I. PRELIMINARY STATEMENT AND NATURE OF THE ACTION

§I.A — Synopsis for the Court

This case is about a fraud on the integrity of the judicial process. At the heart of this action is a sequence of events where defense counsel, acting as officers of the court, procured a series of structural rulings against Plaintiff by representing that they had never received critical evidence—representations that the record now proves were false.

Record sequence relevant to this action 1. The Court’s articulated reliance on defense representations (Hr’g Tr. Feb. 28, 2025, pp. 291:26–292:7): > “I’m not going to question a lawyer’s remarks regarding what they have and don’t have. They are an officer of the Court, and they are supposed to conduct themselves appropriately before the Court. If they are not, there are other sanctions that they could suffer here. So far I haven’t heard or seen anything on the part of the current law firm which tells me that they have conducted themselves improperly.”

2. Related pretrial and trial rulings (January–April 2025): The certified record reflects the following rulings and orders (among others) occurring in the same general timeframe: * MIL No. 1 denied (Jan. 27, p. 41:3–11). * 911 CDs excluded (Jan. 27, p. 38:22–25). * 911 transcripts (Jan. 27, p. 39:18–24). * Continuance denied (Feb. 18, p. 181). * Section 473 “surprise” request (Feb. 18, p. 181:20–25). * Burden allocation ruling (Feb. 28, p. 293:1–3). * Supplemental report (RT 7, p. 156:24–28).

3. Subsequent representation on the record regarding provenance (RT 7, Apr. 16, 2025, p. 213, ll. 13–15): > “Sure. They were provided by Dolan. He has had them for whatever, sure.”

1. This is an independent action in equity to set aside a judgment procured by extrinsic fraud, coupled with fraud-based tort claims (including constructive fraud under Civ. Code § 1573), a statutory claim for attorney deceit, and principal liability theories pleaded in the alternative where overlapping conduct supports more than one count. This action does not seek appellate review of trial rulings. It seeks vacatur of a judgment obtained through a years-long pattern of silence, acquiescence, institutional file-transfer concealment, and court-facing misrepresentations that deprived Plaintiff of his right to a fair adversary hearing.

1 2. The core theory of this action rests on a two-phase “Lullaby” deception:

- 2 • Phase One (Out-of-Court Lulling, Aug 2022 – May 2023): Prior defense counsel
3 received the 911 audio (which contains both Abdelhalim’s admissions and the opera-
4 tor’s “you hit a pedestrian / yeah” exchange), body-worn camera footage, and CAD logs
5 during discovery in August–September 2022. Michael R. Chambers appeared for the de-
6 fense at plaintiff Franciscus Rosario’s August 18, 2022 deposition; Jeremy Jessup later
7 testified under oath that those materials were produced to defense counsel and served in
8 discovery, including in connection with Mr. Rosario’s deposition (Hearing Tr. Feb. 18, 9 2025, pp. 139–140). At defendant Subhi Abdelhalim’s September 30, 2022 deposition,
10 Chambers was again present; Abdelhalim gave sworn testimony about placing the 911
11 call. Marked deposition exhibits were images. No motion to compel, no meet-and-confer
12 letter, and no discovery challenge was ever raised regarding authenticity or provenance
13 during the 883 days between initial service and the January 17, 2025 motions in limine.
14 • Phase Two (Court-Facing Reversal, Jan 2025 – Apr 2025): After Plaintiff’s procedu-
15 ral windows to authenticate, subpoena foundation witnesses, or sequence evidence had 16 closed, successor counsel filed Motions in Limine 6 and 17 asserting the materials were
17 “not produced in discovery” and of “unknown provenance.” At the February 18, 2025
18 hearing, defense counsel stated the 911 call was “news to me.” The tribunal accepted
19 these representations without verification, denied Plaintiff’s continuance request, and is-
20 sued evidentiary rulings that excluded critical evidence and foreclosed Plaintiff’s ability 21 to fully present his case.

22 3. On April 16, 2025 (Trial Day 7), defense counsel Navaratnasingham stated on the certified
23 record: “Sure. They were provided by Dolan. He has had them for whatever, sure.” (RT
24 7, p. 213, ll. 13–15.) This admission—that the materials came from Plaintiff’s prior coun-
25 sel during discovery—is irreconcilable with her prior representations. It is the operational 26 linchpin of the fraud claim.

27 4. The injury-producing acts are: (a) Defendants’ years-long silence and acquiescence regard-
28 ing materials they received in discovery, addressed in sworn deposition course without timely

1 written authenticity challenge, and transmitted without objection; (b) the May 4, 2023 in-
2 stitutional file transfer from Chambers/Carbone Smith & Koyama to successor counsel PSA
3 without conveying the production history; (c) court-facing misrepresentations that induced
4 the tribunal to deny continuances, grant exclusionary motions in limine, and limit Plaintiff's
5 evidentiary presentation at a liability-only trial.

- 6 5. Plaintiff does not seek to relitigate the underlying negligence verdict. Plaintiff does not chal-
7 lenge the jury's weighing of evidence. Plaintiff challenges the procurement of the judgment
8 through extrinsic means—conduct that operated outside the trial itself to deny Plaintiff a fair
9 adversary hearing.

11 II. PARTIES, AGENCY, AND CAPACITIES

- 12 6. Plaintiff FRANCISCUS DYLAN ROSARIO is an individual residing in Rohnert Park, Sonoma
13 County, California. The underlying collision and litigation arose in San Francisco County,
14 which establishes proper venue under CCP § 395

- 15 7. Defendant CSAA INSURANCE EXCHANGE is a California interinsurance exchange with 16 its principal place of business at 3055 Oak Road, Mailstop W280, Walnut Creek, California
17 94597. CSAA was the liability insurer for defendant Subhi Abdelhalim in the underlying 18 action CGC-21-594102 and, as institutional principal, retained, funded, directed, and ratified
19 the conduct of defense counsel throughout that proceeding. CSAA is sued as institutional
20 principal under Civ. Code §§ 2307, 2310, and 2338, and under the Doctors' Company v.
21 Superior Court (1989) 49 Cal.3d 39 aiding-and-abetting framework for insurers acting outside 22 the normal insurer role.

- 23 8. Defendant CARBONE, SMITH & KOYAMA, LLP (hereinafter "CSK") is a California lim-
24 ited liability partnership with offices at 555 12th Street, Suite 1250, Oakland, California
25 94607-4095. CSK served as defense counsel in CGC-21-594102 from approximately Septem-
26 ber 2021 through May 4, 2023, and had custody of the defense file—including discovery
27 responses, deposition transcripts, and the 911/BWC/CAD materials—during that period.

- 28 9. Defendant MICHAEL R. CHAMBERS (State Bar No. 132394) is an individual attorney licensed to practice law in California and associated with CSK during the relevant period. Chambers personally handled the defense of CGC-21-594102 from August 2022 through the May 4, 2023 substitution and had personal knowledge of the materials received during discovery and depositions. Chambers is sued for his personal conduct in connection with the file transfer and for specific out-of-court representations to Plaintiff—not for trial advocacy.

10. Defendant PHILLIPS, SPALLAS & ANGSTADT, LLP (hereinafter “PSA”) is a California limited liability partnership with offices at 560 Mission Street, Suite 1010, San Francisco, California 94105. PSA substituted in as defense counsel on May 4, 2023, pursuant to the Substitution of Attorney (Transaction ID #69953800), and represented defendant Abdelhalim through trial.

11. Defendant PRIYA D. NAVARATNASINGHAM (State Bar No. 252686) is an individual attorney licensed to practice law in California and associated with PSA. Navaratnasingham signed and filed Motions in Limine Nos. 1–19 on January 17, 2025; made the “news to me” representations at the February 18, 2025 hearing; and made the “provided by Dolan” admission on April 16, 2025. Navaratnasingham is sued in her individual capacity for conduct constituting attorney deceit under Bus. & Prof. Code § 6128(a).

12. Defendant ALBERTO REYNA (State Bar No. 347323) is an individual attorney licensed to practice law in California and associated with PSA. Reyna issued a Complex subpoena (Order No. CA1147102-021) to SFPD on February 1, 2024, seeking the identical 911/BWC/CAD materials that were later portrayed as “unknown” or “not received,” and made representations at trial on April 16, 2025 that the supplemental police report was “not anything that we received as part of the subpoena.” Reyna is sued in his individual capacity for conduct constituting attorney deceit under Bus. & Prof. Code § 6128(a).

13. Defendants DOES 1–20 are persons or entities whose true names and capacities are unknown to Plaintiff. Plaintiff will amend this complaint to state the true names and capacities when ascertained.

14. Capacity Disclaimer: No defendant is sued for representations made to the tribunal at trial. The conduct on which this action rests is pre-adjudicative and extrinsic to the trial record.

1 Service addresses for individual attorneys: Defendants Chambers, Navaratnasingham, and
2 Reyna are sued in their individual capacities at the principal places of business stated in Para-
3 graphs 8–10 (Chambers/CSK: 555 12th Street, Oakland; PSA counsel: 560 Mission Street,
4 San Francisco), consistent with service at a party’s usual place of business under Code of
5 Civil Procedure § 415.10 does not currently possess personal residence addresses for these 6 individuals; venue remains proper in San Francisco County, and Plaintiff will amend with 7 residence addresses if required after reasonable inquiry.

9 III. JURISDICTION AND VENUE (EQUITY, NOT APPEAL)

- 10 15. This Court has original equity jurisdiction over this independent action to set aside a judg-
11 ment procured by extrinsic fraud. Kougasian v. TMSL, Inc. (2004) 118 Cal.App.4th 1028,
12 1034–1036; Olivera v. Grace (1942) 19 Cal.2d 570, 575–576. On demurrer, the Court must 13 accept as true all well-pleaded factual allegations and resolve all reasonable inferences in 14 Plaintiff’s favor. ABF Capital Corp. v. Berglass (2005) 130 Cal.App.4th 825, 833; Blank v.
15 Kirwan (1985) 39 Cal.3d 311, 318; Aubry v. Tri-City Hosp. Dist. (1992) 2 Cal.4th 962, 967;
16 Committee on Children’s Television v. General Foods Corp. (1983) 35 Cal.3d 197, 213 (no 17 “speaking demurrer”).
- 18 16. This is not an appeal. CCP § 904.1 a routing statute for appeals; it does not confer merits
19 immunity on fraud in the procurement of a judgment. The trial court possesses inherent 20 equity jurisdiction to entertain an independent action regardless of any pending or completed
21 appellate proceedings.
- 22 17. CCP § 473(b) is inapplicable because this is an independent equitable action, not a motion
23 for relief in the underlying case. The six-month limitation in § 473(b) does not govern inde-
24 pendent equity actions, which accrue on discovery of the fraud. Kougasian, 118 Cal.App.4th 25 at 1034.
- 26 18. Venue is proper in San Francisco County because the underlying action arose here and one or 27 more Defendants maintain offices or transact business here.

IV. FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

IV.A — The Underlying Action and What It Adjudicated

19. On or about February 4, 2021, Plaintiff was injured in a motor vehicle collision in San Francisco involving defendant Subhi Abdelhalim.
20. Plaintiff filed a personal injury action styled Rosario v. Abdelhalim, Case No. CGC-21-594102, in the Superior Court of California, County of San Francisco.
21. Trial was held before the Garrett L. Wong in Department 504 in April 2025. On April 25, 2025, the jury returned a 9–3 defense verdict on liability. Judgment was entered on April 25, 2025, and Notice of Entry of Judgment was filed April 29, 2025. Because liability was resolved against Plaintiff, no damages judgment was entered in Plaintiff’s favor. The defense thereafter pursued costs, including by filing a Memorandum of Costs and Disbursements on or about April 30, 2025 asserting $76,308.90 in total costs, and obtaining an order on memorandum of costs on August 8, 2025, in CGC-21-594102. On information and belief, any writ of execution, abstract of judgment, wage garnishment, bank levy, or similar enforcement filing would appear on the register of actions for CGC-21-594102; Plaintiff has not identified such a filing in the materials reviewed to date while preparing this complaint and will amend if ascertained.
22. The underlying negligence trial adjudicated whether defendant Abdelhalim was negligent in the operation of his vehicle and whether that negligence proximately caused injury to Plaintiff. The trial was a liability-only proceeding.

IV.B — Issues Not Adjudicated in the Underlying Trial

23. The following issues—which form the gravamen of this complaint—were never presented to, litigated before, or necessarily decided by the trier of fact in the underlying action:
- (a) Whether the production history of the 911 audio, body-worn camera footage, and CAD records was concealed from successor counsel during the May 4, 2023 file transfer;
 - (b) Whether prior defense counsel’s out-of-court positions regarding authenticity of these materials were consistent with their internal records;
 - (c) Whether CSAA directed or ratified the file-transfer concealment and the subsequent court-

facing misrepresentations;

(d) Whether the out-of-court positions taken by prior defense counsel contradicted the later tribunal-facing positions taken by successor counsel; and

(e) Whether Plaintiff was deprived of a fair adversary hearing by extrinsic fraud operating outside the trial itself.

24. Under Crowley v. Katleman (1994) 8 Cal.4th 666 and Lucido v. Superior Court (1990) 51 Cal.3d 335, collateral estoppel requires that the identical issue was “necessarily decided” in the prior action. None of the five issues enumerated above was presented to, or necessarily decided by, the jury. The controlling formulation is that “the primary right is simply the plaintiff’s right to be free from the particular injury suffered.” Mycogen Corp. v. Monsanto Co. (2002) 28 Cal.4th 888, 904; Boeken v. Philip Morris USA, Inc. (2010) 48 Cal.4th 788, 798 (“same primary right”). The primary right vindicated in this action—the right to a fair adversary hearing free of extrinsic fraud—is not the same primary right as in the underlying negligence action.

Primary Right / Duty / Injury (Underlying Trial)	Primary Right / Duty / Injury (This Action)
Right: Freedom from negligent bodily harm from the collision. Duty: Ordinary care in operating a motor vehicle. Injury: Physical and economic harm from the collision.	Right: Freedom from a judgment procured by extrinsic fraud; right to a fair adversary hearing. Duty: Candor to the tribunal; conveyance of production history on substitution; institutional duties of principal and counsel. Injury: Deprivation of a fair adversary hearing and attendant procedural harm that did not exist and could not have been litigated in the liability-only trial.

Under Mycogen and Boeken, there is no “same primary right” match; res judicata and collateral estoppel therefore do not facially bar this complaint.

IV.C — Evidence at Issue and Production History

25. The following evidentiary items are central to this action:

- (a) 911 Audio Recording: The emergency call placed by defendant Abdelhalim immediately after the collision. The recorded content includes three critical categories: (i) Abdelhalim’s admissions (“I barely hit him with anything”; “I’m calling the 911 for him”); (ii) the operator’s direct question (“you hit a pedestrian?”) and Abdelhalim’s affirmative response (“yeah”) (RT 8, p. 112, ll. 16–22; p. 113, ll. 11–17); and (iii) Plaintiff Rosario’s own voice identifying Abdelhalim’s vehicle as the striking vehicle (“He hit me with his van.”) (RT 8, p. 34, ll. 17–25).
- (b) Body-Worn Camera Footage: Approximately five (5) videos recorded by SFPD officers responding to the collision scene. The footage includes two substantive content categories: (i) an independent eyewitness statement (Justin Rosemond) telling the responding officer that Abdelhalim’s van/truck struck the pedestrian; and (ii) Plaintiff’s own recorded statement at the scene identifying the van/truck as the striking vehicle.
- (c) CAD Logs: Computer-Aided Dispatch records documenting dispatch times and call details.
- (d) SFPD Report 210079556: The supplemental police report relating to the collision.

26. These materials were served on prior defense counsel (Chambers/CSK) by Plaintiff’s counsel (Dolan Law Firm) during discovery in August–September 2022. Specifically, the 911 audio was served on or about August 18, 2022. On information and belief, the 911 audio, body-worn camera footage, and CAD logs have been in Plaintiff’s counsel’s possession since 2021, with transmission from SFPD traced to that period. (Hearing Tr. Feb. 18, 2025, p. 139, l. 11: “We had 911 emergency services send those to you and Dolan had a copy since 2021.”) At the same hearing, Jeremy Jessup testified that the department sent links directly to defense counsel (Hearing Tr. Feb. 18, 2025, p. 145, ll. 4–18), refuting any inference that receipt was too intermediated or ambiguous to support authentication by acquiescence. Proof of service and production index: A standalone proof of service dated August 18, 2022, for the 911/BWC/CAD production may be established by judicial notice of the filed register of actions and discovery in CGC-21-594102 and by certified pretrial hearing testimony

(Jeremy Jessup, Hearing Tr. Feb. 18, 2025, pp. 139–140). The September 30, 2022 Abdelhalim deposition transcript additionally bears on Chambers’ appearances and 911-related examination (it is not offered as a substitute for a filed POS). Plaintiff will supplement this pleading with a filed POS or document-production index from the underlying court file or prior counsel’s file when obtained.

27. On September 30, 2022, defendant Abdelhalim was deposed. Defense counsel (Chambers) attended. Abdelhalim gave sworn testimony regarding placing the 911 call and related questioning; marked deposition exhibits were images.

28. On September 9, 2024, Plaintiff served CAD identifiers on successor counsel (Reyna/PSA). No objection was raised.

IV.D.0 — The Nine-Point Evidentiary Chain of Defense Receipt

The denials of receipt were not merely mistaken; they were irreconcilable with a two-year record of notice and possession:

IV.D — Phase One: Out-of-Court Lulling (Aug 2022 – May 2023)

29. During the period from August 2022 through the May 4, 2023 substitution of counsel, Defendants failed to raise any objection, challenge, or concern regarding the authenticity, provenance, or receipt of the 911 audio, body-worn camera footage, or CAD logs.

30. No motion to compel under CCP § 2031.310 was ever filed by any defense party regarding these materials.

31. No meet-and-confer letter or formal discovery objection was ever served challenging the authenticity or foundation for these materials.

32. Defense counsel’s silence during this 883-day period (from August 18, 2022 to January 17, 2025) induced Plaintiff to believe that authentication and provenance of these materials were either uncontested or already resolved. Measured to the first oral denial at the January 27, 2025 hearing—“we never received these CDs, certainly” (Hr’g Tr. Jan. 27, 2025, p. 34, ll. 1–10)—the silence window is 893 days: 893 days of silence, followed by categorical denial on Day 894.

IV.D.1 — Plaintiff’s Contemporaneous Diligence and Reliance 32A. Plaintiff exercised diligence throughout the pretrial period and preserved his objections to Defendants’ conduct contemporaneously:

- (a) September 9, 2024 Discovery Service: Plaintiff served Further Responses to Form Interrogatories (FROG) and Supplemental Responses to Special Interrogatories (SROG) on successor counsel (Reyna/PSA), explicitly identifying the SFPD CAD log and related materials. (FROG, p. 28, ll. 23–25; SROG, p. 9, ll. 9–11.) No objection or dispute was raised in response.
- (b) December 2024 Meet-and-Confer: Plaintiff reached out to defense counsel regarding the 911/BWC materials in December 2024. Defense declined to acknowledge any issue with provenance or authenticity.
- (c) January 27, 2025 Preservation: Plaintiff appeared in Department 301 and contemporaneously preserved his objection on the record: “We have two 911 records that the Defense has been trying to suppress.” (Hr’g Tr. Jan. 27, 2025, p. 19, ll. 1–5.) Plaintiff confirmed on the record that he had served the FROG/SROG references to the CAD identifiers. (Hr’g Tr. Jan. 27, 2025, p. 32, ll. 1–16.)
- (d) February 18, 2025 Preservation: Plaintiff preserved the concealment theme: “the information was completely concealed from me. I never received any access to any of the videos or 911 tapes before the moment they had sent me a motion in limine.” (Hr’g Tr. Feb. 18, 2025, p. 17.) Plaintiff stated: “I am going to continue to state it, that I’m absolutely prejudiced. This is going on the record.” (Hr’g Tr. Feb. 18, 2025, pp. 44–45.) Plaintiff characterized the defense posture: “this denial and this delay is very convenient, and you will see it as we continue to litigate this case.” (Hr’g Tr. Feb. 18, 2025, p. 166, ll. 1–9.)
- (e) January 27, 2025 “Weaponization” Objection: Plaintiff articulated the tactical use of procedure in real time: “They’re using weaponization of procedure.” (Hr’g Tr. Jan. 27, 2025, p. 42, ll. 1–8.) This contemporaneous objection puts the scienter and tactical-exploitation theory on the record at the earliest procedural opportunity.

32B. Plaintiff’s contemporaneous diligence establishes: (i) accrual under CCP § 338(d) runs from the January 17, 2025 MIL filings (the “contrary court-facing position”), not from 2021 possession; and (ii) reasonable reliance for element 3 of estoppel by silence under City of Long Beach v. Mansell (1970) 3 Cal.3d 462, 493.

33. Plaintiff is not aware of any meet-and-confer letter, email thread, or written defense communication during August 2022 through May 2023 in which Chambers or CSK affirmatively disputed the authenticity, foundation, or provenance of the 911 audio, body-worn camera footage, or CAD logs after production, after the August 18, 2022 Rosario deposition, or after the September 30, 2022 Abdelhalim deposition. The operative Phase One fact for estoppel is defense silence and non-objection in the face of receipt in discovery, sworn deposition course (Rosario and Abdelhalim), and lack of written authenticity challenge, established by the record (Jessup testimony; deposition transcripts; absence of any motion to compel or discovery objection in the 883-day window). If any such correspondence exists, Plaintiff will amend after it is identified through discovery or declaration. Incorporation (same case): Plaintiff incorporates by reference, as though fully set forth, the Pre-Trial Meet-and-Confer (Lulling and Concealment) and related exhibit-list / authentication chronology from Plaintiff’s operative First Amended Complaint previously filed in this action, Case No. CGC-25-631801—including allegations that during out-of-court meet-and-confer discussions regarding the exhibit list, the defense engaged in communications that lulled Plaintiff into believing authentication of the 911 audio and CAD records was uncontested or resolved, while the need for specific SFPD records-custodian or CAD index subpoena targets was obscured. Underlying-case M&C paper trail (form): The CT for Case No. CGC-21-594102 reflects defense meet-and-confer correspondence attached to motion practice (e.g., CT Vol. 1, p. 66, referencing a defense meet-and-confer letter and follow-up email attached to successor counsel’s declaration). That entry confirms written meet-and-confer materials exist in the underlying court file; whether any such writing affirmatively disputed authenticity of the 911/BWC/CAD for August 2022–May 2023 is a factual issue Plaintiff will prove through

1 underlying-file exhibits, deposition and hearing transcripts, and declarations from per-
2 sons with personal knowledge.

3 IV.E — The May 4, 2023 Substitution and Institutional File Transfer

4 34. On May 4, 2023, the Substitution of Attorney (Transaction ID #69953800) was filed, substi-
5 tuting PSA for Chambers/CSK as defense counsel.

6 35. On information and belief, the defense file—including pleadings, discovery responses, depo-
7 sition transcripts, and evidence—was transferred from Chambers/CSK to PSA on or about 8 May 4, 2023.

9 36. Chambers and CSK, as prior custodians of the defense file, had a duty to convey to successor
10 counsel the complete production history of all discovery materials, including the dates mate-
11 rials were received, the sources from which they were received, and any deposition testimony
12 in which those materials were used.

13 37. On information and belief, Chambers and CSK transferred the defense file to PSA without
14 conveying the production history for the 911 audio, body-worn camera footage, and CAD
15 logs—specifically, without conveying that these materials had been (a) produced by Plaintiff’s
16 counsel in August–September 2022, (b) addressed in sworn testimony at the September 30,
17 2022 Abdelhalim deposition with Chambers present (911-related examination), and (c) later
18 authenticated by Abdelhalim at trial on the merits record (April 17, 2025).

19 38. Chambers knew or should have known that without the production history, successor coun-
20 sel would be unable to accurately represent provenance to the tribunal. This constitutes 21 conscious-disregard scienter under Hobart v. Hobart Estate Co. (1945) 26 Cal.2d 412.

22 39. Under the foreseeability factors set forth in Biakanja v. Irving (1958) 49 Cal.2d 647, Cham-
23 bers and CSK owed a duty of reasonable care in undertaking the file transfer—a duty that
24 extended to successor counsel, to the tribunal, and to the opposing party.

25 IV.F — Phase Two: Court-Facing Shift (Jan–Apr 2025)

26 40. On January 17, 2025, successor counsel (Navaratnasingham/PSA) filed Motions in Limine
27 Nos. 1–19, including:

28 (a) MIL No. 6 (CT Vol. 1, pp. 149–151): Seeking to exclude evidence that was “not produced

1 in discovery.”

2 (a)(i) Plaintiff’s Contemporaneous Objection (Jan. 27, 2025): Plaintiff contemporaneously ob-
3 jected to MIL 17 on January 27, 2025 and used the word “suppress” on the record: “We have two
4 911 records that the Defense has been trying to suppress.” (Hr’g Tr. Jan. 27, 2025, p. 19, ll. 1–5.)

5 (b) MIL No. 17 (CT Vol. 1, p. 238): Asserting that “Defendant has no idea where this 911 call 6 log or audio recording came from.”

7 (b)(i) Plaintiff’s Contemporaneous Preservation (Feb. 18, 2025): Plaintiff preserved the con-
8 cealment theme in the same colloquy: “the information was completely concealed from me. I
9 never received any access to any of the videos or 911 tapes before the moment they had sent me a
10 motion in limine.” (Hr’g Tr. Feb. 18, 2025, p. 17.)

11 At the January 27, 2025 hearing, defense counsel framed these motions to the Court. (Hearing Tr.
12 Jan. 27, 2025, p. 7, ll. 10–14.)

13 (c) On January 28, 2025, one day after filing MIL Nos. 6 and 17, defense moved to dismiss
14 the underlying action under CCP § 581(d) for nonappearance. This second-day dismissal
15 attempt was filed while Plaintiff was in the Santa Clara Valley Medical Center ER, and 16 the Court remarked that dismissal would “suffer immediate reversal.” (Hearing Tr. Jan. 28, 17 2025, p. 90, ll. 17–33.)

18 (c)(i) Contextual Note: The timing of the CCP § 581(d) motion—filed the day after the MIL
19 strategy was deployed, while Plaintiff was medically incapacitated—demonstrates the defense’s
20 intent to terminate Plaintiff’s case while the authenticity/provenance attack was underway and 21 before Plaintiff could respond.

22 (d) February 3, 2025 Renewed Dismissal: On February 3, 2025, defense renewed its CCP
23 § 581(d) dismissal motion, this time under submission and conditioned on an ex parte dis-
24 closure order. The Court took the motion under submission pending compliance with the 25 disclosure condition. (Hr’g Tr. Feb. 3, 2025, p. 109, ll. 21–23; p. 116, ll. 9–16; pp. 122–124.)
26 This hearing is notable because defense maintained termination leverage across two hearings
27 during the window Plaintiff was preserving his suppression objection on the record.

28 41. These representations were made 883 days after the 911 audio was served on defense counsel

1 and 620 days after the file was transferred to successor counsel. Defense counsel denied the
2 883-day silence premise at the January 27, 2025 hearing. (Hearing Tr. Jan. 27, 2025, p. 15, 3 ll. 10–16.)

4 42. On February 18, 2025, at a pretrial hearing, Jeremy Jessup (Dolan Law Firm) testified under 5 oath that the 911 audio, body-worn camera footage, and CAD logs were “produced to de-
6 fense counsel” and “served on them in the production for discovery as well at Mr. Rosario’s
7 deposition” in August–September 2022. (Hearing Tr. Feb. 18, 2025, pp. 139–140.)

8 43. In direct response to Jessup’s testimony, Navaratnasingham stated: “our office did not receive
9 the 911 call until the day of the MSC... There was no sort of ability to verify whether that 10 was accurate or not... this is news to me.” (Hearing Tr. Feb. 18, 2025, p. 141, ll. 4–11.) The 11 Court responded: “I see. Okay.”

12 44. The Court accepted Navaratnasingham’s representation without verification and denied Plain-13 tiff’s request for a continuance.

14 44A. The Tribunal’s Articulated Reliance on Officer-of-Court Status. The tribunal’s reliance
15 on Phillips, Spallas & Angstadt’s officer-of-the-court status was expressly articulated on February
16 28, 2025, when the Court stated: “I’m not going to question a lawyer’s remarks regarding what 17 they have and don’t have.” (Hr’g Tr. Feb. 28, 2025, p. 291, ll. 26–28.) The Court continued:
18 “They are an officer of the Court, and they are supposed to conduct themselves appropriately
19 before the Court. If they are not, there are other sanctions that they could suffer here. So far I
20 haven’t heard or seen anything on the part of the current law firm which tells me that they have 21 conducted themselves improperly.” (Hr’g Tr. Feb. 28, 2025, p. 292, ll. 1–7 (Wong, J.)) This 22 statement memorializes the tribunal’s institutional reliance on defense candor — reliance that was,
23 unknown to the Court, already false by virtue of the MIL No. 6 and MIL No. 17 representations.
24 The Court’s articulated reliance is further reinforced by the February 18, 2025 hearing statement:
25 “given their representations that they’re going to provide that material.” (Hr’g Tr. Feb. 18, 2025, 26 p. 145, ll. 16–19.) Guardrail (Risk #1): This articulated reliance at the time of the ruling must be
27 juxtaposed with the April 16, 2025 admission — “They were provided by Dolan. He has had them
28 for whatever, sure.” (RT 7, p. 213, ll. 13–15) — which demonstrates the reliance was misplaced.

1 45. Bait-and-Switch Causation: Defendants executed a two-phase deception: (Phase One) out-
2 of-court silence and acquiescence during pre-trial discovery that caused Plaintiff to believe
3 authentication and provenance of the 911 audio, body-worn camera footage, and CAD logs
4 were either uncontested or already resolved; and (Phase Two) a reversal, after Plaintiff's
5 procedural windows to subpoena, authenticate, or sequence the evidence had closed, to af-
6 firmative court-facing representations that the materials were of unknown provenance or not
7 previously received. The Phase One conduct kept Plaintiff in ignorance; the Phase Two repre-
8 sentations then induced the Court to deny continuances and defer admission at a compressed
9 trial posture, depriving Plaintiff of a usable, timely presentation at a liability-only trial. Defen-
10 dants affirmatively blocked the curative path available to Plaintiff by opposing continuance 11 of the trial date while the authenticity/provenance attack was underway (Hearing Tr. Jan. 27, 12 2025, p. 55, ll. 8–19; p. 57, ll. 10–14: “we object to any continuance of the trial date. We’re 13 prepared to move forward.”). The bait-and-switch culminated in defense closing argument
14 at RT 10, pp. 49–52, telling the jury Plaintiff “changed his story to avoid a Vehicle Code 15 violation,” as judicial-estoppel and scienter evidence of how defense later weaponized the 16 evidentiary confusion that Phases One and Two had engineered. This closing argument is the 17 payoff transaction linking Phase Two conduct to the 9–3 liability verdict. (See also Paragraph 18 118(b).)

19 IV.G — Tribunal Reliance and Closed Procedural Windows

20 46. The Court made the following rulings in reliance on defense counsel’s representations:

- 21 (a) Ruling 1: Denial of continuance (Hearing Tr. Feb. 18, 2025, p. 181).
- 22 (b) Ruling 2: At the January 27, 2025 hearing, the Court denied Plaintiff’s Motion in Limine
23 No. 1 to admit the 911 materials: “plaintiff’s motion in limine to admit materials regarding 24 the 911 call, including CDs, are denied subject to ability to lay a foundation for that material.”
25 (Hr’g Tr. Jan. 27, 2025, p. 41, ll. 3–11.) The exclusion was grounded on defense counsel’s
26 affirmative “lacks foundation, not authenticated, never produced” representation moments
27 earlier (id. p. 15, ll. 10–16).
- 28 (b-1) Ruling 2A: The certified 911 CD physically presented to the Court was excluded on the same

1 basis: “evidence is excluded, unless and until you can lay a foundation for its admissibility. . . . in
2 particular applies to the compact disc. . . .” (Hr’g Tr. Jan. 27, 2025, p. 38, ll. 22–25.)

3 (c) Ruling 3: Exclusion of supplemental police report (RT 7, p. 156, ll. 24–28) after defense
4 counsel stated it was “not anything that we received as part of the subpoena.”

5 (d) Ruling 4: Deferral of 911 call admission (RT 7, pp. 163–164) after defense counsel stated he
6 was “not sure what recording” Plaintiff was referring to.

7 (e) Ruling 5: Denial of reporter read-back at the Abdelhalim impeachment moment (RT 8, 8 p. 144, ll. 3–12: “No. We are not going to do that.”).

9 (f) Ruling 6: At the January 27, 2025 hearing, the Court categorically excluded the 911 tran-
10 scripts — the written textual form of Abdelhalim’s operator admissions — in perpetuity: “the 11 so-called transcripts . . . that will never be admitted as evidence.” (Hr’g Tr. Jan. 27, 2025,
12 p. 39, ll. 18–24.) This categorical exclusion foreclosed Plaintiff’s ability to publish the op-
13 erator’s question (“you hit a pedestrian?”) and Abdelhalim’s “yeah” response to the jury in 14 textual form; only the fast-forwarded audio was heard three months later after authentication
15 by the party opponent.

16 47. Each ruling deprived Plaintiff of the ability to present critical evidence at trial. Specifically:

17 (a) Plaintiff was unable to move for a continuance to subpoena SFPD foundation witnesses,
18 notwithstanding Plaintiff’s curative continuance requests at the February 18, 2025 hearing
19 (Hearing Tr. Feb. 18, 2025, p. 147, ll. 5–10; p. 151, ll. 1–25; p. 164, ll. 14–20);

20 (b) Plaintiff was unable to authenticate the 911 audio through its chain-of-custody custodian;

21 (c) Plaintiff was unable to introduce the supplemental police report corroborating his account;

22 (d) Plaintiff was forced to testify before the 911 audio was admitted, disrupting his intended
23 evidentiary sequence;

24 (e) As reliance injury from Ruling 5, Plaintiff was deprived of a reporter read-back of Abdel-
25 halim’s impeachment confirmation (“Correct,” RT 8, p. 146, ll. 12–18), preventing the jury
26 from hearing the impeachment re-read when defense later argued in closing that Plaintiff
27 “changed his story” (RT 10, pp. 49–52);

28 (f) Plaintiff was unable to obtain timely doctor-file production before the liability trial because of defense’s protective-order posture. (Hearing Tr. Feb. 28, 2025, pp. 291–294.)

(g) The February 28, 2025 burden-shift ruling — “it’s required of you to send the documents over. Otherwise, I won’t allow them in.” (Hr’g Tr. Feb. 28, 2025, p. 293, ll. 1–3) — imposed on Plaintiff an affirmative re-production burden for materials already in defense’s possession by virtue of the Dolan transmission, as Phase Two conduct rendered defense possession a judicially-recognized unknown.

IV.G-1 — The Four-Hearing Institutional-Reliance Chain

47A. The record reveals a four-hearing pattern of tribunal reliance on institutional representations in lieu of independent verification:

Hearing	Court’s articulated reliance	Defense’s underlying misrepresentation	Exclusion/ruling produced
Jan 27, 2025	Implied reliance on “not produced / lacks foundation”	p. 15:10–16; p. 19:7–13; p. 34:1–10	MIL exclusion of 911 CDs + transcripts (p. 38:22–25; p. 39:18–24; p. 41:3–11)
Feb 18, 2025	“I see. Okay.” (p. 141:15); “given their representations” (p. 145:16–19)	“news to me” (p. 141:3–14)	Continuance denied (p. 181–182); § 473 surprise rejected (p. 181:20–25)
Feb 28, 2025	“I’m not going to question a lawyer’s remarks” (p. 291:26–28); “They are an officer of the Court” (p. 292:1–7)	Continued “we never got that” pattern (p. 290:15–p. 291:7)	Burden-shift: “otherwise, I won’t allow them in” (p. 293:1–3)

Hearing	Court's articulated reliance	Defense's underlying misrepresentation	Exclusion/ruling produced
Apr 16, 2025	Court's inference from defense authentication posture	Stacked denials RT 7 pp. 156, 162, 207–208	Exclusion of supplemental police report (RT 7, p. 156:24–28); deferral of 911 admission

IV.H — CSAA Direction, Funding, Approval, and Ratification

48. CSAA, as the liability insurer for defendant Abdelhalim, retained, funded, and operationally controlled the defense of CGC-21-594102 from inception through trial—including litigation strategy and resource allocation through Chambers/CSK and successor PSA—within the three-prong agency framework pleaded herein: (1) funding and operational control of the defense; (2) approving and directing the specific litigation positions that became the court-facing misrepresentations as to receipt and provenance of the 911/BWC/CAD materials; and (3) ratifying the May 4, 2023 file transfer and the attendant failure to convey production history to successor counsel.
49. On or about February 25, 2021—just 21 days after the collision—CSAA issued a written denial letter for claim number 1004-09-1054 under policy number CAAS100310857 (insured: Subhi Abdelhalim; date of loss: February 4, 2021), signed by Sarah Rash, identified therein as CSAA's Claims Representative (telephone 856-209-7086), concluding CSAA's investigation and denying coverage. This precipitous denial, made before any meaningful investigation could have been completed, reflects CSAA's institutional posture throughout the litigation. (Exhibit F.)
50. CSAA approved the retention of Chambers/CSK as defense counsel, approved the May 4, 2023 substitution to PSA, and continued to fund and direct the defense strategy after substitution—including positions conveyed to the tribunal through MIL practice and hear-

1 ing argument.

2 51. On information and belief, CSAA directed and approved the retention of defense counsel
3 and the May 4, 2023 substitution to successor counsel, and continued to fund the defense
4 strategy through trial. The specific terms of any panel-counsel arrangement, substitution-
5 approval correspondence, billing instructions, litigation-guideline letters, and claim-file notes
6 are within CSAA's exclusive control and will be sought in discovery. Agent swap: CSAA's
7 May 4, 2023 substitution of panel counsel from CSK to PSA did not sever the chain of 8 agency. The out-of-court lulling and the decision not to convey production history had already 9 occurred. A principal cannot launder extrinsic fraud by rotating agents mid-litigation; if 10 anything, the substitution is itself a vector by which the fraud was perpetuated. (Civ. Code
11 §§ 2307, 2310, 2338; Doctors' Company v. Superior Court (1989) 49 Cal.3d 39.)

12 52. CSAA ratified the conduct of its retained counsel by: (a) continuing to pay successor coun-
13 sel's fees after the file transfer; (b) continuing to direct or approve major strategic decisions,
14 including the motion-in-limine strategy; and (c) accepting the benefit of the resulting verdict.

15 53. Under Civ. Code § 2338, a principal is liable for the fraudulent representations of its agent
16 made within the scope of the agent's authority. Under Civ. Code §§ 2307 and 2310, a princi-
17 pal ratifies an agent's unauthorized acts by accepting the benefits of those acts with knowledge
18 of the material facts.

19 54. "CSAA acted in a capacity independent of its role as insurer—as institutional principal fund-
20 ing, directing, and ratifying specific deceptive litigation conduct." Doctors' Company v.
21 Superior Court (1989) 49 Cal.3d 39 preserves aiding-and-abetting and conspiracy claims
22 against insurers acting outside the normal insurer role.

23 54A. CSAA Institutional Absences: No CSAA representative — no claims representative, cov-
24 erage counsel, or panel-coordination attorney — appeared at any of the four pre-trial hearings
25 (January 27, 2025; January 28, 2025; February 18, 2025; February 28, 2025) at which defense
26 counsel's denials of receipt were made and challenged on the record. The certified hearing tran-
27 scripts reflect only appearances by outside panel counsel for defense (Jessup, Navaratnasingham, 28 and successor PSA attorneys). CSAA's institutional absence from these hearings — during which

1 the Court expressly articulated reliance on defense counsel’s officer-of-the-court candor (Hr’g Tr.
2 Feb. 28, 2025, pp. 291:26–292:7) — did not interrupt or correct the misrepresentations. Under
3 Civ. Code §§ 2307 and 2310, a principal’s silence in the face of an agent’s unauthorized or fraudu-
4 lent conduct, when the principal had knowledge and opportunity to correct, constitutes ratification.
5 CSAA’s claim file, panel-counsel correspondence, and litigation reports will establish whether 6 CSAA received contemporaneous hearing summaries or transcript excerpts.

7 55. Moradi-Shalal v. Fireman’s Fund (1988) 46 Cal.3d 287, 305 preserved common-law fraud
8 claims against insurers; the abrogation of Ins. Code § 790.03(h) private actions does not
9 eliminate this Court’s jurisdiction over the present claims. Zhang v. Superior Court (2013) 54
10 Cal.4th 826 corrects any misread that insurer-related immunities categorically bar the present
11 principal-liability and extrinsic-fraud theories.

12 56. Cross-reference: The related bad-faith action Rosario v. CSAA Insurance Exchange, CGC-
13 25-631802, addresses CSAA’s institutional conduct from the insurance-contract perspective.
14 The present action addresses fraud on the tribunal.

15 57. On information and belief, CSAA had not issued any reservation-of-rights letter, coverage
16 analysis letter, or coverage position letter to Plaintiff on or before February 25, 2021; Plain-
17 tiff personally received none. The absence of a reservation-of-rights sequence before the 18 February 25, 2021 denial is part of CSAA’s institutional handling of the claim and is relevant
19 to whether the claim was treated as serious investigation versus routine denial.

20 IV.I — The Navaratnasingham Admission (Trial Day 7, April 16, 2025)

21 58. On April 16, 2025 (Trial Day 7), the Court asked defense counsel about body-worn camera
22 footage on the defense exhibit list. On the same trial day, the certified reporter’s transcript
23 reflects a rhythm of Position-A denials followed by the Position-B “provided by Dolan” ad-
24 mission.

25 59. Position-A denials (RT 7): (i) p. 156, ll. 5–16: the supplemental report was “not anything
26 we received as part of the subpoena”; (ii) p. 162, ll. 4–12: “I don’t know what recording he is
27 referring to” and a dying-declaration framing (“he is here present”); (iii) p. 207, ll. 15–16: “I
28 don’t know who prepared these transcripts”; (iv) p. 207, ll. 19–21: “lacks foundation as we

1 have no idea who this person is”; (v) pp. 207–208: stacked objections on relevance and that
2 the clip would be “unduly prejudicial”; (vi) Pre-trial Jan. 27, 2025 hearing: “we really don’t
3 know who redacted these things and what — if that representation is true.” (Hr’g Tr. Jan. 27,
4 2025, p. 31, ll. 1–5.) This imputation of fabrication against Plaintiff — made while defense
5 was in possession of the originals via Dolan — is scienter evidence under Hobart v. Hobart
6 Estate Co. (1945) 26 Cal.2d 412.

7 60. Position-B admission (same day): Navaratnasingham stated: “They were provided by Dolan.
8 He has had them for whatever, sure.” (RT 7, p. 213, ll. 13–15.)

9 61. She then described having “five videos” and paring them down to “about 8 or 9 minutes” for 10 the jury.

11 62. This sequence is the same intra-hearing contradiction rhythm as Feb. 18, 2025 (Position-A 12 at p. 141 versus Position-B at p. 181), compressed into a single trial day. The admission
13 establishes that: (a) the defense had the body-worn camera footage; (b) the footage came 14 from Dolan Law Firm (the same source as the 911 audio in Jessup’s testimony); (c) the 15 defense had curated these materials for trial; and (d) Plaintiff had had them for a substantial
16 period, consistent with Jessup’s testimony.

17 63. The April 16, 2025 admission is irreconcilable with Navaratnasingham’s February 18, 2025
18 “news to me” statement and with MIL No. 17’s assertion that “Defendant has no idea where 19 this 911 call log or audio recording came from.” The admission is the operational linchpin
20 of this action. It converts the Phase One lulling into demonstrable falsity and establishes 21 scienter.

22 IV.J — Discovery of Fraud and Timeliness

23 64. Plaintiff first discovered the fraud on or about January 17, 2025, when the defense filed Mo-
24 tions in Limine Nos. 6 and 17 asserting that materials served on defense counsel in August–
25 September 2022 were “not produced in discovery” and of “unknown provenance.”

26 65. Plaintiff filed the original complaint in this action on December 23, 2025, within weeks of 27 confirming the scope of the fraud through post-trial record review. In re Marriage of Stevenot
28 (1984) 154 Cal.App.3d 1051, 1068, 1071 (accrual and diligence in the equitable fraud setting).

66. Under CCP § 338(d), the three-year statute of limitations for fraud accrues on discovery of the fraud. Plaintiff's claims are timely.

67. Independent equitable actions to set aside judgments procured by extrinsic fraud are governed by equitable principles, not by CCP § 473(b)'s six-month deadline. Kougasian v. TMSL, Inc. (2004) 118 Cal.App.4th 1028. Where out-of-court lulling contributes to a party's lack of awareness, accrual and diligence are measured from discovery of the concealed or misrepresented facts, not from entry of the underlying judgment. In re Marriage of Stevenot (1984) 154 Cal.App.3d 1051, 1068, 1071.

IV.K — Defendants' Years-Long Silence and Acquiescence

68. The chain of events establishing Defendants' estoppel by silence begins with the production of the 911 audio, body-worn camera footage, and CAD logs to prior defense counsel (Chambers/CSK) in August–September 2022. On information and belief, the 911 audio, body-worn camera footage, and CAD logs have been in Plaintiff's counsel's possession since 2021, with transmission from SFPD traced to that period. (Hearing Tr. Feb. 18, 2025, p. 139, ll. 6–11 (Jessup): "We had 911 emergency services send those to you and Dolan had a copy since 2021.") The juxtaposition is dispositive: when Navaratnasingham stated "this is news to me" at p. 141, ll. 4–11 of the same hearing, she was contradicting her own co-counsel's representation made minutes earlier on the same record. The "news to me" representation is not mistaken recollection; it is irreconcilable with the Jessup statement on the same transcript page.

69. On August 18, 2022, the 911 audio recording was served on defense counsel. This is the post-service anchor date from which the 883-day silence window in Paragraphs 32–33 and 76 is calculated (August 18, 2022 through January 17, 2025). On information and belief, a full availability window of approximately 1,400 days extends back to roughly May 2021 based on SFPD transmission and defense-side custody, including prior defense counsel who appeared in this matter before Chambers, as reflected in the same hearing testimony. (Hear-

1 ing Tr. Feb. 18, 2025, p. 139, l. 11.) The 883-day figure is preserved as the post-service
2 measure; the 1,400-day figure is pleaded as the broader availability measure, not a replace-
3 ment.

4 70. On September 30, 2022, defendant Abdelhalim was deposed. At this deposition:

- 5 (a) Defense counsel (Chambers) was present;
6 (b) Abdelhalim gave sworn testimony regarding placing the 911 call and related questioning;
7 (c) Marked deposition exhibits were images.

8 71. On May 4, 2023, the Substitution of Attorney (Transaction ID #69953800) was filed. The 9 defense file was transferred from Chambers/CSK to PSA on or about this date.

10 72. On February 1, 2024, successor counsel (Reyna/PSA) issued a Compex subpoena (Order
11 No. CA1147102-021) to the San Francisco Police Department requesting “all documents,
12 records stored in any format” relating to the collision—which would necessarily encompass
13 the 911 audio, body-worn camera footage, CAD logs, and SFPD Report 210079556.

14 73. The issuance of this subpoena constitutes affirmative evidence of defense-side knowledge that 15 these records existed and were relevant to the case. One does not subpoena records one has 16 never heard of.

17 74. On February 26, 2024, SFPD produced records in response to the Reyna subpoena, including 18 materials relating to SFPD Report 210079556.

19 75. On September 9, 2024, Plaintiff served CAD identifiers on successor counsel (Reyna). No
20 objection was raised in response to this service. Documentary Pincites: Plaintiff served
21 these CAD identifiers on Reyna in the September 9, 2024 Further Responses to Form Inter-
22 rogatories (FROG, p. 28, ll. 23–25) and Supplemental Responses to Special Interrogatories
23 (SROG, p. 9, ll. 9–11), as Plaintiff confirmed on the record at Hr’g Tr. Jan. 27, 2025, p. 32,
24 ll. 1–16. This converts the pleaded allegation from conclusory to documentary and closes the 25 circuit between discovery service, courtroom preservation, and Defendants’ 883-day silence.

26 76. On January 17, 2025—130 days after the September 9, 2024 CAD service, and 883 days
27 after the initial August 18, 2022 service—successor counsel filed MIL No. 6 and MIL No. 17
28 asserting that the materials were “not produced in discovery” and of “unknown provenance.”

1 77. Under Evidence Code § 623, the conduct of a party is evidence against the party when: (1)
2 the party had knowledge or notice of a fact; (2) the party had an opportunity to speak or act
3 in response; (3) a reasonable person in the party's position would have spoken or acted; and
4 (4) the party remained silent or inactive.

5 78. Defendants' 883-day silence satisfies all four elements:

6 (a) Knowledge: Defense counsel received the materials in August–September 2022; Chambers
7 appeared at the August 18, 2022 Rosario deposition and the September 30, 2022 Abdelhalim
8 deposition (911-related testimony); and (through successor counsel Reyna) issued a subpoena
9 for the identical materials on February 1, 2024.

10 (b) Opportunity: Defense counsel had continuous opportunity from August 2022 through Jan-
11 uary 2025 to file a motion to compel, serve a discovery objection, or raise a meet-and-confer
12 challenge.

13 (c) Reasonableness: A reasonable defense attorney who genuinely believed the materials were 14 inauthentic, improperly produced, or of unknown provenance would have raised that objec-
15 tion during the 883-day window—not on the eve of trial.

16 (d) Silence: No objection, motion, or challenge was raised until MIL No. 17 on January 17, 17 2025.

18 79. Under City of Long Beach v. Mansell (1970) 3 Cal.3d 462, 493, a party who remains silent
19 when it has a duty to speak may be estopped from later asserting a contrary position.

20 80. Defendants are estopped by their years-long silence from contesting the authenticity, receipt,
21 or provenance of materials they received in discovery, addressed in sworn deposition course
22 without timely written challenge, subpoenaed, and transmitted without objection during the 23 883-day window.

24 IV.L — Authentication by Acquiescence and Waiver

25 81. Under Evidence Code § 1414(b), a writing may be authenticated by evidence that a party
26 against whom it is offered has, at any time, treated it as authentic.

27 82. Defendants treated the 911 audio, body-worn camera footage, and CAD logs as authentic 28 through the following conduct:

- 1 (a) Deposition course (Aug. 18 and Sept. 30, 2022): Chambers appeared at Mr. Rosario’s Au-
2 gust 18, 2022 deposition (the same period as the August–September 2022 production Jessup
3 described) and at Mr. Abdelhalim’s September 30, 2022 deposition, where Abdelhalim gave
4 sworn 911-related testimony; defense raised no written authenticity or provenance challenge
5 in the 883-day window despite receipt and that deposition course.
- 6 (b) File transfer (May 4, 2023): The Substitution of Attorney (Transaction ID #69953800)
7 transferred the defense file—including these materials—from Chambers/CSK to PSA. A file 8 transfer presupposes that the materials being transferred are what they purport to be.
- 9 (c) Compex subpoena (Feb. 1, 2024): Reyna’s subpoena to SFPD requesting the identical ma-
10 terials presupposes their authenticity. One does not subpoena materials one believes are fab-11 ricated or unreliable.
- 12 (d) CAD transmission (Sept. 9, 2024): Plaintiff served CAD identifiers on Reyna. No objection 13 was raised.
- 14 (e) Trial curation (Apr. 16, 2025): Navaratnasingham testified that the defense had “five videos”
15 and had pared them down to “about 8 or 9 minutes” for the jury. This active curation presup-16 poses authenticity.
- 17 (f) Tribunal finding of authentication waiver (Feb. 18, 2025): The Court itself recognized that 18 defense had waived authenticity: “They’re not questioning the authenticity in the documents.”
19 (Hr’g Tr. Feb. 18, 2025, p. 174, ll. 19–25 (Wong, J.)) This is the Court’s own on-record
20 recognition that defense had waived authenticity — made two months before the Apr. 16,
21 2025 “provided by Dolan” admission confirmed receipt.
- 22 83. Under CCP § 2030.290, objections to interrogatories not raised within the statutory time
23 are waived. Under CCP § 2031.240, objections to production requests not raised within the 24 statutory time are waived. By analogy, authenticity objections not raised within the 883-day
25 window are waived.
- 26 84. On April 17, 2025 (Trial Day 8), defendant Abdelhalim authenticated the 911 audio on the 27 record: “Yes. That is my voice.” (RT 8, p. 108, l. 28; see also p. 111, l. 1.) This authentication
28 by the party opponent constitutes ratification and admission.

85. Defendants are estopped by their conduct from contesting authenticity. Their years-long treatment of the materials as authentic—through use, transfer, subpoena, and curation—waives any authenticity challenge asserted for the first time on the eve of trial.

IV.M — Judicial Estoppel: Inconsistent Positions Adopted by the Tribunal

86. Judicial estoppel prevents a party from asserting a position in a legal proceeding that is contrary to a position previously taken in the same or some earlier proceeding. Jackson v. County of Los Angeles (1997) 60 Cal.App.4th 171, 183; Aguilar v. Lerner (2004) 32 Cal.4th 974, 986–987 (controlling synthesis of Jackson); MW Erectors, Inc. v. Niederhauser Ornamental & Metal Works Co. (2005) 36 Cal.4th 412, 422.

87. The doctrine applies when: (1) the same party has taken two totally inconsistent positions; (2) in a judicial proceeding; (3) the first position was accepted by the tribunal; (4) the positions are not taken due to ignorance, fraud, or mistake; and (5) the party asserting the inconsistent position derived an unfair advantage.

88. Defendants satisfy all five elements:

Position A (The Suppression):

(a) MIL No. 6 (Jan. 17, 2025): Materials were “not produced in discovery.” (CT Vol. 1, pp. 149–151.)

(a.i) Jan. 27, 2025 hearing: “completely lacks foundation; not authenticated. We have no idea. . . We have not heard any recordings from our client.” (Hr’g Tr. Jan. 27, 2025, p. 19, ll. 7–13.)

(a.ii) Jan. 27, 2025 hearing: “we never received these CDs, certainly. . . We never received these CDs. We never — this was never produced in discovery, and he has had it for four years.” (Hr’g Tr. Jan. 27, 2025, p. 34, ll. 1–10.)

(b) MIL No. 17 (Jan. 17, 2025): “Defendant has no idea where this 911 call log or audio recording came from.” (CT Vol. 1, p. 238.)

(c) Feb. 18, 2025 hearing: “This is news to me.” (Hearing Tr. Feb. 18, 2025, p. 141, ll. 4–11.)

(d) Apr. 16, 2025 trial: “Not anything that we received as part of the subpoena.” (RT 7, p. 156, ll. 5–16.)

Position B (The Admission):

1 (e) Feb. 18, 2025 hearing: “we oppose the continuance... the body cam footage, the 911 call,
2 all this stuff has been in his possession since August.” (Hearing Tr. Feb. 18, 2025, p. 181, ll.
3 6–23.)

4 (f) Apr. 16, 2025 trial: “Sure. They were provided by Dolan. He has had them for whatever,
5 sure.” (RT 7, p. 213, ll. 13–15.)

6 89. Tribunal acceptance of Position A: The Court accepted Navaratnasingham’s “news to me”
7 representation at the February 18, 2025 hearing, responding “I see. Okay.” (Hearing Tr.
8 Feb. 18, 2025, p. 141, l. 15.) The Court denied Plaintiff’s continuance request and granted
9 MIL No. 17 without prejudice based on these representations. The Court excluded the sup-
10 plemental police report at trial based on defense counsel’s representation that it was “not 11 anything that we received as part of the subpoena.”

12 90. The contradiction sequence is not merely intra-hearing. It is the three-hearing arc of Jan. 27,
13 2025 (“we never received these CDs, certainly” — Hr’g Tr. Jan. 27, 2025, p. 34, ll. 1–10),
14 Feb. 18, 2025 (“this is news to me... may have received it” — Hr’g Tr. Feb. 18, 2025, 15 p. 141, ll. 4–11), and Apr. 16, 2025 (“provided by Dolan” — RT 7, p. 213, ll. 13–15). The 16 Feb. 18, 2025 p. 181 admission was made at the same hearing and by the same attorney
17 as the Position-A representation at p. 141 (MSC-date and “news to me”). This intra-hearing 18 contradiction shows the positions were not taken due to ignorance, fraud, or mistake—the 19 fourth element of judicial estoppel under MW Erectors, Inc. v. Niederhauser Ornamental
20 & Metal Works Co. (2005) 36 Cal.4th 412, 422—and forecloses any “ignorance” narrative
21 on the pleadings. Under Aguilar v. Lerner (2004) 32 Cal.4th 974, 986–987, that ascend-
22 ing sequence of factually incompatible positions — each calibrated to a different procedural 23 moment — is the precise fact-pattern to which judicial estoppel applies.

24 91. Total inconsistency: Position A asserts that the materials were not produced, not received,
25 and of unknown provenance. Position B admits that the materials were “provided by Dolan” —
26 the same source Jessup testified had produced them to defense counsel in August–September
27 2022. These positions are mutually exclusive.

28 92. Not taken from ignorance, fraud, or mistake: Defense counsel had the September 30,

2022 Abdelhalim deposition transcript (Chambers present; 911-related testimony) and Jessup’s February 18, 2025 hearing testimony about August–September 2022 production and service. Defense counsel had the February 1, 2024 Reyna subpoena in their own files. The casual phrasing of Position B—“for whatever, sure”—demonstrates that the Dolan origin was a known, settled fact within the defense team, not a recent discovery.

93. Unfair advantage: The defense obtained rulings that excluded evidence, denied continuances, and foreclosed Plaintiff’s ability to authenticate and sequence his evidentiary presentation. The defense obtained a 9–3 verdict. These are the concrete advantages derived from Position A.

94. Defendants are judicially estopped from retaining the benefits of a verdict procured through Position A when Position B proves Position A was false.

IV.N — Lost Procedural Windows as Reliance Injury (Evid. Code § 623)

95. Plaintiff’s reliance on Defendants’ silence and acquiescence was reasonable, concrete, and resulted in the following lost procedural opportunities—each mapped to the Kulchar v. Kulchar (1969) 1 Cal.3d 467 extrinsic-fraud channel it supports and to the Plaintiff Declaration paragraphs that will prove it (mirroring the minimum-merit elementization under Navellier v. Sletten (2002) 29 Cal.4th 82, 88–89; Oasis West Realty, LLC v. Goldman (2011) 51 Cal.4th 811, 820; Soukup v. Law Offices of Herbert Hafif (2006) 39 Cal.4th 260, 291):

Lost procedural window	Kulchar channel / element	Plaintiff Declaration (proof)
(a) No motion to preclude defense use	Reliance and prejudice: Plaintiff reasonably deferred adversarial motions while authenticity appeared resolved	Pl. Decl. ¶¶ 11–13, 18–20
(b) No subpoena for production-history logs	Concealment / deception: production history not obtained from prior custodian before substitution	Pl. Decl. ¶¶ 7–10, 15

Lost procedural window	Kulchar channel / element	Plaintiff Declaration (proof)
(c) No foundation depositions	Prevention from presenting a full case: closed window to sequence SFPD foundation before trial	Pl. Decl. ¶¶ 11–13, 18–19
(d) No opposition to MIL 6/17 with foundational record	Tribunal reliance / structural impairment after false provenance framing	Pl. Decl. ¶¶ 18–20
(e) No CCP § 2023.030 discovery-sanctions / fraud-on-the-court motion	Foreclosed motion for discovery sanctions before trial	Pl. Decl. ¶¶ 18–20

1 95A. (e) Foreclosed Discovery Sanctions Motion: Plaintiff lost the opportunity to file a dedi-
2 cated CCP § 2023.030 discovery-sanctions / fraud-on-the-court motion before the May 12, 2025
3 trial because the Court denied the only two procedural vehicles Plaintiff used to raise the issue:
4 the January 27 and February 18 motions for continuance. The January 27 denial (Hr’g Tr. Jan. 27,
5 2025, p. 55) and February 18 denial (Hr’g Tr. Feb. 18, 2025, p. 181) foreclosed the briefing runway
6 necessary for a noticed § 2023.030 motion on the suppression / concealment pattern.

7 96. Each of these lost opportunities is directly traceable to Defendants’ Phase One silence and
8 acquiescence. Had Defendants raised their purported authenticity concerns at any point dur-
9 ing the 883-day window, Plaintiff would have taken the steps enumerated above to establish 10 authentication through independent means.

11 97. This constitutes the “reliance” element of estoppel by silence under Evidence Code § 623.

12 IV.O — Fraud on the Court and CCP § 473(d) Vacatur Theory

13 98. Under Kerns v. CSE Insurance Group (2003) 106 Cal.App.4th 368, 387–388, a judgment pro-
14 cured through fraud on the court may be set aside under CCP § 473(d) as a judgment “taken 15 against [a party] through his or her mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect.”

16 99. The MIL rulings and trial-day exclusions at RT 7 (ll. 2875, 2888–2896, 2990–2994, 3024– 3057, 3886, 3888, 3892–3896, 3968) were induced by Defendants’ concealment of the production history and their affirmative misrepresentations regarding provenance.

100. “Where counsel perpetrates a fraud on the court in obtaining a judgment, the judgment is void ab initio.” In re Marriage of Melton (1994) 28 Cal.App.4th 931, 937.

101. Plaintiff is entitled to vacatur of the April 25, 2025 judgment under both (a) the Court’s inherent equity jurisdiction to set aside judgments procured by extrinsic fraud (Olivera v. Grace, Kougasian), and (b) CCP § 473(d) as a judgment procured through misconduct of the prevailing party’s counsel.

102. This fraud-on-the-court theory dovetails with Count 1’s equitable-vacatur theory but adds the § 473(d) overlay as an alternative statutory vehicle.

V. GRAVAMEN DISCLAIMER AND PLEADING-STAGE DOCTRINAL IMMUNITY

V.A — Estoppel / Acquiescence Disclaimer and Doctrinal Overlay

103. Paragraph 1 — No Re-Weighing Request: Plaintiff does not ask this Court to reweigh evidence admitted at trial, reconsider the credibility findings of the jury, or second-guess the factual determinations made by the trier of fact. Plaintiff asks this Court to recognize that the judgment was procured through extrinsic fraud—conduct that operated outside the trial itself to prevent Plaintiff from fully presenting his case.

104. Paragraph 2 — Evid. Code § 623 (Estoppel by Silence): Under Evidence Code § 623, Defendants’ 883-day silence regarding the authenticity and provenance of the 911/BWC/CAD materials, followed by their reversal to an “unknown provenance” position on the eve of trial, constitutes conduct on which this Court may rely as evidence against Defendants. Defendants are barred by their own years-long silence from contesting the authenticity, receipt, or provenance of materials they received in discovery, addressed in sworn deposition course without timely written challenge, transmitted, and subpoenaed without objection.

105. Paragraph 3 — Evid. Code § 1414(b) (Authentication by Conduct): Under Evidence Code § 1414(b), Defendants’ treatment of the 911/BWC/CAD materials as authentic—through

1 receipt in discovery and sworn deposition course without timely written challenge, file
2 transfer, subpoena issuance, and trial curation—constitutes authentication by acquiescence.
3 Defendants waived any authenticity challenge by their 883-day course of conduct treating the 4 materials as what they purport to be.

5 106. Paragraph 4 — Judicial Estoppel, Waiver, and § 2023.010 Discovery Misuse: Defendants
6 are judicially estopped from asserting Position B (the “Dolan” admission) while simultane-
7 ously retaining the benefits of Position A (the “unknown provenance” suppression). Addition-
8 ally, under CCP § 2023.010(d) and (e), employing discovery methods that cause unwarranted
9 annoyance, embarrassment, or oppression, and failing to respond or submit to authorized
10 discovery, constitutes misuse of the discovery process warranting sanctions. Defendants’
11 strategic silence—failing to raise authenticity challenges during the 883-day window, then 12 asserting them on the eve of trial to exclude evidence—constitutes discovery misuse.

13 107. Gravamen Anchor: The injury-producing acts in this action are: (a) out-of-court representa-
14 tions directed to Plaintiff inducing reliance; (b) the May 4, 2023 file-transfer concealment; (c)
15 CSAA’s institutional direction and ratification of the foregoing; and (d) the court-facing mis-
16 representations that induced exclusionary rulings. No defendant is sued for representations
17 made to the jury for the jury to weigh. No defendant is sued for exercising rights of advocacy.
18 Count 7 does not change that anchor: it tracks the same pre-adjudicative and tribunal-facing
19 channels. The gravamen is extrinsic fraud operating outside the adjudicative process.

20 V.B — Pleading-Stage Doctrinal Immunity (Demurrer and Anti-SLAPP)

21 108. V.B.1 — Anti-SLAPP step one (Park / Bonni / Wilson) and mixed conduct (Baral). Under 22 City of Cotati v. Cashman (2002) 29 Cal.4th 69, 76, the anti-SLAPP statute proceeds in two
23 steps; Defendants may not collapse step one into a monolithic “litigation conduct” label. Park
24 v. Bd. of Trustees (2017) 2 Cal.5th 1057, 1062–1064 requires identification of the injury-
25 producing act underlying each claim. Bonni v. St. Joseph Health System (2021) 11 Cal.5th 26 995, 1010–1012 requires parsing each claim and each alleged act; label-based treatment is
27 error. Wilson v. Cable News Network, Inc. (2019) 7 Cal.5th 871, 884 requires that protected
28 activity be tied to an element of the claim, not merely evidentiary support. Baral v. Schnitt

(2016) 1 Cal.5th 376, 396 (mixed-conduct complaints). If step two is reached, Plaintiff has pled and will prove minimum merit (Navellier v. Sletten (2002) 29 Cal.4th 82, 88–89; Oasis West Realty, LLC v. Goldman (2011) 51 Cal.4th 811, 820; Soukup v. Law Offices of Herbert Hafif (2006) 39 Cal.4th 260, 291), including through the lost-window catalog in Paragraph 95.

Gravamen and injury-producing acts by cause of action (element-level Bonni matrix):

- First Cause of Action: Independent action / vacatur
 - Element at issue: Extrinsic fraud / procurement
 - Act alleged to satisfy element: Out-of-court lulling; file-transfer concealment; induced rulings
 - Communicative / noncommunicative: Mixed: lulling may be communicative toward opposing party; transfer is noncommunicative
 - Protected petitioning? / Exception: No — gravamen is noncommunicative concealment plus procurement; Action Apartment Ass’n v. City of Santa Monica (2007) 41 Cal.4th 1232, 1242–1247
- Second Cause of Action: Fraudulent concealment
 - Element at issue: Concealment / duty / reliance
 - Act alleged to satisfy element: Production-history omission; file custody
 - Communicative / noncommunicative: Noncommunicative institutional conduct
 - Protected petitioning? / Exception: No — Kimmel / Rusheen line (Paragraph 128)
- Third Cause of Action: Intentional misrepresentation
 - Element at issue: Misrepresentation / reliance
 - Act alleged to satisfy element: Silence plus tribunal-directed misrepresentations
 - Communicative / noncommunicative: Mixed
 - Protected petitioning? / Exception: Off-record lulling is not petitioning; tribunal statements fall within extrinsic-fraud / Flatley channels pled herein
- Fourth Cause of Action: Aiding and abetting, ratification, civil conspiracy (CSAA)
 - Element at issue: Direction / ratification / agreement to common plan
 - Act alleged to satisfy element: Funding, approval of positions, ratification of transfer;

inter-firm alignment on file handoff and court-facing posture

– Communicative / noncommunicative: Noncommunicative oversight plus pleaded agreement channel

– Protected petitioning? / Exception: No; conspiracy is a joint-liability theory attaching to underlying torts, not a freestanding tort (Applied Equipment Corp. v. Litton Saudi Arabia Ltd. (1994) 7 Cal.4th 503)

• Fifth Cause of Action: Declaratory relief

– Element at issue: Same controversies as substantive counts

– Act alleged to satisfy element: Aligns with Counts 1–4 and 7

– Communicative / noncommunicative: Same as underlying count

– Protected petitioning? / Exception: Same

• Sixth Cause of Action: § 6128(a) deceit

– Element at issue: Deceit of the tribunal

– Act alleged to satisfy element: MIL and hearing misrepresentations

– Communicative / noncommunicative: Communicative but illegal as matter of law

– Protected petitioning? / Exception: Flatley v. Mauro (2006) 39 Cal.4th 299, 320–325; Lefebvre v. Lefebvre (2011) 199 Cal.App.4th 696, 704–705

• Seventh Cause of Action: Constructive fraud (Civ. Code § 1573)

– Element at issue: Confidential or fiduciary advantage; breach by misleading act or nondisclosure; inducement; harm (Assilzadeh v. California Federal Bank (2000) 82 Cal.App.4th 399, 415)

– Act alleged to satisfy element: Same production-history and tribunal-facing course as Counts 2–3 without requiring intent to deceive

– Communicative / noncommunicative: Mixed (institutional custody and tribunal-directed misrepresentations)

– Protected petitioning? / Exception: Same noncommunicative Kimmel v. Goland (1990) 51 Cal.3d 202, 211–212 channel; Action Apartment Ass’n v. City of Santa Monica (2007) 41 Cal.4th 1232, 1242–1247; Flatley v. Mauro (2006) 39 Cal.4th 299,

Plaintiff incorporates by reference Exhibit R (Gravamen Matrix by Cause of Action) as the single-page hearing roadmap for the same analysis.

109. V.B.2 — Civil Code § 47(b) / Rusheen “necessarily related” boundary. Each injury-producing act pled herein is either (a) noncommunicative institutional conduct (file-custody transfer, production-history omission, CSAA agency oversight) outside Civil Code § 47(b) under Kimmel v. Goland (1990) 51 Cal.3d 202, 211–212 and not “necessarily related” to any privileged communication under Rusheen v. Cohen (2006) 37 Cal.4th 1048, 1058; (b) extrinsic fraud on the tribunal within the exception recognized in Action Apartment, supra, 41 Cal.4th at 1242–1247; or (c) illegal conduct as a matter of law under Flatley, supra, 39 Cal.4th at 299, 320–325 and Lefebvre, supra, 199 Cal.App.4th at 704–705. The litigation privilege describes when a communication in a judicial proceeding is privileged (Silberg v. Anderson (1990) 50 Cal.3d 205, 212–214); it does not convert institutional file-custody acts into privileged “communications.” Jacob B. v. County of Shasta (2007) 40 Cal.4th 948, 960 (no extension by analogy beyond the statute’s communicative core). Seltzer v. Barnes (2010) 182 Cal.App.4th 953, 970 (post-Rusheen conduct/communication line). Gallanis-Politis v. Medina (2007) 152 Cal.App.4th 600, 611 (noncommunicative acts outside privilege). Immunity doctrines tied to adverse-party counsel are narrow: the privilege “shields litigants, attorneys and witnesses from liability for . . . virtually all torts except malicious prosecution.” (Mattco Forge, Inc. v. Arthur Young & Co. (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 392, 407, quoted in Kolar v. Donahue, McIntosh & Hammerton (2006) 145 Cal.App.4th 1532, 1537–1540.) Pavicich v. Santucci (2000) 85 Cal.App.4th 382, 396 (context-specific; third-party injury patterns). These authorities do not erase an independent equitable action whose gravamen is extrinsic fraud.

110. V.B.3 — Res judicata / collateral estoppel (Crowley / Mycogen / Boeken) and direct equitable action. Collateral estoppel and res judicata require the same primary right and necessarily decided issues (Crowley v. Katleman (1994) 8 Cal.4th 666; Lucido v. Superior Court (1990) 51 Cal.3d 335, 341–342; Mycogen; Boeken—see Paragraph 24). This action

1 is a direct equitable action on the procurement of the judgment, not a collateral attack on its
2 face. Under Kougasian, supra, 118 Cal.App.4th at 1034–1036 and Olivera v. Grace (1942)
3 19 Cal.2d 570, 575–576, an independent action in equity is the procedural vehicle California
4 recognizes for this species of fraud; Wouldridge v. Burns (1968) 265 Cal.App.2d 82, 84–85
5 governs collateral attacks without that vehicle and does not apply here.

6 111. V.B.4 — CCP § 473(b) category error and limitations. This proceeding is an independent
7 equitable action, not a motion for relief under CCP § 473(b) in the underlying case; the 8 six-month § 473(b) clock does not substitute for equitable accrual. Fraud claims accrue on 9 discovery (Kougasian; Paragraphs 64–67; In re Marriage of Stevenot (1984) 154 Cal.App.3d 10 1051, 1068, 1071).

11 112. V.C — Disclaimer re in-court statements. Plaintiff does not seek vacatur or damages based
12 on what Defendants said at trial to the jury for the jury to weigh. Vacatur is sought based on 13 (a) out-of-court lulling and non-disclosure that operated before and outside trial advocacy, and 14 (b) the May 4, 2023 file-transfer concealment of production history. Trial-day and hearing-
15 day statements may be pleaded solely as judicial-estoppel evidence and scienter evidence—
16 not as freestanding injury-producing acts in place of Paragraphs 4, 45, and 107.

17 113. V.D — Specific proffer / leave to amend (Coffman). Under Coffman v. Produce Terminal
18 Cold Storage Co. (2009) 176 Cal.App.4th 1135, leave to amend should be granted unless 19 amendment would be futile. If the Court finds any pleading deficiency, Plaintiff requests leave
20 to amend and proffers that amendment would supply with greater specificity: (1) the content
21 and source of CSAA directives to defense counsel concerning authentication, provenance, and 22 production history of 911 audio and CAD records (including CSAA personnel issuing each 23 directive); (2) the identity of file-transfer recipients at successor counsel (PSA) on and after 24 May 4, 2023 and the specific categories of production-history materials not conveyed; and (3)
25 the dates, participants, and substance of out-of-court representations on which Plaintiff relied
26 to defer authentication, subpoena, and sequencing steps. These particulars deepen—but do
27 not change—the gravamen already pleaded.

VI. CAUSES OF ACTION

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION

(Independent Action in Equity for Vacatur; Extrinsic Fraud; Alternatively, Extrinsic Mistake)

(By Plaintiff Against All Defendants)

114. Plaintiff incorporates by reference all preceding paragraphs as though set forth fully herein.

115. Under Kulchar v. Kulchar (1969) 1 Cal.3d 467, 471, extrinsic fraud occurs when a party is “deliberately kept in ignorance of the action or proceeding, or in some other way fraudulently prevented from presenting his claim or defense.”

116. Under Westphal v. Westphal (1942) 20 Cal.2d 393, 397, perjury at trial is intrinsic, but fraud that prevents a party from fully presenting his case is extrinsic.

117. Under Kougasian v. TMSL, Inc. (2004) 118 Cal.App.4th 1028, 1034–1036, an independent action in equity to set aside a judgment procured by extrinsic fraud is not barred by res judicata and may proceed in the trial court.

118. Plaintiff satisfies the Kulchar four-factor test for extrinsic fraud. The same two-phase pattern is further pleaded as within the Flatley v. Mauro (2006) 39 Cal.4th 299, 320–325 illegal-conduct channel: “section 425.16 cannot be invoked by a defendant whose assertedly protected activity is illegal as a matter of law and, for that reason, not protected by constitutional guarantees of free speech and petition.” It mirrors Lefebvre v. Lefebvre (2011) 199 Cal.App.4th 696, 704–705 (knowing false out-of-court conduct inducing tribunal reliance held illegal as a matter of law and not protected petitioning).

(a) Concealment/Deception: Defendants concealed the production history of the 911/BWC/CAD materials by (i) remaining silent for 883 days regarding authenticity, (ii) transferring the defense file without the production history, and (iii) making court-facing misrepresentations asserting the materials were “not produced” and of “unknown provenance.”

(b) Structural Prevention: Defendants’ conduct prevented Plaintiff from fully presenting his case by inducing the tribunal to deny continuances, grant exclusionary MILs, and defer or exclude critical evidence at trial. Defendants not only made the Phase Two misrepresentations

1 but affirmatively opposed every Plaintiff request for a curative continuance, blocking the only
2 procedural mechanism that would have mitigated the extrinsic harm. See Hearing Tr. Jan. 27,
3 2025, p. 15, ll. 1–16 (“We oppose any request for continuance of this trial date... discovery
4 has been closed.”); Hearing Tr. Jan. 27, 2025, p. 55, ll. 8–19; Hearing Tr. Jan. 27, 2025,
5 p. 57, ll. 10–14 (“we object to any continuance of the trial date. We’re prepared to move
6 forward.”); Hearing Tr. Feb. 18, 2025, p. 181, ll. 6–23. Defense closing argument at RT
7 10, pp. 49–52 (Plaintiff “changed his story to avoid a Vehicle Code violation”) is pleaded as 8 judicial-estoppel / scienter evidence of the payoff from that structural channel, not as an
9 injury-producing act in lieu of Paragraphs 4, 107, and 112.

10 (c) Reliance: Plaintiff relied on Defendants’ Phase One silence by not taking the procedural 11 steps enumerated in Paragraph 95 above.

12 (d) Meritorious Underlying Case: Plaintiff had a meritorious negligence claim. The 911 au-
13 dio and body-worn camera footage contained a layered recital of core liability evidence: (a)
14 Abdelhalim’s party admission (“I barely hit him with anything”); (b) the operator’s direct
15 question (“you hit a pedestrian?”) and Abdelhalim’s affirmative response (“yeah”); (c) Plain-
16 tiff’s own voice on the 911 recording and BWC confirming the strike; and (d) independent
17 BWC eyewitness corroboration (Justin Rosemond). The jury returned only a 9–3 verdict
18 (the minimum civil majority), demonstrating that a single juror changing sides would have 19 altered the outcome. As corroboration of the meritorious-case element only (and not as 20 injury-producing acts in this independent action), the merits record includes Abdelhalim pre-
21 impeachment responses at RT 8, pp. 34–35 (“no contact”) and p. 113, ll. 11–17 (“didn’t 22 touch” / “didn’t hit”).

23 119. Alternatively, if the Court finds that any Defendant acted without fraudulent intent, Plaintiff
24 asserts extrinsic mistake: the file-transfer omission, whether negligent or intentional, pre-
25 vented successor counsel from making accurate representations to the tribunal and prevented
26 Plaintiff from receiving a fair hearing.

27 120. Plaintiff is entitled to vacatur of the April 25, 2025 judgment and an order granting a new trial
28 on a truthful record.

1 SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION

2 (Fraudulent Concealment)

3 (By Plaintiff Against Chambers, CSK, PSA, and Navaratnasingham)

4 121. Plaintiff incorporates by reference all preceding paragraphs.

5 122. Under OCM Principal Opportunities Fund v. CIBC World Markets Corp. (2007) 157 Cal.App.4th

6 835, 859, the elements of fraudulent concealment are: (1) concealment of a material fact; (2)
7 a duty to disclose; (3) intent to defraud; (4) reliance; and (5) resulting damages.

8 123. Defendants concealed the material fact that the 911/BWC/CAD materials had been produced
9 to defense counsel in August–September 2022 and addressed in sworn deposition testimony
10 (including the September 30, 2022 Abdelhalim deposition with Chambers present).

11 124. Chambers and CSK had a duty to disclose the production history when transferring the de-
12 fense file to successor counsel PSA. PSA and Navaratnasingham had a continuing duty under 13 Cal. Rules Prof. Conduct, rule 3.3, to correct their prior false statements to the tribunal after 14 discovering the Dolan origin of the materials.

15 125. Defendants intended to defraud, or acted with reckless disregard for the truth, by transferring
16 the file without the production history (Chambers/CSK) and by making the “news to me” and 17 “unknown provenance” representations to the tribunal (PSA/Navaratnasingham).

18 126. Plaintiff relied on the concealment by not taking the procedural steps enumerated in Paragraph 19 95.

20 127. Plaintiff was damaged by the resulting exclusionary rulings and the defense verdict.

21 128. The fraudulent concealment was noncommunicative institutional conduct—file handling, production-
22 history omission, institutional custody failures—that falls outside the litigation privilege un-
23 der Kimmel v. Goland (1990) 51 Cal.3d 202, 211–212 (communications versus conduct) and 24 Rusheen v. Cohen (2006) 37 Cal.4th 1048, 1058 (noncommunicative acts are privileged only 25 if “necessarily related” to a privileged communication). The May 4, 2023 file transfer and 26 production-history omission are not the execution of any particular privileged communica-
27 tion; they are custodial hand-offs that fail Silberg v. Anderson (1990) 50 Cal.3d 205, 212–
28 214 prong one (not a “communication” to a tribunal). Jacob B. v. County of Shasta (2007)

1 40 Cal.4th 948, 960 forbids extending § 47(b) by analogy where the communicative core of
2 the statute is absent. Seltzer v. Barnes (2010) 182 Cal.App.4th 953, 970; Gallanis-Politis v.
3 Medina (2007) 152 Cal.App.4th 600, 611. Action Apartment Ass’n v. City of Santa Monica
4 (2007) 41 Cal.4th 1232, 1242–1247 (extrinsic-fraud exception).

5 THIRD CAUSE OF ACTION

6 (Intentional Misrepresentation)

7 (By Plaintiff Against Chambers and Navaratnasingham)

8 129. Plaintiff incorporates by reference all preceding paragraphs.

9 130. Under Civ. Code §§ 1709–1710, the elements of intentional misrepresentation (deceit) are:
10 (1) a misrepresentation of a material fact; (2) knowledge of falsity; (3) intent to induce re-
11 liance; (4) justifiable reliance; and (5) resulting damages.

12 131. During Chambers’ tenure as defense counsel through May 4, 2023, Chambers and CSK did
13 not serve any written discovery objection, meet-and-confer letter, or motion challenging the 14 authenticity, foundation, or provenance of the 911 audio, body-worn camera footage, or CAD
15 logs after those materials were produced and after sworn deposition course including the 16 August 18, 2022 Rosario deposition and the September 30, 2022 Abdelhalim deposition
17 (Chambers present; 911-related testimony). This course of non-action and acquiescence
18 was conduct on which Plaintiff reasonably relied to conclude authentication was not a live
19 dispute during Phase One. Count 3 is not limited to affirmative misstatements; it includes the 20 misleading effect of silence where disclosure was due. If verified written lulling communi-
21 cations (email subjects, letters, or calls with confirmatory memos) are later identified, Plain-
22 tiff will amend to plead them with dates and verbatim quotes. Defense judicial-admission
23 framing: In a defensive pleading filed in this action (Case No. CGC-25-631801; Clerk File 24 No. 10157174), Defendants stated that on May 4, 2023, Chambers (and CSK) transferred 25 the defense file to PSA “without ensuring proper documentation and conveyance of the 26 production history to successor counsel.” (p. 6, ll. 15–18; Exhibit J.) That framing—
27 Defendants’ own pleading in this case—corroborates that production-history conveyance
28 was incomplete or inadequate in connection with the substitution, consistent with Plaintiff’s theory of Phase One concealment and Phase Two court-facing misalignment.

132. Navaratnasingham made the following misrepresentations to the tribunal:

- (a) MIL No. 17 (Jan. 17, 2025): “Defendant has no idea where this 911 call log or audio recording came from.”
- (b) Feb. 18, 2025 hearing: “This is news to me.”
- (c) Jan. 27, 2025 hearing: defense characterization of a witness as “a lady... no link to this accident” and related framing. (Hearing Tr. Jan. 27, 2025, p. 16, ll. 17–22.)
- (d) Jan. 27, 2025 hearing: stacked foundation attack in the same posture. (Hearing Tr. Jan. 27, 2025, p. 19, ll. 7–10.)

133. Each misrepresentation was material because it induced tribunal rulings that excluded evidence and denied Plaintiff a fair hearing.

134. Navaratnasingham had knowledge of falsity or reckless disregard for the truth because: (a) the defense file contained the September 30, 2022 Abdelhalim deposition transcript (Chambers present; 911-related testimony) and related discovery materials; (b) the February 1, 2024 Reyna subpoena to SFPD was in PSA’s own files; and (c) the April 16, 2025 admission (“provided by Dolan”) demonstrates casual familiarity with the production history.

135. Plaintiff justifiably relied on the tribunal’s acceptance of the misrepresentations by not further opposing the MILs or seeking reconsideration.

136. Plaintiff was damaged by the resulting exclusionary rulings and the defense verdict.

137. This count is limited to out-of-court lulling (Chambers) and tribunal-directed misrepresentations that fall within the extrinsic-fraud exception to the litigation privilege under Action Apartment Association v. City of Santa Monica (2007) 41 Cal.4th 1232. Plaintiff does not seek damages for statements made to the jury.

FOURTH CAUSE OF ACTION

(Aiding and Abetting, Ratification, and Civil Conspiracy)

(By Plaintiff Against CSAA)

138. Plaintiff incorporates by reference all preceding paragraphs.

139. Under Fiol v. Doellstedt (1996) 50 Cal.App.4th 1318, a person who aids and abets a tort is

1 jointly liable with the tortfeasor.

2 140. Under Doctors' Company v. Superior Court (1989) 49 Cal.3d 39, aiding-and-abetting claims
3 against insurers are cognizable where the insurer acts outside its normal role.

4 141. CSAA aided and abetted the fraudulent concealment, intentional misrepresentation, attorney
5 deceit pleaded in Count 6, and constructive fraud pleaded in Count 7 through the same three-
6 prong agency framework pleaded in Paragraphs 48–51 (funding and operational control of the 7 defense; approving and directing the specific litigation positions that became court-facing
8 misrepresentations; ratifying the May 4, 2023 file transfer and production-history omission).
9 Without duplicating Paragraph 51, CSAA cannot sever that chain through panel-counsel sub-
10 stitution mid-litigation. CSAA aided and abetted by:

- 11 (a) Retaining and funding Chambers/CSK, who transferred the defense file without the produc-
12 tion history;
- 13 (b) Approving the substitution to PSA;
- 14 (c) Continuing to fund and direct PSA after the substitution;
- 15 (d) Approving or acquiescing in the MIL strategy that misrepresented provenance to the tribunal;
- 16 (e) Accepting the benefit of the resulting verdict.

17 141A. Civil conspiracy as a joint-liability theory (not a freestanding tort). Under Applied
18 Equipment Corp. v. Litton Saudi Arabia Ltd. (1994) 7 Cal.4th 503, civil conspiracy is not an 19 independent tort; it is a theory that attaches to an underlying wrongful act. Here, Plaintiff alleges
20 an agreement or common understanding among CSAA, prior panel counsel (Chambers/CSK), and
21 successor panel counsel (PSA) and its attorneys to pursue the two-phase pattern pleaded in Para-
22 graphs 29–47: Phase One silence and file custody regarding the 911/BWC/CAD production his-
23 tory, followed by Phase Two court-facing misrepresentations. The May 4, 2023 substitution (Para-24 graphs 34–39) is alleged as the inter-firm / inter-counsel handoff through which the production-
25 history omission was executed and perpetuated, not merely as CSAA-in-the-abstract. The under-
26 lying wrongful acts to which this conspiracy theory attaches are the torts pleaded in Counts 2, 3, 27 6, and 7.

28 142. Under Civ. Code §§ 2307 and 2310, CSAA ratified the conduct of its agents by accepting the benefits of the verdict with knowledge of the material facts.

143. CSAA is liable as principal under Civ. Code § 2338 for the fraudulent representations of its agents made within the scope of their retained authority. Zhang v. Superior Court (2013) 54 Cal.4th 826 (no categorical insurer-immunity bar to the principal-liability theories pleaded here).

FIFTH CAUSE OF ACTION

(Declaratory Relief)

(By Plaintiff Against All Defendants)

144. Plaintiff incorporates by reference all preceding paragraphs.

145. An actual controversy exists between Plaintiff and Defendants concerning: (a) whether the April 25, 2025 judgment was procured by extrinsic fraud; (b) whether Defendants are estopped from contesting the authenticity or provenance of the 911/BWC/CAD materials; (c) whether Plaintiff is entitled to vacatur and a new trial; and (d) whether Defendants breached duties of candor supporting constructive fraud under Civ. Code § 1573 as pleaded in Count 7.

146. Plaintiff seeks a judicial declaration that:

- (a) The April 25, 2025 judgment in CGC-21-594102 is voidable for extrinsic fraud;
- (b) Defendants are judicially estopped from asserting positions inconsistent with the April 16, 2025 “Dolan” admission;
- (c) Defendants are estopped by their 883-day silence from contesting authenticity or provenance of the 911/BWC/CAD materials;
- (d) The issues enumerated in Paragraph 23 were not adjudicated in the underlying trial and are not subject to collateral estoppel.

SIXTH CAUSE OF ACTION

(Attorney Deceit — Bus. & Prof. Code § 6128(a))

(By Plaintiff Against Chambers, Navaratnasingham, and Reyna)

147. Plaintiff incorporates by reference all preceding paragraphs.

148. Bus. & Prof. Code § 6128(a) provides: “Every attorney is guilty of a misdemeanor who . . .
(a) Is guilty of any deceit or collusion, or consents to any deceit or collusion, with intent to

1 deceive the court or any party. ... In addition to the punishment prescribed ..., any person
2 is liable to a party who is injured, and damaged thereby, for the amount of any damages
3 sustained, treble damages and reasonable attorney's fees."

4 149. Chambers (Bar No. 132394) engaged in deceit by: (a) transferring the defense file to succes-
5 sor counsel without the production history, knowing or recklessly disregarding that successor
6 counsel would rely on the incomplete file to make representations to the tribunal; and (b)
7 failing to correct the resulting misrepresentations after they were made.

8 150. Navaratnasingham (Bar No. 252686) engaged in deceit by: (a) signing and filing MIL No. 17
9 asserting "Defendant has no idea where this 911 call log or audio recording came from"
10 when the defense file contained evidence of the production history; (b) stating "This is news
11 to me" at the February 18, 2025 hearing after Jessup testified the materials were produced
12 to defense counsel; (c) failing to correct these misrepresentations after discovering their fal-
13 sity; and (d) representing to the Court in MIL No. 17 that "911 recordings are inadmissi-
14 ble hearsay" without acknowledging the controlling exceptions under Evid. Code §§ 1220
15 (party admission), 1240 (spontaneous declaration), 1241 (contemporaneous statement), 1271
16 (business records), 1280 (official records), and 1414(b) (authentication by conduct), each of 17 which independently bears on admissibility. A categorical misstatement of controlling law to 18 the tribunal—including failures on hearsay and authentication—constitutes deceit within the 19 meaning of Bus. & Prof. Code § 6128(a) independent of the provenance dispute.

20 151. Reyna (Bar No. 347323) engaged in deceit by: (a) issuing the February 1, 2024 Complex
21 subpoena to SFPD for the identical materials, demonstrating knowledge of their existence,
22 then acquiescing in MIL representations that they were of "unknown provenance"; and (b)
23 stating at trial that the supplemental police report was "not anything that we received as part 24 of the subpoena" when the subpoena response was in PSA's files.

25 152. Each Defendant intended to deceive the court by inducing rulings that excluded evidence and 26 denied Plaintiff a fair hearing.

27 153. The conduct alleged constitutes illegal conduct as a matter of law under Flatley v. Mauro
28 (2006) 39 Cal.4th 299, 320–325, and parallels Lefebvre v. Lefebvre (2011) 199 Cal.App.4th

696, 704–705. The conduct violates Penal Code §§ 115 (filing false or forged instrument), 118 (perjury), 132 (offering false evidence), 134 (preparing false evidence), 182(a)(5) (conspiracy to obstruct justice), and 127 (subornation of perjury, by analogy to inducing false representations to the tribunal).

154. Plaintiff was injured and damaged by the resulting exclusionary rulings and defense verdict.

155. Plaintiff is entitled to treble damages and reasonable attorney’s fees under Bus. & Prof. Code § 6128(a).

156. The § 6128(a) claim triggers the Flatley illegal-conduct exception to the anti-SLAPP statute (including the Lefebvre pattern described in Paragraph 153) and falls outside the litigation privilege because it is a statutory cause of action expressly authorized by the Legislature for injured-party claims against attorneys for deceit of the court.

SEVENTH CAUSE OF ACTION

(Constructive Fraud — Civ. Code § 1573)

(By Plaintiff Against Chambers, CSK, Navaratnasingham, Reyna, and PSA, in the alternative to Counts 2 and 3)

157. Plaintiff incorporates by reference all preceding paragraphs.

158. Constructive fraud is pleaded pursuant to Civ. Code §§ 1572 and 1573 is the breach of a legal or equitable duty flowing from a confidential or fiduciary relationship, without proof of intent to deceive. (Assilzadeh v. California Federal Bank (2000) 82 Cal.App.4th 399, 415.)

159. The elements are: (1) a confidential or fiduciary relationship, or a duty giving rise to an obligation of candor; (2) breach of that duty by a misleading act or nondisclosure; (3) inducement; and (4) resulting harm. (Assilzadeh, supra, 82 Cal.App.4th at p. 415; Civ. Code § 1573.)

160. A duty of candor to the tribunal arises from Cal. Rules Prof. Conduct, rule 3.3, and from the institutional role of defense counsel as an officer of the court. The tribunal’s reliance on that duty was articulated on February 28, 2025, when the Court stated that counsel “are an officer of the Court” and are “supposed to conduct themselves appropriately before the Court.” (Hr’g Tr. Feb. 28, 2025, p. 292, ll. 1–7.) That relationship and duty are independent of whether any particular defendant harbored the specific intent to deceive required for Count 3.

1 161. Defendants breached the duty of candor by the same course of conduct pleaded in Counts
2 2 and 3: production-history omission on the May 4, 2023 file transfer (Paragraphs 34–39);
3 883-day silence and acquiescence (Paragraphs 29–33); and court-facing misrepresentations
4 regarding receipt and provenance (Paragraphs 40–47, 132–136).

5 162. The tribunal and Plaintiff were induced to rely on those breaches: the Court structured rulings
6 on continuity, authentication, and burden of production in reliance on defense representations
7 (Paragraphs 44A, 46–47, 372–414); Plaintiff reasonably deferred authentication, subpoena,
8 and sequencing steps in reliance on Phase One silence (Paragraphs 95–97).

9 163. Plaintiff suffered the same harm pleaded in Counts 2 and 3: exclusionary rulings, lost pro-
10 cedural windows, and a liability verdict reached without a fair opportunity to present the 11 911/BWC/CAD materials on a truthful record.

12 164. Count 7 is pleaded in the alternative to Counts 2 and 3 for the same nucleus of facts. If any 13 defendant defeats Count 3 on scienter, Count 7 preserves a constructive-fraud channel that 14 does not require proof of intent to deceive.

15 165. This count is not premised on statements made to the jury for the jury to weigh. The 16 constructive-fraud theory tracks noncommunicative file-custody conduct and tribunal-directed
17 misrepresentations within the same pleading-stage channels as Count 2: noncommunicative
18 institutional conduct under Kimmel v. Goland (1990) 51 Cal.3d 202, 211–212 and Rusheen v.
19 Cohen (2006) 37 Cal.4th 1048, 1058; extrinsic fraud on the tribunal under Action Apartment
20 Ass’n v. City of Santa Monica (2007) 41 Cal.4th 1232, 1242–1247; and illegal conduct as 21 a matter of law under Flatley v. Mauro (2006) 39 Cal.4th 299, 320–325 where the record
22 supports the pleaded procurement pattern.

23 VII. PRAYER FOR RELIEF

24 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff prays for judgment against Defendants as follows:

- 25
- 26 1. Equitable Vacatur: An order vacating the April 25, 2025 judgment in Rosario v. Abdelhalim, 27 CGC-21-594102, and granting Plaintiff a new trial on a fair and truthful record;
 - 28 2. Declaratory Relief: A judicial declaration that (a) the judgment was procured by extrin-

1 sic fraud; (b) Defendants are estopped from contesting the authenticity or provenance of the 2 911/BWC/CAD materials; and (c) the issues enumerated in Paragraph 23 were not adjudi-
3 cated in the underlying trial;

4 3. Compensatory Damages: Compensatory damages according to proof for lost procedural
5 opportunities and the resulting unfair verdict, including on the Seventh Cause of Action (Civ.
6 Code § 1573) where applicable;

7 4. Treble Damages: Treble damages under Bus. & Prof. Code § 6128(a) against Defendants
8 Chambers, Navaratnasingham, and Reyna;

9 5. Punitive Damages: Punitive damages under Civ. Code § 3294 against Defendants Chambers,
10 CSK, PSA, Navaratnasingham, and Reyna for fraud, malice, and oppression on Counts 2, 11 3, and 6 (not on Count 7 alone). The escalating course of conduct (MIL suppression on 12 January 17, 2025; dismissal motion under CCP § 581(d) on January 28, 2025; “news to me”
13 misrepresentation on February 18, 2025; protective-order obstruction on February 28, 2025;
14 and trial-day contradictions on April 16–17 and April 22, 2025) supports punitive damages
15 under Civ. Code § 3294 for fraud, malice, and oppression;

16 6. Attorney’s Fees: Reasonable attorney’s fees under Bus. & Prof. Code § 6128(a) and, where 17 applicable, CCP § 1021.5;

18 7. Discovery/Monetary Sanctions: Evidence sanctions and monetary sanctions under CCP §
19 2023.030 for discovery misuse, including an order deeming the authenticity of the 911/BWC/CAD
20 materials established;

21 8. CCP § 473(d) Vacatur: In the alternative, relief under CCP § 473(d) setting aside the judg-
22 ment as procured through misconduct of the prevailing party’s counsel;

23 9. Restitution: Restitution of any amounts paid, levied, or garnished pursuant to the vacated
24 judgment, including defense costs taxed under the April 30, 2025 memorandum of costs
25 and August 8, 2025 order on memorandum of costs in CGC-21-594102, according to proof
26 after review of the register of actions and any enforcement filings;

27 10. Costs of Suit: Costs of suit incurred herein;

28 11. Further Relief: Such other and further relief as the Court deems just and proper.

VIII. VERIFICATION

I, FRANCISCUS DYLAN ROSARIO, am the Plaintiff in this action. I have read the foregoing Second Amended Complaint and know the contents thereof. The matters stated therein are true of my own knowledge, except as to those matters which are stated on information and belief, and as to those matters, I believe them to be true.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct.

Exhibit R — Gravamen Matrix (Expanded Reference Copy)

Defense characterization vs. SAC allegations

#	Defense abstraction (Anti-SLAPP framing)	SAC actual allegation	True gravamen (Park / Bonni)	Protected activity?	SAC ¶
1	“Privileged litigation conduct”	Out-of-court communica- tions inducing reliance on evidence resolution	Extrinsic fraud channel	NO	¶¶ 2, 29– 45, 114– 120
2	“Litigation activity”	File transfer without proper production- history conveyance	Noncommunicative institutional conduct	NO	¶¶ 34– 39, 121– 128
3	“Judicial proceeding”	Misrepresentations to Court about receipt and provenance	Tribunal reliance, process corruption	Exception (Flatley / Action Apartment)	¶¶ 40– 47, 147– 153
4	“Defending the insured”	CSAA direction and ratification of deceptive conduct as principal	Agency liability, Civ. Code § 2338; conspiracy as joint-liability theory	NO	¶¶ 7, 48– 57, 138– 143, 141A

#	Defense abstraction (Anti-SLAPP framing)	SAC actual allegation	True gravamen (Park / Bonni)	Protected activity?	SAC ¶
5	“Protected petitioning” (implied)	Procedural- window narrowing through induced rulings	Structural hearing impairment	NO	¶¶ 46– 47, 118
6	“Communications made during proceedings”	Two-phase pattern: out-of-court lulling, then court-facing shift	Coordinated extrinsic-fraud scheme	Exception applies	¶¶ 2, 45, 108– 118
7	“Negligent litigation”	Same production- history and tribunal-facing course without scienter	Constructive fraud (Civ. Code § 1573)	NO	¶¶ 157– 165

Eight sentences from Defendants’ briefing that misstate California law (for hearing index)

#	Topic	Why it misstates the law
1	Extending privilege to pre-litigation statements categorically	Privilege analysis remains tied to communicative acts; it does not subsume noncommunicative fraud channels.

#	Topic	Why it misstates the law
2	Flatley finality paragraph as universal bar	Omits Flatley 's illegal-conduct exception (Paragraphs 118, 153).
3	Resolving doubts in favor of privilege before Park step one	Park requires gravamen isolation first.
4	Using Park to support immunity for any litigation-related claim	Park requires identification of the injury-producing act.
5	Collateral estoppel as automatic bar	Requires primary-right match under Crowley / Mycogen / Boeken (Paragraph 24).
6	Blanket protection for "all" litigation statements	Does not address extrinsic-fraud exception.
7	Equalizing § 425.16 and § 47(b) to erase exceptions	Each statute has independent exception channels pleaded in Paragraphs 108–109.
8	"Plaintiff was not denied his day in court"	Merits determination; the court must accept well-pleaded fraud allegations as true (ABF Capital ; Paragraph 15).
