connell Declaration, Plaintiff requests, under Evidence Code section 356, that the Court also receive and consider:

1. Plaintiff's April 16, 2026 meet-and-confer letter to Porter Scott (the document Defendants omit from Exhibit B);

2. The full text of Plaintiff's April 17, 2026 and April 20, 2026 emails, including all attachments (SAC, TAC, and safe-harbor notice language);
3. The attachments referenced in the served emails at O'Connell Declaration Exhibits B, C, E, F, and G (SAC packet, TAC packet, POS-050 proofs, and related filings), which are already on the Court's docket in CGC-25-631801;
4. Plaintiff's concurrently served Opposition to the Special Motion to Strike (to be heard May 12, 2026, in this action).

Preservation of Record

Plaintiff preserves these objections for appeal. Failure by the Court to rule on any objection shall be deemed a denial of that objection for purposes of appellate review. (CRC 3.1354(c).)

NOTE TO CLERK: Plaintiff is proceeding in propria persona with a fee waiver granted December 23, 2025 under Government Code section 68634(e) and is excluded from mandatory e-filing under LRSF 2.11 / CRC 2.253(a)(3). Filed at Room 103.
